Services Friday for William Sheppard

Funeral services will be held at the Clough-Barrick chapel Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock for William Sheppard, late resident of 1775 Saginaw street, who died at a local hospital, Wednesday after an illness of two weeks.

Rev. B. J. Holland will officiate at the service and interment is to be in City View Cemetery. Sheppard, who made his home here with his daughter, Mrs. T. A. Jura, was born at Black River Falls, Wis., March 28, 1867. An interior decorator, he came west about 1901, and spent most of his time in the interior decoration business at Coos Bay. Sheppard's wife, Amelia, died in 1929.

Surviving besides the daughter with whom he lived are two other daughters, Mrs. Myra Ward of Salem and Mrs. Isabell Brainerd of Reedport; a son, Jack W. Sheppard, of Portland; a sister, Mrs. Lizzie Robinson, of Sacramento; 10 grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

Moving Car Hits One Parked on Broadway

A collision of a car driven by Elaine Ardis Stoltenberg, 640 Menlo drive, and the parked car of John Edward Hall, 1311 North Church street, Wednesday evening resulted in considerable damage to both cars, city police reported.

The Stoltenberg car suffered heavy front end damage and the Hall car suffered damage to the right rear and the front end. Mrs. Stoltenberg told officers she turned to look at her daughter and ran too close to the curb, striking the parked car. The accident happened about 7:30 p.m. in the 1000 block of Broadway street.

Hoover Talks

Hoover, President from 1929 to 1933, was warmly welcomed by members of the subcommittee. A scattering of spectators in the big Senate caucus room gave him a rousing cheer when he entered.

He told the senators that at one time he had suggested expelling Russia from the U. N. because of its repeated vetoes of the admission of some nations to membership. But today, he said, he does not think that would be practical.

"I think we've got to go on and worry with the Russians in the U. N. in the hope that things will get better," he said.

Hoover said he has no belief that the U. N. charter can be "effectively amended" so long as the Soviet Union and other segments of the Communist world continue in their present path.

But he said there is no reason for avoiding a full "investigation" of present weaknesses in the charter. Among areas in which the charter should be revised, Hoover said, the most significant is a need for "freedom of nations from interference in their internal affairs either by the United Nations or its subsidiaries."

Bill for Recount

The highly controversial resolution to have one senator from each county was killed 6-5 by the House Elections and Re-apportionment Committee.

It was a reversal of the earlier vote by which the committee had favored it 6-5. Rep. Earl Hill, Cushman, Lane county, switched his vote, joining the five Multnomah County members who oppose the measure.

A battle over distribution of basic school aid to districts shaped up as the Senate Education Committee voted 4-3 to change the formula.

It would freeze grants at present levels, but use expected increases for equalization of education. The effect would be a loss in state aid for Multnomah and several Eastern Oregon counties.

A bill to allow sale of fortified wine in grocery stores was killed by the House Alcoholic Control Committee.

Both houses scheduled a caucus for 7:30 p.m. Friday to hear an explanation of the state building program by Sen. John P. Housless, Hood River, chairman of the Ways and Means subcommittee on buildings.

Bills approved by the House and sent to the governor would create an Oregon Centennial Commission to plan the celebration of Oregon's persons having an income of $1,500 or less a year. At a Thursday morning session it was decided to have the state tax department's research staff prepare charts showing the impact of the several income tax increase plans that are before the committee, with sufficient copies to furnish all members of the senate Monday when it is hoped that the income tax bill will be up for senate consideration.

Dissolution of

He demanded Russia and Red China dissolve the commitment as proof of their good intentions in proposing the peaceful coexistence program supported by India's Prime Minister Nehru.

Another attack on colonialism came from Prime Minister Saif El Islam el Hassan of Yemen, who questioned the right of Britain to maintain her colony of Aden, which adjoins Yemen.

He raised also the question of colonialism in Africa and hit out at support given by the United States and European countries to creation of Israel.

The political committee adopted an anti-Israeli resolution on Palestine and one on the Dutch New Guinea question but hit snags in debate over colonialism and peaceful coexistence with communism.

Sir John proposed that the conference call upon all powers still possessing dependencies to set 10-year target for granting them all full independence.

He proposed also that the freed colonies should have collective guarantees for defense for the first 25 years of their independence.

Sales Tax May

Chairman Stewart made it clear that no definite decision had been made on whether a sales tax would be reported out this session. He said, it was very likely that the bill would be perfected so that in the event any income tax increase passed by the legislature is subjected to the referendum, a sales tax bill would be ready for immediate consideration if a special session was called by the governor in event the income tax bill was referred and defeated at the polls.

Actually at the present moment there is no certainty that a sales tax bill would pass the house, because even some of those who favor a sales tax might vote against it because the bill does not bring relief to the "grass roots" or for some other reasons.

Majority members of the senate tax committee feel that the 45 surtax with the lowered exemptions is probably the fairest to all income groups from the very bottom to the top.

Members of both tax committee frankly admit that the tax program is somewhat confused, and blame this largely on the fact that Oregon's constitution does not permit the legislature to adopt any tax exempt program with assurance that it will not be subjected to attack by the referendum. Oregon stands alone in the 48 states in this regard simply because in Oregon the emergency clause cannot be placed on revenue measures. The voter will have an opportunity of correcting this situation, if they wish, at the general election in November, 1956.

AUCTIONEER SQUIRMS

AMARILLO, Tex. (UP)—KGNC-TV officials expected to hear from Frank Heath today. The station held an auction to raise money for a cancer crusade Wednesday night and the television camera focused on a 10-foot freezer, a television set and an air conditioner, all part of an advertising display.

The items were all auctioned off by mistake. Heath's furniture company owns the appliances.
