Englewood PTA Has Final Meeting of Year

Final meeting of the 1953-54 school year of the Englewood PTA was held Tuesday night. Main feature of the meeting was the graduating ceremonies honoring the sixth grade parents whose youngest child is leaving Englewood. The meeting was complete with mortar board caps and presentation of diplomas.

Outgoing officers reported a successful financial year and a membership of over 500 which makes Englewood PTA one of the largest in Marion county.

New officers were installed by Dennis Patch, chairman of the Marion County PTA. They were: President, George Todd; vice president, Earl Croghan; secretary, Mrs. Robert Corey; treasurer, Mrs. Richard Smart.

Approximately 90 graduating sixth graders were guests of honor at the graduation ceremonies for their parents. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

Pyrethrum, the insecticide, is extracted from daisies.

June 12 Deadline for Boys To Sign for Derby Race

Registration deadline for the Salem Soap Box Derby has been set for June 12—just three weeks away, Derby Director "Barney" Barnett announced Friday.

"By that date we must know how many kids to expect in the 1954 Derby so we can make plans for the number of prizes, ribbons, trophies, free refreshments and everything else that goes to the

Oregon Bureau Meets in Montana

Over 1800 new farm and ranch families were added to the membership of the Montana Farm Bureau Federation last week according to Cliff Wright, organization director of the Oregon Farm Bureau Federation, who has just returned from Montana.

This addition will give the Montana Farm Bureau Federation a membership of approximately 3500 farm families. Wright and 12 other Oregon Farm Bureau members joined forces with Farm Bureau members from the states of Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah, Idaho, Washington, Nevada and California to assist the Montana Farm Bureau Federation in "MOM"—Montana Operation Membership.

"Over 400 Farm Bureau members participated during the two day mass membership campaign and from last reports," said Wright, "the Oregon delegation was the top producers among the other states."

Members participating from Oregon included: Irvon Rouch, Lexington; Glen Dowers, Madras; Fred Henske, Madras; Folmer Bodiker, Bend; Paul Perkert, Redmond; D. H. Gardner, Canby; Ole Steegen, Hubbard; Fred Molt, Milwaukie; Willis Kirk, Shedd; Robert Clark, Brooks; Jimmy Paulsen, Salem; Gilbert Austin, Salem and Wright.

SAAR AGREEMENT SEEN
STRASBOURG, France (AP)—German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and French Deputy Premier Pierre-Henri Teitgen are reported to have agreed in principle on a plan to Europeanize the controversial Saar.

Burke Praised As Speaker

"It's All Up Here, Mister" is the intriguing subject of a speech by Tom A. Burke of San Francisco will make before the Salem Chamber of Commerce Monday noon at the Marion.

Burke is assistant director of the western regional office of the National Safety Council. For three years he was associated with Lowell Thomas who says about him:

"Tom Burke is a platform personality you should not miss. He has that rare quality of warmth, and that still rarer gift, the ability to tell a humorous story. I have known and admired him for many years."

Burke was born in Iowa, was graduated from the University of Oregon, practiced law in Oregon City and from 1928 to 1938 was director of publicity for the National Safety Council in Chicago. In 1941 he became executive vice president of the Greater New York Safety Council.

He has written many articles and radio scripts and is considered an authority on accident prevention. He is special guest lecturer at Northwestern University Traffic Institute, Evanston, Ill., and at the Southern Police Institute at the University of Louisville.

Prize committee chairman Al Pfeiffer of the Optimist club, and Bill Baldwin of the FVW have promised an early list of prizes next week with more to come later. Watch the Capital Journal for the big list of prizes for Derby boys from Salem merchants and friends.

Blind School Pupils To See Portland Zoo

As many animals as possible will be available for "inspection" by the 70 blind school students who will attend the Portland zoo Friday on the school's annual visit.

The students, who will range from 5½ to 13 years old, will be accompanied by members of the school's staff including Mr. and Mrs. Ross L. Huckins.

Rosie the elephant, a camel and some harmless snakes will be among the animals that the children will be allowed to inspect. A picnic lunch will be held at the adjoining park following the tour through the zoo.

Foreign Students Heard At Lions Club Meeting

Three of the 12 boys and girls of high school age from foreign lands who are securing their senior year's instruction in Portland and vicinity, told members of the Salem Lions club Thursday noon of their impressions and experiences while in the United States. They are here under the sponsorship of the American Field Service of International Scholarships.

Strong Arm Trio To Face Court

ALBANY—Three Lebanon men faced arraignment in district court Thursday on charges of malicious destruction of personal property. The trio was arrested Wednesday night at Lebanon on complaint of Kelley Woods who asserted they assaulted him while attempting to force him to sell them a pint bottle of whiskey at Melody Lane.

Woods is proprietor of the night spot between Lebanon and Fairview. John Quick, 35; William Fasige 25, and Kenneth Wise were arrested by Sheriff George Miller, Deputy Sheriff Wade Collins, Lebanon police and Harry Hanson, state police officer.

According to Woods' statement, the three entered Melody Lane at 11:15 p.m. Wednesday and ordered a drink. When Woods refused their order to sell them a pint of whiskey, the three converged on him, Woods drew a pistol and fired it into the ceiling before the three overpowered him and took the gun away.

The trio then left, after stealing a bottle of Vermouth and tearing out the telephone. Woods was able to supply the officers with full descriptions of the men and license number of their car.

Because all of them had taken much language work in their native lands, they spoke fluent English although with a slight accent.

A lad from Norway, attending high school in Vancouver, Wash., after spending several months in a home of that city, said he felt Americans had many of the problems and pleasures experienced by those in Europe. However, he admitted at being somewhat surprised when he was met at the dock in New York by a young woman with a chauffeured automobile.

A bright girl from Germany, who is attending school in Portland, expressed her bewilderment over the American slang. She found there was quite some difference in the two phrases

"pretty awful" and "awful pretty."
A young man from Berlin spoke of conditions as they exist in that divided city. In eastern Berlin, he said, there was but a single candidate for each office, thus eliminating any possibility of conducting a government along democratic lines.
Mrs. J. F. Williams, secretary for the American Field Service, who accompanied the trio, expressed the hope that Salem would participate in the student exchange program.
