

Beautiful Ceremony Dedicates New Church

By MARIAN LOWRY FISCHER

An impressive and beautiful service, with all the traditional pageantry of the church for such an occasion, marked the dedication of the new building for St. Paul's Episcopal parish of Salem, Sunday afternoon.

About 700 persons, many of them standing, attended the hour-long ceremony at the new $300,000 structure at South Liberty and Myers.

To the rector, the Rev. George H. Swift, and to the parish as a whole, the dedication came as a climax to a dream of many years, the culmination of effort and work on the part of hundreds.

Officiating at the dedication was the Rt. Rev. Benjamin D. Dagwell, Portland, Bishop of the Diocese of Oregon of the Episcopal church. The bishop made his entrance in an unusual ceremony, traditional to the church.

Opening the program was the procession of acolytes, choir, and visiting clergymen of the church from the back of the building to the altar.

Bishop Dagwell stood outside the main entrance and knocked on the door after the procession participants took their places at the front of the church. Glenn S. Paxson, chairman of St. Paul's building committee, and Wayne W. Gordon, senior warden, opened the doors to admit Bishop Dagwell with his crosier, or staff of church authority. He was accompanied by the Rev. Mr. Swift and the Rev. Lansing E. Kempton, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, Portland, who gave the dedication sermon. These officials then joined another procession including the church vestry and building committee to go toward the altar, Bishop Dagwell reciting from Psalm 24 as he walked up the aisle, the congregation giving the response.

Following prayer by the bishop, six clergymen offered prayers for those who will receive the sacraments in the new church. The Rev. Perry H. Smith, St. Mary's church, Eugene, gave the prayer for those who will be baptized; the Rev. Hal R. Gross, St. Paul's, Oregon City, the prayer for those who will be confirmed; the Rev. Charles S. Neville, of Good Samaritan, Corvallis, the prayer for those who will receive the Holy Communion; the Rev. Louis R. Keiter, All Saints church, Portland, the prayer for those who will hear the Scriptures; the Rev. George R. Turney, St. Michael's and All Angels, Portland, the prayer for those who will be joined in marriage in the church; and the Rev. Mr. Swift, rector of St. Paul's, the prayer for all those who will worship in the new church.

Glenn S. Paxson, chairman, read the sentence of dedication, representing the building committee, the other two members of this committee being Dr. W. Wells Baum and Mrs. William H. Burghardt.

Preliminary to the dedication sermon, Bishop Dagwell, as he had done at the morning service in the new church, paid special tribute to the service and leadership of the Rev. Mr. Swift in St. Paul's parish of Salem. The two attended seminary together 40 years ago. Few parishes are marked with quite the lay interest and support that is manifest by the lay members of St. Paul's of Salem, the bishop said, the capital city's parish being one in which the entire diocese takes pride, he added, concluding his remarks with a "God bless you" in behalf of the clergy and officials of the diocese.

There is the old saying nothing succeeds like success, the Rev. Mr. Kempton said in giving the dedication sermon. "Because of this new church, St. Paul's of Salem will be stimulated to extraordinary growth and achievement," he added.

Sometimes there is criticism outside the churches about the beautiful temples of worship, he said, adding, "But why should not there be beautiful churches; they are the places in which to worship God."

"The Christian church is the most important single force in a community," the speaker said. "Nothing can excel its importance because it is the center for the soul."

"Remember, where there is no God there is no man," Father Kempton continued. "Materialism is shallow and lacking, and all the scientific achievement, all the material achievements are as nothing if the spiritual value is not there."

"The most dangerous thing is the individual without a God," the speaker added. "It is not more legislation we need, but better legislators; it is not better business we need, but better

Dagwell, bishop of the diocese of Oregon, who officiated at the dedication; James L. Payne, architect for the building; Carl Browning, superintendent of the building; and the Rev. George H. Swift, rector of St. Paul's. The cornerstone ceremony was at 12:15 p.m. At 4 p.m., Bishop Dagwell officiated at the dedication of the church, about 700 attending the service. (Jeston-Miller studio picture)

Russian Mig Downed in Attack on U. S. Planes

By EDMOND LE BRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force said today U.S. planes and MIG15 jet fighters fought a sharp engagement near the Korean coast 10 days ago, after a U.S. reconnaissance bomber was attacked.

No American aircraft were lost, but one of the Russian-made jets was shot down. An Air Force spokesman here, who had only terse information on the incident, said so far as was known in casualties no plane damage.

As for the nationality of the MIG pilots, he said only, "It is safe to assume they were Communists."

This was the first known clash between U.S. and Communist planes since the Korean armistice was signed July 27. Whether by coincidence or not, it occurred on a day of considerable tension—Jan. 22 was the day on which United Nations officials released to civilian status prisoners of war who business men . . . Our need is for the moral and spiritual values that only the church can give," Father Kempton said.

Refusing to be repatriated to Red-held territory. The Communists had insisted they must be kept in neutral custody. However, no serious incident developed.

The Air Force gave this account of the plane incident:

A U.S. RB45—a light, jet-propelled bomber fitted for reconnaissance work—was flying a reconnaissance mission Jan. 22 over international waters northwest of Sok Island, off the west coast of Korea, when "a large formation of MIG15 jet fighters" attacked it. F86 jet fighters guarding the bomber opposed the attack and in the ensuing fight shot down one MIG15.

The clash apparently took place north of the 38th Parallel, the old dividing line between North and South Korea.

Fourth Summer Tour Planned

Dr. Edouard Bourbousson of Oregon State College has organized a tour to Europe and North Africa for this summer and is inviting those interested.

The tour will be 63 days from New York, sailing on the Italian steamer Castel Felice on June 30, returning to New York August 31.

Dr. Bourbousson, associate professor of modern languages at Oregon State College, will personally conduct the tour. It is the fourth year that he has organized a summer tour. Dr. Bourbousson lived in France until World War II and knows Europe intimately.

Eight countries, and the most interesting places in each country, will be visited: England, France, Spain, Italy, Switzerland, Germany and especially Morocco and Algeria in North Africa where some masterpieces of Hispano-Mauresque art will be seen.

The tour is planned for any traveler who is interested in political, economic and social problems of Western Europe including these two spotlights: Morocco and Algeria. It is also planned for those who want to have a more intimate knowledge of the conditions of European and Muslim life. Interviews are being arranged with French government officials.

The cost is $1220 for a 63-day trip combined with comfortable travel: first class hotels and restaurants. Travel in Europe will be by rail (Pullman in night trains) and motor coach. Only a limited number of reservations for the tour are available.

Cafe, Weyerhaeuser Co. Sued for $15,000

COQUILLE (AP) — A suit has been filed in circuit court here asking $15,000 damage from Rippers Cafe of North Bend and the Weyerhaeuser Steamship Co.

Billie Berge asks that amount for the estate of the late Harold Edison Carter who was one of two persons shot and killed March 28, 1953, by another customer in the cafe, Florencio Martes Fuertes.

Miss Berge, administrator for Carter's estate, contends in the suit that Weyerhaeuser was negligent in employing Fuertes on a ship which was docked nearby and that the cafe was negligent in admitting him.

Fuertes is serving a life term in the state penitentiary on a second degree murder conviction.
