

Free Cooking School to Be Event Next Tuesday

Begorra, there'll be no excuse for any Salem housewife not knowing how to cook! No excuse either, for failing to put "a bit o' green" into the menu on St. Patrick's Day!

Every homemaker in Salem is invited to attend the big, free cooking school which will be held in the Elsinore Theater, Tuesday afternoon, March 16, starting at 2 o'clock. Two of the most popular and outstanding home economists in the northwest will preside over the food demonstrations—Marian Bell of Crescent Manufacturing Company and Celia Lee of Crown Mills. Also assisting Crescent, one of the pioneer importing and exporting food concerns of the West Coast, and Crown Mills is Master Service Stations, Inc., General Electric Dealer in Salem.

Homemakers will be treated to new recipes and menu ideas, particularly those suited to the Lenten season. There will be clever suggestions in Easter Egg decorating with Marcella Deft and bring out a whole bag of last-minute St. Patrick's Day ideas.

Since Marian Bell is associated with Crescent, she is skilled in the use of spices and flavorings and her recipes are always awaited with much pleasure. Her audiences particularly appreciate her budget-wise ideas, her time and energy savers like entire meals cooked in the oven, and even a "skillet meal."

In addition to her regular food demonstrations, Marian Bell will show some "quickies" for getting a St. Patrick's Day touch into menus and will show home-makers how Easter Eggs can be decorated and colored with Crescent Sprink and Crescent colors.

Every homemaker knows that delicious hot rolls and breads are the crowning glory of luncheon and party menus—and what man ever turned down a light-as-a-feather yeast roll or baking powder biscuit as part of his meal? Celia Lee of Crown Mills is famous for her hot breads and pastry recipes, and she'll share many of these with her Salem audience, giving latest tips on delectable and nutritious home baking.

SPEAKER

Maude Kline who will begin a series of lectures and billet readings at the First Spiritualist church, 1320 Madison street, Sunday night at 7:30.

East Salem

EAST SALEM — There will be a guest speaker for the Tuesday night, March 16, meeting of the Swegle Parent Teachers association at the school. Paul Bramlet, superintendent of the Chemawa Indian school, will show slide pictures and talk on the different activities of the school.

There will be a special movie for the school children shown by Mr. Bryon.

The report of the nominating committee for new officers will be given. Sixth grade mothers will serve refreshments.

A special assembly was held Wednesday afternoon in the auditorium of SHwegle school with the third and fourth grades of Auburn school; the third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades of Middle Grove, guests of the upper grades of Swegle.

Dr. and Mrs. Morgan, who spent five months of the past year living on Indian reservations with a special permit from the government, showed slide pictures. Dr. Morgan was narrator, Mrs. Morgan showing the pictures. They were from the Macass in Washington; the Warm Springs of Oregon and the Navajo of Arizona. Following the showing of the pictures Dr. Morgan answered questions from the children. Next year they will have a different program as they plan to spend five months of this year in Cuba.

Friday for an assembly the fourth grade pupils of Mrs. Colleen Marsh presented a special program, in conjunction with the presentation of flags given the school by the Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary. Mrs. Bissler first presented a flag for the first grade of Miss Darlene Gortmaker; the first grade of Mrs. Frances Nichols and for the library. This was followed by the flag salute led by Sharon Locke.

For the pupils part first was a poem by Shirley Gandy, Cheryl Myers, Sue Hinkle, Margie Masters, John Speers, Dixie Hammett and Virginia Forse.

Others taking part were narrator, Mary Lee Harnar, Larry Gardner, Ronny Tipton; Gary Willis, Nancy Weitz, Jean Blackburn, Conley Blackmore, Peggy Clute, Spencer Reeco, Kay Garrett, Roger Focht, Diane La Due and Beverly Justins and Margie Masters.

The next number was a poem with parts taken by Bobby Bowder, Mary Jansen, Joan Giersen and Jimmy Byran.

Bobby Bowder and Roger Focht took care of the curtains; Ray Garrett was director; Beverly Justins was in charge of stage settings and Diane La Due was at the piano.

New pupils at Swegle school are Mary Ellen Garrison from Buena Crest school; Donna Monack from Richmond, both first graders; and Ken Townsend in sixth grade from Salem Heights. Moving from the community to Pringle community were the Thomases, the Rine family, three children from the school and the Fred Reed family with four to Hoover school district.

North Howell

NORTH HOWELL — The North Howell home economics club will meet Tuesday, March 16, for a 1:30 luncheon. The hostesses for the day will be Mrs. Andy Hall and Mrs. Leo Peterson.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Fosshelm and sons, Bob and Jerry, drove to Canby Sunday where they were guests for the day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Richter.

Mrs. Louisa Johnson, who has been at the Silvertown Hospital since she broke her back, was brought home Monday, to be taken care of by her daughters, Mrs. Amy Beer and Mrs. Ada Spencer of Portland.

HOME ECONOMIST

Marian Bell, who will teach and demonstrate at free cooking school at Elsinore Theater.

Three Missed Prize Money Friday Night

The second young woman state employee to emerge as a candidate for Miss Sometown Salem is Miss Joan Hickerson of the state department of financial responsibility.

She was selected in the drawing on High street Friday night at the Spring Festival event of the Salem Downtown Merchants Association.

Once more Salem shoppers who were lucky ticket holders for first prizes were not present to claim the substantial cash bonuses that go with them. R. S. McDonald of Menmouth was winner of first prize, a wrist watch, which he can claim. But under the rules he can't claim the $300 bonus that he might have had by being present. And since it was unclaimed last week also it will be $300 next week.

Likewise H. Krattel, 2175 Chemeketa street, who won a watch and a pair of shoes as second prize; and Janie Baker, 780 Kingwood drive, third prize winner of an electric roaster, were not there to claim their bonus money, $100 and $50 respectively, so these prizes next week will be $150 and $75.

Others announced as prize winners Friday night were: Betty Ann Pierce, Route 4, Salem; Agnes Davis, Route 1; Pearl Gould, Route 1; Gervais; R. T. Buren, 246 East Superior; and Kay Orr, Route 1, Independence.

Alvin Schmitt Funeral Held

SUBILITY—Funeral services for Alvin L. Schmitt took place Thursday morning, with 9 a.m. requiem mass at Immaculate Conception church at Stayton. Interment was in St. Boniface Catholic cemetery, Sublimity.

Alvin L. Schmitt, 62, who spent most of his life near Sublimity, died in a Portland hospital Tuesday after being a patient there 11 days. He had been ill several months.

Mr. Schmitt, employed as a state park attendant, had been a resident of Stayton the past few years.

Surviving are his wife, Florence, two sons, Alvin Schmitt Jr., Medford, and Kenneth Brodine, Portland; two daughters, Mrs. Effie Gescher and Mrs. Vida James, both of Stayton; four grandchildren; three brothers, Jacob, Edward and George, Sublimity; three sisters, Mrs. Mary Schott, Sublimity; Mrs. Gertrude McCormick, Portland; and Mrs. Barbara Wrightman, Albany.

PRATUM DINNER DEFERRED — PRATUM—Because mumps are so prevalent, the annual Swiss steak dinner at Pratum school that was announced for March 19 has been postponed until April.

South Salem

SOUTH SALEM — The Council Fire of the "Okizu" Camp Fire group of the seventh grade of Leslie Junior High School was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of the groups leaders, Mrs. Robert Fenix on S. High St.

Mrs. Fenix led the processional chant.

Lighting ceremony was conducted by Bonnie Jean Kurth, Claudia Weaver and Patty Fenix. Mrs. Fenix presented the honor beads and service symbols.

Participating in the extinguishing ceremony were Janet Davenport, Andrie Dickman and Sue the group at the piano. On the refreshment committee were Janet Davenport, Sally Osko, Bonnie Jean Kurth and Nancy Baker.

In honor of Camp Fire birthday week the group will have a window display in a downtown store.
