

Earth Satellite Sought By German Scientists

WASHINGTON (AP) — Samuel F. Pryor, executive vice president of Pan American World Airways, said Saturday that if a nation bent on world conquest should perfect an earth satellite, it "may be able to reduce any country it likes to ashes."

Pryor spoke to the Women's Forum on National Security.

He recalled that documents captured in World War II disclosed German scientists had worked on technical details for such a man-made satellite. It would revolve about the earth in an orbit 600 miles away.

"We have definite reason to believe that the Russians not only share with us paper knowledge of such an earth satellite — they also have in their control some of the German scientists who worked on this," Pryor said.

It was reported soon after the collapse of Nazi Germany that the Russians — like the western Allies — had taken over German scientists and their data on the satellite and many other fields of experimentation.

"The most outstanding feature of this satellite," Pryor said, "was to be a giant mirror with an arrangement for changing its focal length so that the sun rays could be either concentrated on a small area of the earth, resulting in intense heat, or spread over a large area."

Peaceful uses of the satellite envisioned a better means of studying the interplanetary system, and controlling the earth's weather. Concerning the suggested "space reflector," Pryor added:

"Such a mirror, properly focused on London, New York, Chicago or San Francisco might be able to burn to a crisp in a matter of minutes every man, animal, plant, tree or shrub."

The Italian government has estimated that six million dwelling units were destroyed in the country during World War II.

Highway Lifesavers Hold Dallas Meeting

DALLAS — A meeting of Polk County Highway Lifesavers committee was called Jan. 27 by Chairman Sherman Bostrack.

Attending were M. L. Sugden, co-chairman; Robert Woodman, co-chairman; Frank W. Sciencott, Dallas Jaycee president; Loren M. Siebert; Carl A. Taylor; Eric J. Swenson; Gary Radke; and Matthew M. Williams.

Tentative plans were made for a spring project. The purpose of this committee is to bring before the public the advantages of safe driving on highways in an effort to reduce traffic fatalities and property damage.

Final plans will be made at a subsequent meeting early in February.

Pope Must Remain In Bed Three Days

VATICAN CITY (UP) — Vatican sources said today Pope Pius XII will spend the next three days in bed in an attempt to conquer the hiccupping that has upset his nervous system.

The pontiff became ill last week and was forced to call off all audiences and other ceremonies.

Vatican authorities said over the week-end that the pope was recovering satisfactorily but must prolong his "period of less work and regular rest."
