Cars Hit—Cars driven by Ronald W. Ross, 648 Union street, and John J. Andringa, Oakridge, collided at the intersection of High h and Marion streets about 2:30 Wednesday afternoon, doing minor damage to the cars. No one was injured, city police reported.

Television Show—Television Station KPVT plans a March of Dimes television beginning on Saturday at 11:15 p.m. and running until noon on Sunday. A Dutch type auction is being planned and Hollywood stars have sent special articles for the show.

Money Stolen—A thief made off with $26 from a safe in a downtown real estate office in the middle of the day Thursday, city police reported. Investigating officers reported the theft occurred between 12:20 and 1 p.m. when the office of W. G. Kreuger, 147 North Commercial street, was unoccupied. The money was taken from an unlocked safe. Several checks and some small change were not taken, police said.

Mothers of West Salem Aid March of Dimes—The Mothers of West Salem collected $268.68 in their "march" Thursday night. The funds will go into the Polk county March of Dimes fund.

Willamette

Only 42 of an inch of rain was measured in Salem for the 24-hour period ending at 10:30 a.m. Friday, compared to the inch or more measured for each of the preceding two days. Highways of the state were listed in good shape Friday except for some minor closures caused by slides and high water. Chains were advised only for Government Camp and Timberline and at Warm Springs junction. Rain had washed off the snow on the other mountain highways. Wilsonville ferry continued closed Friday because of the high water. The Albany-Corvallis eastside highway was temporarily closed with the high waters passing that way. From southwest Oregon came reports that the Coquille river flood threat was decreasing and conditions were getting back to normal there.

Ruling by Thornton Affects Berry Men Attorney General Robert Thornton said today that Oregon berry growers will not be able to form a commission to include both strawberries and cane berries. Thornton ruled that under an enabling act passed by the last Legislature such commodity commissions cannot include more than a single commodity. Sponsors of plans for a berry commission have indicated they will concentrate on strawberries if others are ruled out.

41,402 Arrests By State Police

Oregon's state police made 41,402 arrests in 1953 for violations of traffic laws, and issued 175,158 warnings for such offenses, State Police Supt. H. G. Maison said Friday.

Fines and sentences for these traffic offenses totaled $552,606 and 33,219 days in jail. The officers made 1,255 arrests or drunken driving, 4,346 or violating the basic speed law, and 681 or reckless driving.

The state officers also made 5,245 arrests for general crimes. These include 17 for murder, 12 for manslaughter, 208 for assault, 23 for robbery, 235 for burglary, and 1,449 for drunkenness.

Maison said his game law enforcement division made 2,750 arrests and issued 2,876 warnings, these fines totaling $110,373.

There were 194 arrests and 250 warnings for violations of commercial fishing laws. The state police bureau of investigation now has 1,027,562 index cards on file. It has 455,455 fingerprint cards of known criminals, and 12,811 fingerprint cards of civilians.

The crime detection laboratory made 428 examinations, including 49 autopsies.

Portlanders Say United Fund Works Well There

United Funds has worked well in Portland where most of the people rejoice in the broadening of the former Community Chest into a more inclusive program, three Portlanders told an audience of more than 60 Salem men and women in the council chambers of the City Hall Thursday night. They were invited here by a Salem committee which is studying the feasibility of a switch to United Fund for Salem.

Hit and Robbed, Regan Claims

A young "friend" he met in a tavern and took home in a cab, returned his friendship by striking him and relieving him of $55, Edward Regan reported to Salem police early Friday morning.

Police were called about 5:45 a.m. to a southeast residential area and patrolled the area with Regan until they spotted a 19-year-old man wandering around in only a pair of trousers and shoes. Regan identified him as his assailant.

The youth denied the attack and became very argumentative and noisy, the officers reported, and as he was obviously intoxicated, they arrested him in front of his home on the charge. He had to be put in the patrol car by force, they said.

At the station he was booked on the charge and was later released on $20 bail.

Regan gave his address as the YMCA.

Conclusion of

The Eden plan would have the effect at the outset of removing the Iron Curtain from East Germany. It specifies that guarantees for free elections must provide for unrestricted movement throughout Germany, free choice of candidates, freedom of expression in press, radio and other media, voter secrecy and security of polling stations and ballot boxes.

It also provides that the proposed electoral law establishing these freedoms should be supervised by a commission composed of representatives of the four powers, (Britain, United States, Soviet Union and France) with or without the participation of neutrals.

Eden told his colleagues "we believe that the peaceful reunification of Germany and the conclusion of a peace treaty would fortify peace and relax tension."

Earlier in the meeting of the fifth day of the conference, French Foreign Minister Bidault introduced a resolution under which the four powers here would join in promoting a disarmament conference under the sponsorship of the United Nations.

Principles of Freedom Eden said in his speech that the principle of freedom must apply not only to the elections but to the all-German government which would be the result of unification. This government, he declared, "must be free to assume any international rights and obligations of the federal republic or of the East German regime which are consistent with the United Nations charter."

"It must be free," he went on, "to negotiate the peace treaty. A dictated treaty would be unacceptable to Germany and to ourselves."

Transamerica

The First National, once the transaction is completed, will be the largest bank in the Pacific Northwest, he said, with deposits as of Dec. 31 of $718,491,450 in 67 offices in 51 cities.

Capital Increase The bank directors, he added, have authorized a 16 million dollar capital increase through sale of 440,000 additional shares of stock. If stockholders approve at a Feb. 23 meeting, stockholders will have the right to buy an additional share for each three owned on Feb. 26 at $40 a share.

When financing is completed, an annual dividend rate of 82 per cent on 1,600,000 shares of stock outstanding will be established by the directors, Stephenson said.

$10,364,400

The average loan last month was $6,537, while the over-all average since 1945 is $4,492.

The Department of Veterans Affairs, which administers the loan, has issued $32,000,000 in bonds to finance the loan program. The average cost to the state for these bonds is only 1.76 per cent effective interest rate for each $1,000,000 of bonds, despite the fact the department had to pay an average of 2.37 per cent for $9 million in bonds issued in 1953, Sanfield said.

Reserve Built Up The director said that because of the favorable difference between the bond cost and the four per cent interest charged on loans, the department is able to pay all loan administration costs, bond interest and certain other department expenses out of these earnings and still enjoy a favorable cash reserve.

Sanfield said about $16 million of the nearly $50 million loaned to date is from funds representing veterans' loan repayments. In all, veterans have repaid more than $22 million in both principal and interest, and are repaying at the rate of more than $500,000 monthly.
