Specialist Speaker at Kick-off for Heart Fund

"Heart disease kills more people than the next five ranking fatal diseases," declared Dr. Herbert E. Griswold of the Department of Cardiology of the University of Oregon Medical School, at the noon kick-off luncheon of the Marion county Heart Fund drive held at the Senator hotel.

The doctor said that until 1947 the Heart Association had as its members only scientific personnel, but that in that year the association decided to take into its membership laymen.

He described as the principal functions of the association: (1) Educating laymen as to what heart disease is; (2) Research Education; and (3) Research.

In a breakdown of what disposition will be made of the amount of money collected in the drive in Oregon, which ends February 28, Dr. Griswold said that 25 per cent will go to the national headquarters for distribution, 25 per cent will go to research, and that 8 per cent will be consumed by overhead. The remainder will be used locally.

He emphasized, however, that the 25 per cent that goes to the national headquarters will indirectly benefit Oregon, as any discoveries regarding heart disease made with that money will be of benefit here as well as to the remainder of the nation. Also, some of this money, according to the doctor, will be returned to Oregon directly in the form of research funds and grants.

Dr. Griswold recommended as ways to control heart disease: (1) Get an annual physical and check with your doctor; (2) Keep your weight down; (3) Break your "hurry-worry" habit; (4) Don't do anything unusual in the way of physical activity; and (5) Be able to recognize heart disease.

The Marion county goal for the Heart Fund has been set at $3,500, which, according to local Heart Fund officials, is only one-fifth that of the Polio Fund and one-twelfth that of the Red Cross Drive.

Money Demand

"Several years ago Mr. Roosevelt said he was worth several million dollars, so we could live in a lavish manner and not have to save out of our current income."

Detailing her expense claims, she said she and Roosevelt "dined out a great deal" at "very nice restaurants." Their average dinner tab for two, she estimated, was $20.

Roosevelt went with her when she bought clothes, she said, and paid an average of $300 for dresses.

"Now I buy a suit for $200 or a dress for $150," she added. Refused to pay for stole.

She said Roosevelt had refused to pay for a mink stole ordered while they were married but not delivered until "after he had left."

The hearing began at 9:58 a. m. (PST) after an attorneys' conference in Superior Judge Kurtz Kauffman's chambers.

In court, the couple's attorneys agreed that neither party will make derogatory statements in the presence of their children regarding the other.

Giving her name as Romelle Beece Roosevelt, the wife testified she lives here with her three children—James Jr., 8; Michael, 7, and Anna Eleanor, 6—and a housekeeper.

OWN INCOME $200 A MONTH
She said she and Roosevelt married April 14, 1941, and separated last Aug. 20.

Mrs. Roosevelt testified she has an income of her own of $200 a month from securities, part of which she contributes toward support of her mother.

"During our marriage Mr. Roosevelt supported her until we separated," she said.

The second-floor courtroom and hallway were filled to capacity with spectators and newsmen as the hearing began.

The front door of the office at 253 Second St. had been left unlocked according to police reports. Dr. Johnson discovered the loss when he returned from lunch.

Bridge Causes 4 More Suits

The six Salem Lions clubs are handling the field work in the Salem area.

It was pointed out that any organization desiring to have members of the association speak on heart disease to their organization may contact Dr. Ray Pinson in the Oregon Building.

Contributions may be mailed to "Heart Fund, Salem, Oregon." Checks should be made out to "Heart Fund, Ladd and Bush Bank."

Charge Soviet

Dulles led off the Western attack on the Molotov plan, which he said follows the "tragic pattern" by which the Soviet Union has spread Communist control over Eastern Europe since the war.

Dulles said Britain's Anthony Eden, France's Georges Bidault and he had come to Berlin two weeks ago hoping that solutions would be found to the problem of German unity in a conference which at the outset carried the promise of easing world tension.

But, he said, the Molotov program which the Russian minister put before the conference Thursday shows that "he has no intention of seriously seeking German unity with freedom."

Dulles declared, "that it is late, but not too late to redeem the promise of Berlin."

The cornerstone of the Russian program, Dulles said, is the Communist government of East Germany which he declared was put in office and kept there by Soviet power.

It would have been "forcibly ejected" by the workers of East Germany last June, Dulles asserted, had it not been for "elements of 22 Soviet divisions, including tanks and armored cars."

He referred to the workers' rebellion in which two million East Germans defied their government and the Russian occupation itself to show their resentment of Red rule.

The American statesman slashed at the Molotov plan, which would entrench the Red minority of East Germany in any future united government and he declared:

"In the name of peace, he (Mr. Molotov) proposes a method for extending the solid Soviet bloc to the Rhine."

"In the name of democracy, he has set forth the classic Communist pattern for extinguishing democracy as that word has been understood for 2,000 years."

Fire Blocked By Automatic Water Jets

An automatic sprinkler system was credited by city firemen with probably stopping a major fire in downtown Salem when it extinguished a blaze in the R. L. Elfstrom Company warehouse at 260 South Liberty street Thursday evening.

The blaze, believed started by sparks from a welding torch, started about 5:45 p. m. in a burlap curtain partition between a storage area and a work area and quickly spread up the curtain to touch off six of the automatic sprinkler heads.

The fire was out when firemen arrived, leaving only clean-up work for the salvage crew. Damage was done to about 10 or 12 rolls of linoleum and rug pads and the curtain was destroyed but there was no damage to the building itself, firemen said.
