

President Maaske of OCE Dies at His Desk

OREGON COLLEGE OF EDUCATION — Dr. Robin J. Maaske, president of Oregon College of Education since 1950, died late Saturday night February 19 in his office at the college. Dr. Maaske had been working late at his desk assembling information on budgets for the state legislature and was found by the night watchman.

Dr. Donald H. Searing, college physician, said death occurred approximately at 11:30 p.m. and tentatively identified the cause as coronary thrombosis.

Dr. Charles D. Byrne, chancellor of the state system of higher education for Oregon said, "President Maaske was one of the nation's foremost scholars in elementary education and his building of two of Oregon's Colleges of Education is a lasting tribute to his leadership, foresight, devotion, and educational statesmanship."

Dr. Roy Lieuwailan, spokesman for a shocked and saddened staff issued the following statement: "The death of President Maaske is felt as a distinct personal loss by every member of the college staff. His unselfish devotion to the best interests of his staff, the college, and to the improvement of teacher education in Oregon, has long been recognized by all his colleagues."

Dr. James Curtin, local president of the American Association of University Professors said, "We are shocked to hear of his untimely death. Dr. Maaske's leadership in the field of higher education has been greatly respected by his colleagues and friends. His experienced and sound professional work will be greatly missed by all members of the profession."

Born in Bertrand, Neb., Oct. 31, 1903, Robin J. Maaske received his B.A. degree from the University of Nebraska in 1927, his Master's Degree from University of Oregon in 1930 and his doctorate from University of Minnesota in 1932.

Dr. Maaske's long career of service began with his first teaching assignment in a one room school in Urbana, Neb., in 1922. He has occupied many positions of responsibility in the academic world since, including supervisor, Portland, Ore. Public Schools, 1929 to 1931; Deputy State Superintendent of Public Instruction for Oregon, 1931 to 1936.

One time professor of school administration at the University of North Carolina, he moved to the presidency of Eastern Oregon College of Education at La Grande, in 1939 where he was until 1950 when he took over as president of Oregon College of Education and Director of Elementary Teacher Education for the State of Oregon.

In 1953 he was sent to Turkey at the request of the Turkish Ministry of Education to conduct a survey of teacher education in that country. Author of more than 120 booklets, brochures, and articles he was a member of many professional and non-professional organizations — among them, the Grange, Elks, Masons, Rotary, and the Presbyterian church, as well as the American Academy of Science, Phi Delta Kappa, Kappa Delta Pi, Pi Kappa Phi, American Association of Adult Education, National Education Association, Oregon Education Association, American Educational Research Association, Pacific Northwest Association of Adult Education.

Survivors are the widow Iola Maaske of Monmouth; two daughters, Miss Karen Maaske at the University of Connecticut; Mrs. Royal C. of Columbus, Ga.; three brothers, Harlan of San Francisco, Walter and Alton of Bertrand, Neb.; two sisters, Mrs. Glen Snider, and Mrs. Herb Louthan, Colorado Springs, Colo.

EDUCATOR DIES

Dr. Robin J. Maaske, president of Oregon College of Education, who died Saturday night at Monmouth.

Ship Sinks in Genoa Harbor

LONDON — A storm-battered freighter sank in Genoa harbor Monday and another was grounded for several hours off blizzard-swept Dover as new snows raked Scotland and blanketed continental Europe.

At Genoa, the 4,147-ton Swedish freighter Nordanland sank with a 600-ton cargo of carbide. Two gaping holes had been torn in her hull by one of the most severe storms to strike the area in years. A rescue vessel had spent 36 hours trying to pump water from the Nordanland to keep her afloat. Her 40-man crew had abandoned ship Saturday night.

The 7,173-ton Italian freighter Monviso crashed onto rocks under the south Foreland Cliffs at Dover early Monday, but tugs wrenched her free at midmorning. Her crew of between 40 and 50 men stayed aboard. Damage to the freighter was not determined immediately. Four more inches of snow fell in northern Scotland, already blanketing under a thick white blanket from almost continuous storms last week. RAF Neptune and Varsity bombers and crews were waiting at Kinloss for better flying weather so they could continue livestock relief missions. Avalanches took two more lives in north Italy Sunday, and a rescue team failed to reach 29 workers marooned by snow in the nearby Val Malenco. Normal winter weather spread over the rest of Europe following the blustery weekend.

Lyons Fire House Nearing Completion

LYONS—The new fire house and community hall now under construction is progressing rapidly with all donated labor. The building 30x48 is a two story structure. The lower level has a concrete floor, 10 foot ceiling and is large enough to house two trucks with a supply room in the back. The upper room will have a wood floor with eight foot ceiling and will be used for all community affairs. There will be a tower to dry hose with the siren on top.

Plans for the building were drawn by Joe Johnson, local contractor, assisted by Albert Stevens and Vernon Kruse. Materials have been donated by the Freres Lumber company, Etzel Lumber company, and one third of the plywood by the M and M Woodworking plant, gravel by the Jungwirth Sand and Gravel company, nails by the Lyons Food Market and Baldwin's clothing store. While Mt. Jefferson Lumber company donated $300 to help pay on the lot.

Fire chief is Ralph Hurst, with William Hargis, Chet Grimes and James Phelps as assistants.

Jefferson Blast Shakes Falls City

FALLS CITY—At least one person in Falls City felt the jolt of the dynamite blast which was set off two miles south of Jefferson at a rock quarry.

Mrs. Robert Fletcher felt the heavy, sharp jerk to the floor as she was standing still at the time, which was 11:20 a.m., Wednesday, and remarked to a friend that she wondered whether it could possibly have been the Nevada test bomb explosion.

FINDING LOST MONEY
OCEAN CITY, Md. (AP) — Since eight blocks of the boardwalk were torn up to make way for a concrete walk, people working with shovels and sieves have turned up about $300 dropped by vacationers during the last 65 years. Some have mined as much as $12 a day.

What, pray, is a pup?

A noble pup is a "high quality item" grabbed up by our "buyers" with great enthusiasm. But alas! The days have flown by and the "high quality items" have not! Hence—a pup is born! And these pups grieve us deeply—deep in our money belt. Nothing would please us more than to have these pups find happy homes. These are fancy pups at unfancy prices (and you can't hardly get them no more).
