Baxter told officers he heard a noise outside and looked to see the prowler looking in a neighbor's window. He grabbed the knife as he ran through the kitchen and out the back way, Baxter said, and chased the man down the alley. He velled neer for the man to stop he yelled once for the man to stop, he said, and when the man kept running he threw the knife.

The man straightened up as if he had been hit, Baxter recalled, but he kept on running. Police checked the area and could find either the knife or any trace of blood so its got them wondering.
