

Burmese Trio Off to Illinois

HUBBARD — Maung Nyi Nyi, a Burmese youth visiting the United States under the international farm exchange program, left Friday, July 15, from the Tom DeArmond home, where he has been staying the past three weeks. He is one of four youths from Burma who has been on Marion county farms.

The DeArmond family drove Nyi Nyi to Corvallis, where he and his three companions met to go to Urbana, Ill., to visit other farms.

Thursday evening, July 14, the four host families to the farm exchange youths met with them at the home of Jake Gilmore in the Jefferson area, where Maung Thein Lwin has been staying. Colored slides on the youths visit to this area were shown to the group. Maung Thein Nyum, who has been visiting the Maurice Heater home near Stayton, spoke to the group of the Burmese youths appreciation for the opportunity to visit the Marion County farms. Ko Tun Oo, the oldest of the fourth youths, has been at a farm near Turner.

The four farm exchange youths will be in the United States until this winter. They will visit several other farms in the east and attend the international Boy Scout jamboree at Ontario, Canada, before returning to Burma.

Ike's Statement Called Important

LONDON — Russian newspapermen Wednesday called President Eisenhower's anti-war remarks at the Big Four meeting "quite an important statement."

In dispatches from Geneva broadcast by Moscow Radio, the Red correspondents also saw possibility of agreement among the four powers and criticized Western papers for what they called deliberate exaggeration of the difference between them.
