Peg in Washington

BY ALENE (PEG) PHILLIPS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 15

Dear Marian:

Sandwiched in between an "American Pioneer Dinner" Tuesday night and the Oregon State society dinner Friday night of which I wrote yesterday, was the trip of Secretary and Mrs. Douglas McKay to Michigan and Minnesota. The Secretary had been asked by the Republican National Committee to give Lincoln Day talks at Saginaw and Minneapolis.

First, about the American Pioneer Dinner. The American Automobile Association honored the National Park Service of the Interior Department with the dinner and Secretary McKay was designated a joint host with the AAA. About 375 people gathered in the Interior Cafeteria, including Congressional members and officials of the Department. The principal feature was buffalo and elk meat, which was specially prepared by being marinated for several days in vinegar, onions and spices, and then cooked slowly in the oven. Custer State Park in South Dakota supplied the meat, as there has been overstocking on the range there and some of the older animals have been killed to protect the remainder of the herds, which are maintained by the governments of several states as well as the federal government. With the fruit punch served before the dinner, a sizeable Chinook salmon, stuffed with crabmeat and with garnishment of shrimps about the platter, was a great treat. Some specially selected Disney pictures of animal life in several of the national parks were shown following the dinner.

Both in Saginaw and Minneapolis, the McKays were warmly received. At the former city, the dinner was served in the Civic Auditorium with 350 in the audience. Prior to the dinner the Secretary and Mrs. McKay at the Shrine club. Men, too, attended the party and the Secretary dashed in for a few minutes between a radio program and a later television appearance.

At Minneapolis, around 800 people gathered at the Radisson Hotel. A party honoring Secretary and Mrs. McKay was given before the dinner at the Minneapolis club and there they met several former friends, including Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stoddard, formerly of La Grande. Mr. Stoddard, a University of Oregon graduate, is a Minneapolis banker. Russell Foss of Minneapolis, who was a supply sergeant at Camp Adair with Secretary McKay in World War II, and Howard Cooper of Duluth, a former Portland resident and at Oregon State with the Secretary, were others renewing acquaintances. And a special and very pleasant surprise at the dinner was the appearance of Mr. and Mrs. William Stevenson
