Had Insurance On Partner

NEWPORT Ore.—Police and an insurance agent took the stand Monday as the state pressed its case against Richard Thomson, 25, accused of trying to kill his business partner by slugging him and sending him over a cliff in an automobile.

The insurance agent testified Thomson and his partner in an automobile agency, James Mueller, 31, had an insurance policy that would have paid $20,000 to the surviving partner in case of the other's accidental death.

Eugene Daugherty, a state patrolman, said he saw Thomson parked at Otter Creek three days before the car later went over the cliff with Mueller inside.

Figl Plans

Acting on the assumption the Big Four were about to move on to the Austrian question, Austrian Foreign Minister Leopold Figl arranged plane reservations to come to Berlin from Vienna Tuesday.

The ministers also were due to discuss how and when to take up the question of an independence treaty for Austria.

The three Western ministers were reported determined to confront Molotov with a three-point program:

1. They will meet with Red China only for discussion of such Asian issues as Korea and Indochina, and only if the Peiping regime demonstrates good faith by cooperating first in a Korean settlement or else stops arming the Communist-led Vietminh rebels in Indochina.

2. The Big Four must fix a deadline for their fruitless discussions on Germany, unless Russia is ready to modify her demands.

3. All international attempts to bring about world disarmament must be within the United Nations. Molotov had proposed such a conference be held outside the international organization, so Red China could attend.

The conference moved out of East Berlin, where it met last week at the Soviet Embassy, in the wake of evidence that the 18 million East Germans again are stirring to a low boil against the Red occupation.

Western agencies with thorough information networks in the East said 300 to 500 Germans had been jailed in the past week for speaking out openly against Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov's proposal to unite Germany on the hammer and sickle pattern.

East German secret police were on a full alert, but the 300,000-man Soviet occupation army was reported going about winter activity as usual.

The discontent hadn't a chance of upsetting the Russian occupation, but it gave a challenging answer to Molotov's picture of East Germany as a happy land, "free" to vote in elections for a list of Red-picked candidates with no questions permitted.

Opinion Due

The board of control, assuming that the law passed by the 1953 legislature for the new institution, included authority to purchase land, advertised and received a goodly number of bids for land in various parts of the county.

In the meantime State Treasurer Sig Unander requested an opinion from Attorney General Thornton, on the power of the board to expend funds from the building appropriation for purchase of land.

The attorney general ruled that the statute appropriating funds for the building did not stipulate purchase of land, and therefore the board lacked power to use such funds for land purchase.

As a result of the opinion, the board rejected all bids offers of land and in turn asked by the emergency board for funds with which to buy the land. The emergency board postponed action of this request until an opinion could be obtained from the legislative counsel.

The report, by Healy, will be the principal item on the agenda at the Thursday meeting of the emergency board.

Gamblers

Jackson noted, however, that Justices Reed and Minton did not go along on this point although they concurred in the general view. Jackson expressed that serious questions had been raised by the conduct of the police.

Irvine was sentenced in state court to a year and a half in prison, or one year and $1,500 fine. In his appeal to the Supreme Court he asked a ruling that a tax provided by Congress may not be nullified and defeated by state officers arresting a person so taxed and thus licensed.

Jackson and his four colleagues on the majority dismissed this argument as "without substance or merit."

Jackson recalled that the Supreme Court some time ago upheld constitutionality of the federal levy and said the gambling tax law expressly provides that payment of the tax does not exempt any person from penalty or punishment by a state and "does not authorize commencement or continuance of such business."

Grant Store

It retails low-priced merchandise in large variety through the large chain of stores, 60 per cent of which are located in industrial and agricultural trade centers of from 2500 to 50,000 population, and the remainder in the large metropolitan areas.

The major part of its merchandise falls under the classification of staple goods, and the approximate number of articles carried varies according to the size of the store, ranging from 1500 to 12,000. Among the principal types are men's, women's and children's apparel, including millinery, sportswear and accessories, hosiery, underwear and footwear, draperies, toiletries, costume jewelry, leather goods, notions, books and stationery, home furnishings, including housewares, rugs, furniture, electric goods, paint, hardware, garden supplies, toys and candy.

Each store manager is responsible for his own store and shares in the profits, though given suggestions and assistance from the management. The intention of the company is to make each store an integral part of the community.

In 1950 the stockholders approved a plan by which the directors may authorize the sale of either unissued or treasury shares of common stock to officers and employees. At present the company's stock is quoted on the New York Stock Exchange at 33 1/2.

The company maintains a research organization. Most of the stores are leased on a fixed rental basis, but some on a percentage of gross sales.

In 1952 the company acquired an interest in Zeller's Limited, which operates 51 stores in Canada, and which had sales of $35,113,167 in the fiscal year ending January 31, 1953.

William T. Grant is chairman of the Board of Directors of the W. T. Grant Company, and Edward Stanley is president and general manager of the company.

Indict Onassis

Onassis pleaded innocent and was released under $10,000 bond with a stipulation that he must not leave the country.

The indictment pivots around a convention that corporations controlled by Onassis obtained during World War II by misrepresentation that the corporations were owned by American citizens. The amount of money involved was 18 million dollars.

The ships were sold by the old Maritime Commission, since abolished in a reorganization, under a statute authorizing sales only to American citizens.

Altogether, the indictment names nine individuals and six corporations as parties to the alleged conspiracy. There are eight counts embracing also alleged false statements to the government.

A federal statute makes false statements in connection with business with the government punishable by up to five years imprisonment and $10,000 fine or both on each count.

The other individuals named in the indictment were: Joseph H. Rosenbaum and Robert W. Dudley, Washington lawyers.

Robert L. Berenson, now living in Paris. Nicholas Cokkinis, Charles Augenthaler and Harold O. Becker, all of New York City.

George Cokkinis, reported to be abroad. The corporations named are: United States Petroleum Carriers Inc.; Victory Carriers Inc.; Central American Steamship Agency, Inc.; Sociedad Industrial Maritima Financiera Ariona Panama, S. A.; Sociedad Maritima Miraflores, and Transatlantica Financiera Industrial Panama, S. A.
