Woodburn

WOODBURN.—Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith and sons Wesley, Bobby and Ronnie, recently returned from an auto trip through 16 states, 11 of them in the deep south and also over the border in Juarez, Old Mexico, covering about 7,000 miles.

In Albuquerque, New Mexico, the Smiths visited with his brother whom he had not seen for 45 years. They also visited friends in the Los Angeles country and at Santa Barbara with some ex-Woodburn residents, the Frank Butterfields, the Lee Riders and Mrs. Lyman Shorey.

Points of interest were the Hoover Dam, the Coolidge Dam, the Meteor Crater, the Petrified Forest and Painted Desert, all in Arizona; Lookout mountain, the old Civil War battleground at Chattanooga, Tenn.; Hiwassee dam in North Carolina, the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, the Gulf of Mexico, and St. Augustine, Florida, the oldest town in the United States. Roads were good everywhere, business seemed good at every place visited and no evidence was seen of a depression.
