Damage Reported—Vandals have been dumping old tires from racks, tipping over oil cans and doing other damage at the Truax Oil company 205 Columbia street, it was reported to city police Wednesday.

Two Held—Robert Dale Helstrom, 2900 Brooks avenue, was charged Thursday with violation of probation. He had been released on probation after a district court conviction on a bad check charge. He was arrested by sheriff's deputies and jailed in lieu of bail. Arrested Friday on a charge of parole violation was Earl Bryans, Salem. He is charged with violating conditions of his parole from the state penitentiary.

and control such vital organs as the mammary glands and kidneys. Enders, Weller and Robbins won out for their investigations in the research division of infectious diseases of the Children's Medical Center, Boston, Mass. Enders is director of the division and Weller is assistant director.

Grew Polio Virus
Under the 57-year-old director's leadership, the three developed in 1949 a method of growing polio virus in cultures composed of non-nervous human tissue in a nutrient bath. This development made possible the growth of sufficient polio virus—of the three known strains—so that the 1954 polio vaccine program could be carried out in the United States. Results of the program are still being compiled.

The medical prize and awards for literature, physics and chemistry—still to be announced—will be handed out by Swedish King Gustav Adolf at a traditional ceremony in Stockholm Dec. 10.

Two Stolen Autos Recovered by Police

The car of John R. Butts, 4886 Rickman road, stolen Monday has been recovered in Valsetz, Salem police reported Wednesday.

At about the same time the car of Loren Allen was reported stolen from Valsetz, possibly by the same thief, and was later recovered where it had been abandoned near Newport, police said.

The Butts car was taken from the Interstate Tractor company lot, 2355 Silverton road, while he was at work, he reported.

Fluorination Costs Outlined

Dr. Dale Parker, Salem dentist told members of the South Salem Lions club Wednesday that fluorination of Salem's water would cost approximately only 13 cents a year to each resident of Salem.

Dr. Parker made this estimate after telling the club members, gathered at the China Inn, of the estimated cost of both equipment and personnel needed to fluorinate the city's water supply.

He also displayed two transparent colored slides showing a girl's teeth in a city in which water was treated and one in a city where fluorination was absent.

In the first case the girl's teeth were perfect but in the other case the girl, at the age of six, had many cavities in her teeth.

A measure authorizing installation of a fluorination plant in Salem will be on the city ballot at the November 2 election.

commissioner and the realty firm but said no formal complaint was filed at that time with the result that no action was taken.

The books of the firm were audited, Johnson said, by a commission auditor on October 8, 1954. In a routine audit during the auditor's regular scheduled annual trip through Eastern Oregon.

"Because of what happened to be an irregularity, the auditor requested that the firm's records covering the transaction be forwarded to Salem for comparison with the commission's record," Johnson said.

Johnson said that in his report to the commission the auditor questioned the Wolf transaction but before the audit report could be reviewed by the commission a formal complaint was received from Wolf.

"With the formal complaint made this transaction was handled in the same manner as would any other," Johnson declared.

"This commission," Johnson added, "does not disregard its responsibility while a political campaign is in progress or postpone a duty imposed by law because an individual involved is a political candidate."

"Either course," he concluded, "would risk possible loss to other purchasers during the period of delay, if, in fact, the realtor was guilty of illegal practices."

These documents set forth the conditions under which the West Germans will recover sovereignty.

Conditions Listed
These documents, along with a series of annexes covering West Germany's future relations with the West and the status of Allied armed forces in West Germany, are to be signed in a formal session Saturday afternoon in the French foreign ministry.

Thursday's action cleared the way for West Germany's incorporation into a seven-power West European Union and membership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Treaties embodying these steps are to be signed Saturday afternoon at the same time, pending successful conclusion of additional talks to be held here.

Retain a Few Strings
The three Western powers retained a few strings on West German sovereignty to enable them to negotiate with the Soviet Union on German reunification and on a peace treaty for a reunited Germany.

They also kept the right to resume the occupation in case of emergency and power to cope with the special situation in Berlin.

Following this brief session Adenauer and U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Sir Anthony Eden and French Premier Foreign Minister Pierre Mendes-France went into session with ministers representing Belgium, The Netherlands, Luxembourg, Italy and Canada to study the Union.

Consult NATO Nations
This union, embracing a revised and reinforced Brussels alliance and grouping Britain, France, the Benelux countries, West Germany and Italy, is designed as a framework for West German rearmament and the United States are in the role of guarantor nations.

The parity was considering measures to supervise and control German rearmament under such a pact. West German and other sources predicted quick agreement before nightfall.

The French-German dispute on the Saar appeared the only major hurdle in the tight ministerial schedule.

Mendes-France has said he will not ask the French Assembly to ratify any agreement on German rearmament unless he is satisfied on the Saar issue by the end of this week.

REDS ATTACK WILEY
MOSCOW (AP)—The Literary Gazette Thursday devoted three full columns to an attack on U. S. Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.), calling him an "atomic demagogue." There was no apparent news peg for the article.

RESIGNS POST

Clay Cochran, secretary of Salem Chamber of Commerce, whose resignation has been accepted by board of directors.

Clay Cochran

Always with Salem in mind, he was nevertheless liberal, and went along with the committee to bring the plant to some place in the northwest. As a matter of location narrowed down he became free to get it for Salem if possible. It came to Salem.

The plant was experimental, had a hectic career, and many times Cochran got into the fight to keep the $4,500,000 plant here, either as a government or private enterprise for manufacturing purposes of some kind. When the Harvey Company of Torrance, Calif., began to negotiate for the plant Cochran was sent to Washington to help in the negotiations, which he did effectively.

A few years ago when the Paulus Bros. cannery decided to build a new plant industrially-minded Salem people and cannery workers were alarmed when they heard there was danger the plant would be moved to Portland. A location for the big concern had been chosen in Salem, but purchase of the land was contingent upon a change of zone classification from residential to industrial, and zone changes in Salem came hard. Cochran helped save the plant for Salem by making personal contact with property owners in the district.

Cochran played an important part in bringing to Salem and helping find locations for such nationally-known concerns as Moore Business Forms, Gould Battery Company, and the late lamented Oregon Flax Textiles, subsidiary of National Battery, which came in with Cochran, and goes out with him. He also has been instrumental in bringing here smaller concerns that are less conspicuous.

The board Wednesday night authorized the executive committee to accept applications for Cochran's successor, and to write a letter of appreciation for his services. The resignation is effective January 1.

The board discussed the feasibility of uniting the Chamber of Commerce and the Salem Industrial Development Council. The latter grew out of the chamber, but they are now separate organizations.

Linfield Plans $450,000 Bldg.

McMINNVILLE—Linfield College trustees disclosed Wednesday that they have authorized construction of a $450,000 student recreation building on the site of the present gymnasium.

College president Dr. Harry L. Dillin announced that plans call for ground breaking sometime in March and a construction schedule that will permit completion before the fall semester.

According to tentative plans, the structure will house a standard gym floor, an auxiliary gym, handball courts, and wrestling arena, a student recreation room, two bowling alleys, a snack bar, student body offices, and seven classrooms, business administration department and physical education staff offices.

VENEZUELA FLOOD

CARACAS, Venezuela—A flood caused by unusually heavy rainfall claimed another seven lives Wednesday night, bringing the death toll in the past week to at least 14. Most of the deaths were caused by landslides or the collapse of houses built alongside flooded drainage canals.
