

ON GUARD IN CAIRO TURMOIL

Egyptian soldiers, equipped with anti-tank gun, mount guard on the roof and in the vicinity of Cairo's Abbassia military barracks during the tense political situation which saw Maj. Gen. Mohamed Naguib swept back into the presidency. On second floor of the barracks is the office of Lt. Col. Gamal Abel. Nasser first reported to have taken over from Naguib and now said to be revolutionary party's choice as premier. (AP Wirephoto via radio from Cairo)

Last Pioneer Landmark at Gates Now Being Removed

By MRS. ALBERT MILLSAP

GATES — Our last remaining pioneer landmark, the former home of the pioneer family of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gates, which was built before the time of the railroad, is being razed.

Mr. and Mrs. Gates moved here from Salem in the early 70's. Later when the railroad was being pushed through, Mr. and Mrs. Gates, who up to that time were living in a log cabin, built this house for the dual purpose of a residence for themselves and for a hotel to accommodate the construction crew, and operated it

PLAN SCIENCE FAIR

WOODBURN — A science fair featuring articles prepared by students in science classes will be held at the Washington school in Woodburn Thursday and Friday, March 4 and 5. The exhibits will be open to the public during school hours.

House became a favorite stopping place for the miners.

In time the property was sold to George Anderson, proprietor of the old Gates hotel, then later to the William Stitt family as a residence. Since the death of Mr. Stitt several years ago, the old house has rapidly fallen into disrepair.

It is not known just what year the house was built, but W. R. Hutcheson, who is having the place torn down, reports finding old newspapers pasted on the walls, some dated as early as 1872.

The picturesque old building will remain in the memory of many of our people as a link between the past and the future of Gates.

Longshoremen Threaten to Strike if Bridges Deported

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Members of Local 10, Harry Bridges own longshoremen's unit, Tuesday voted to walk out if the government makes any further efforts to deport Bridges, president of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union.

Officials said the membership would determine on the opening day of any deportation proceedings whether the local would stay off the job in "continuous stop work meetings."

The action was taken in a meeting at which Local 10 members endorsed most of the recommendations of a recent longshore caucus at Bellingham, Wash. The session virtually closed this port from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday.

The Bellingham recommendations approved by Local 10 included one calling for trade between the United States and Communist nations of Asia and Europe.

Other approved recommendations called for abolition of waterfront screening by the U. S. Coast Guard; support of a 10-cent straight time and 15-cent overtime hourly wage increase at the next contract opening; repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act; and use of a $750,000 welfare fund reserve for a one-year trial to provide dental care for members' children between 4 and 14 year age group.

U. S. Attorney Lloyd Burke told newsmen a civil suit seeking deportation and denaturalization of Bridges would be instituted within six weeks.

Bridges was convicted of lying to win naturalization in that he swore he was not and never had been a Communist when he obtained citizenship.

Lenten Season Begins Today

NEW YORK (AP) — Lent began today—Ash Wednesday.

The 40-day period, which lasts until the Saturday before Easter, stresses the ideas of penance and self-denial for Christians throughout the world.

Many churches will hold special Lenten services each week throughout the season.

Practices in observing Lent vary with different faiths and individuals, and include such matters as dietary restrictions, special prayers, donations to the needy, or giving up entertainment and drink.

A major event of the first Lenten week will be the "World Day of Prayer" this Friday, in which Protestant and orthodox faiths

Nation Counts 2,900 Traffic Deaths in Jan.

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation counted 2,900 traffic fatalities in January, the same toll as in January a year ago.

Drivers in the nation's cities made a good safety showing, but it was cancelled by a jump in rural accidents.

Fatalities declined 14 per cent in the cities but gained 5 per cent in rural areas.

A total of 345 cities went through the month without a traffic death.
