Salem Meets Stayton, Silverton Plays Mt. Angel Tonight

Page 12-Salem, Oregon, Tuesday, March 2, 1954

Shall We Dance? Bob Brown's two riding horses, Rif and urosch of spring. With wildflowers in bloom and blue sky overhead, spring seems close to Valley residents.

March has slipped in quietly without fanfare. Many folks have become so optimistic over the weather, they are disregarding the chill and leaving their heavy coats on the hook. Pretty soon some gay dog will don a straw hat, and about that time, the lion will probably roar, and umbrellas and overshoes will again be in order.

Maybe you have been too busy to notice, but the pussy-willows are already beginning to bud. Daffodils are starting to flower, wild currant and violets are in bloom, and a variety of small wild-flowers are peeping up out of the forest loam. Before too long, the dogwood will bloom—and North Santiam oldtimers maintain that steelhead appear in the river along with the dogood. We really become convinced of spring's approach when our two riding horses, Rif and Cindy, begin to act like colts again. A few mouthfuls of young tender, grass, the smell of growing things, and they begin to cavort with glee, knowing that the long winter in box stalls is over. Rif and Cindy are already beginning to shed their rough winter coats, so spring can't be too far away . . .

POTLUCK AND DINASAURS Mrs. Willard Taylor, one of the gorgeous gals in the Salem Ike Walton Auxiliary, took us to task recently. In our last column, we mentioned that local Ikes would honor the Chemeketans at their meeting tomorrow evening. We didn't mention the fact that the Auxiliary will be in charge of a dee-licious potluck, starting at 6:30 p.m. At 8 p.m., a movie about Dinasaur National Monument will be shown . . . Okay, girls?

SOME FOLKS ARE LIKE THAT

Some people just don't like huntin' and fishin'. Seems like couple of anti-anglers are busily at work here at the Capital burnal . . . Frinstance—check Brown's columns of recent date. Journal . . . F'rinstance—check Brown's columns of recent date. Even Brown, poor, illiterate scribe that he is, couldn't possibly (?) make so many errars! When our column reaches those all-powerful folks who put things into print and read proof, anything can happen. Such beautiful and poetic phrases as "skunking your fellow anglers" comes out as "shrunking your yellow anglers". Frankly, we ain't shrunk a yellow angler in years . . And our friend, Renne Harley, of Ducks Unlimited, had his name printed "Marley" and "Harlley." Oh, well, we don't really mind. As it is we never know how the column is going to appear—so we always dash to the newsstand as soon as the paper hits the street—to see what weird things we've had to say!
