White Paper on Security Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Civil Service Commission's forthcoming "white paper" setting forth inside facts on operations of the federal employment security—loyalty program likely will not be made public until after the Nov. 2 elections. This was indicated Wednesday by Rep. Rees (R-Kan.), chairman of the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee, in a telephone interview at his home in Emporia, Kan. Rees said the report had not yet been delivered to the committee and that the simple mechanics of making it available for public distribution would mean "some time" would elapse before it could be released. The report, due to be delivered to the House committee Wednesday, was still undergoing security clearance by administrative agencies at last report.
