Busch Answers Baseball-Beer Combine Critic

ST. LOUIS UP — The owners of the St. Louis Cardinals, already under fire from the minor leagues, now have been tossed a bean ball by Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D.-Colo.), who doubles as president of the Western League. A Senate bill introduced by Johnson Tuesday would subject all pro-fessional baseball clubs owned by a beer or liquor firm to anti-trust laws.

Johnson left no doubt that he had the Cardinals, bought last spring by Anheuser-Busch, Inc., in mind when he authored the bill. What doubt there was Johnson removed himself, stating:

"The bill is aimed specifically at the beer-baseball combination in St. Louis where Mr. August A.

Busch has been permitted to gain control of the cardinals."

Busch, president of Anheuser-Busch and the Cardinals, was accused by Johnson of making baseball "a cold-blooded beer-pedaling business."

Johnson a Cardinal few more bottles of beer," in the statement:

"To accuse us of using baseball to achieve a position in the industry we long have enjoyed is self answering.

"In the first place, we bought the Cardinals only when we were are also accused to achieve a position of the properties of the control of the cardinals."
