Peg in Washington

BY ALENE (PEG) PHILLIPS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25

Dear Marian:

With Congressional committee meetings well under way, with hearings of various types before federal commissions, and with national conventions attracting members from the west coast, there has been an influx of Oregonians during the past two weeks. To name a few: Mrs. Roy Bishop, Portland, here for Republican meetings and in a group received by Mrs. Eisenhower; Charles H. Heltzel and David Don, from Salem; Tom Sandoz, C. H. Gueffroy, Ward Cook, Robert S. Miller, Jack Winn, and Paul McKee, Portland; Mr. and Mrs. Dale Fischer, Marcola; Rex Porterfield, young winner of the Kiwanis potato growing contest and his escort to the capitol, Bryant Williams, also a Klamath basin potato grower; Gene D. Knudson, Salem; Glenn Jackson, Medford; and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Stacey, Salem.

The Staceys were delighted with the results of the fur auction in New York where their pelts placed in the top lot of Aleutian minks sold in the huge auction. They placed top lots in both the male and female Aleutians. They have also placed this year in the top lots in male sapphire and in male and female silver blue in other auctions, which they believe will bring more recognition to Oregon as a state in which good skins can be produced. The Staceys picked up a car here and are driving to Mexico before returning home.

The Vic MacKenzies, of Salem and Carmel, have returned to Washington for the spring months, following a month in Hawaii. They are in the same apartment they occupied last year in the Greenbriar, where Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Douglas McKay live. The latter couple welcomed the MacKenzies at dinner Thursday evening, the group including Senator and Mrs. Guy Cordon as their other guests.

The Cordons, Congressman and Mrs. Harris Ellsworth and I were dinner guests of the Dale Fischers Wednesday evening at the Embassy Room at the Statler, where a Spanish orchestra and one of the best of the young Flamenco dancers are top flight entertainers.

Two Oregonians we met in Florida were Miss Eleanor Micelli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Micelli, of Roseburg, who is working on the Florida Sun, a weekly newspaper at Miami Beach; and Edmund Bucknell, of Klamath Falls, at an Everglades ranger station. The young man works at Crater Lake in the summers and in Florida in the winters, which sounds like an excellent program.

Secretary McKay has had a busy week of office conferences, a Congressional appropriations hearing, and White House meetings. In addition, he attended the reception given by members of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce for the Washington Congressional delegation at the Sheraton Carlton Friday evening and the annual dinner of the Alfalfa Club on Saturday evening at the Statler. At the latter event, the President was an interested spectator of the fun-making program. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge was introduced as the club's candidate for president but the audience remembered that none of the candidates advanced by the club in its annual tongue-in-cheek campaign has ever been elected. Some one at home has remarked that menus from Washington banquets are of interest and in this case, I report that the diners were served terrapin soup au madre, lobster and crab, Newburg au sherry, fillet mignon and mushrooms with sauce, Perigourdine and hombe glace, with sauce cardinale. It would be of more interest to the recipe-collectors if the contents of the several sauces could be analyzed.

In addition to these affairs, the Secretary was installed as a member of the Board of Trustees at the morning service of the National Presbyterian Church Sunday and during the week attended a luncheon of the Post Mortem Club where he was presented with a special award with which the club "spoofs" its guests. Dr. William Pearl, newly appointed Bonneville Power Administrator, was sworn in at a ceremony in the Secretary's office this week and joined the Secretary and the top secretarial staff at lunch. Mrs. McKay has been struggling with a bronchial cold and cancelled engagements during the week, but she has improved and will join with other cabinet wives Tuesday noon in a luncheon honoring Mrs. Eisenhower.

A few more days of snow on the ground this week but it didn't slow the pace of evening parties, I report rather breathlessly.

Peg.
