Firm and Labor Renew Pledge

SOUTH BEND, Ind. - A cere mony in which management and labor representatives at The Studebaker Corporation recently reaffirmed the company's cen-tury-old pledge of quality and craftsmanship has touched off a spantaneous request among employes to voluntarily sign similar

At the initial ceremony, H. S.

Vance, president; Paul G. Hoffman, chairman, and Louis J.

Horvath, president of Local 5,

UAW-CIO affixed the first gold seals of a kind that will be placed on all cars leaving the company's plants. The seal reads "We stand behind the quality of this car."

behind the quality of this car."

Copies of a traditional quality code, on which the seal is based, were sent to all employes as a reminder that "every man and woman who works for Studebaker will maintain the high standards of quality and skill that have characterized Studebaker for five

Several days after the cere-mony a chief steward in the body division asked that employes be permitted to sign their names on the face of the pledge. Over a hundred names soon filled available space on the parchment sheet, and a second sheet was

Other departments made the same request, and pledges were soon being signed voluntarily throughout the plant.
