Ike Seeks

Eisenhower associates said later that the President had been giving a great deal of thought to development of the kind of party leadership of which he spoke.

The President reportedly made up Monday night's guest list with the thought in mind of developing concrete plans for control of the party by "progressive moderates."

In addition to Hall, those present at the stag dinner included: Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr.; Postmaster Gen. Arthur E. Summerfield; Sherman Adams; Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., Vice President Nixon; a potential candidate for the Republican presidential nomination if Eisenhower chooses not to seek re-election.

James L. Murphy, chairman of the Citizens for Eisenhower Congressional Committee; and James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, who said last week Republicans would be "foolhardy" if they failed to nominate the President for a second time.

Klamath Falls

A big block of cement was jarred out of the Eureka city hall.

In the newspaper plant of the Humboldt Standard and Times two printers were hurt.

The building was not wrecked but equipment was damaged and jolted into disorder.

In residential areas virtually all chimneys were knocked down and residents reported the interior of homes "a shambles."

The quake was described as a "rolling, rocking, bucking" motion that lasted more than 30 seconds.

There have been several slight quakes in recent months, but old-time residents said Tuesday's shock was easily the worst in a quarter century.

In the offices of the Standard and Times, the hot type metal sloshed from the heated pots and spilled the molten lead upon several men in the print shop.

Lighting fixtures fell from the ceiling of the newspaper plant, windows splintered and plaster ripped from the walls.

The interior of many homes were shaken into a shambles. Store shelves emptied themselves into the aisles, and rolling cans mixed with smashed bottles.

In Weaverville, 65 miles east of Eureka, plaster fell from the ceiling of the Trinity County Court House, and groceries toppled from shelves.

At Redding, about 100 miles east of Eureka, no serious damage was reported, but doors banged open, dishes rattled and door chimers rang.

Southwest Airways reported the wind indicator at the Redding Airport was jolted around a complete circle.

Pope Continues Improvement

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Press Office said Tuesday that Pope Pius' "slow, gradual improvement continues."

Vatican sources said the 78-year-old pontiff had spent a "tranquil" night and resumed work Thursday morning on his annual Christmas message to the world.

Because of the critical illness which caused his collapse Dec. 2, the enfeebled pontiff will not deliver the full message over Vatican Radio this year. The next will be published in L'Osservatore Romano, the Vatican newspaper, as soon as the Pope completes it.

This year the pontiff's talk will be limited to a Christmas Eve blessing and Christmas Day greeting.

French Debate

The four treaties would (1) restore to West Germany almost all of the sovereignty the three Western Allies have exercised over their occupation zones since the end of World War II; (2) admit West Germany to a seven-nation Western European Union and permit the unifying of 500,000 West Germans; (3) admit rearmament West Germany into the North Atlantic Alliance and (4) put the rich disputed Saar Valley under the political control of the projected West European Union.

Britain Signs

The idea was known as the "Schuman Plan" when it was first devised in 1950 because Robert Schuman, then French foreign minister, invited Germany and 11 other interested European countries to merge their coal and steel industries.

Schuman's idea was that the organization would provide a solution to one of the traditional causes of war between Germany and the rest of Western Europe by giving member countries access to the pooled resources of the community's coal and steel industries.

Britain was invited to join the six nations forming the pool but decided to wait and see how the plan worked out.

The community was formed and the six nations pooled their industries by eliminating trade barriers in steel and coal. It set up a common market which resulted in increased exports, reduced prices and greater prosperity.

Later the community set up a high authority directed by Monnet with powers to prevent friction and to explore ways of associating Britain with the scheme.

Democrats

Democrats also say they have the unofficial pledge of Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass.) to "pair" with Kennedy, refraining from voting on the organization issue.

Once the Democrats organize the Senate, they expect to retain control for the entire session unless death cuts their margin by more than one vote.
