George Schroeder, Sherwood, assistant forester of the company from the Portland office, was the speaker on all programs. Robert Beatty, also a Portland office ranger, and Tom Anderson, Lebanon Crown Zellerbach yard superintendent, were present to assist the upper grade boys plant the trees.

Green Acres and Santiam schools received Port Orford cedars, and Queen Anne and Cascade, red pines.

Essays were written by upper grade students who chose their own conservation subject. Top awards went to David Paup, Debbie Kingan, Betty Williams and Lester Barnes.

Salad for Diet Watchers

More and more women are becoming diet conscious these days. It is the smart hostess who takes this into consideration when planning a luncheon for her women friends. A suggestion for a main course for such an occasion is Tropical Cheese Salad. It is not rich or high in calories, yet it contains the high quality protein of cottage cheese combined with fruit for flavor contrast.

For your luncheon, precede the salad with a cup of hot bouillon. Then with the salad, serve rye wafers, rolls, and butter, so your guests may have a choice. Celery and carrot sticks may be added for texture contrast, and a light dessert will complete the meal. This is a luncheon that the "weight watchers" will appreciate.

A large crowd was in attendance.

The St. Boniface Hi Parent Teacher's association held their regular meeting Thursday evening in the parish hall.

The annual athletic banquet was discussed and plans were made which will deviate from the usual schedule. The main course will be provided by the committee, with the parents adding to the potluck according to the planned menu.

A program will follow the banquet, which has been set for Sunday, Feb. 28.

Earl Allbright, instructor of State Vocational Education, completed the pumper school for the Sublimity Fire Dept.

Word has been received of the death of Mrs. W. H. Tate at Providence Hospital, in Portland. She had been a patient of that hospital since last October and reports last week stated her condition as improving.
