Activities Listed for Various Campus Groups

(Editor's Note: Because someone "went to sleep" in the proof-reading department Wednesday, only a third of Miss Pfaff's column was published. Apologies to Miss Pfaff.)

By CAROLE PFAFF (Capital Journal Correspondent) "Kick-off" of the Distinguished Artists series for Willamette University comes tonight with Blanche Theobom appearing in concert. In addition to her movies, records, radio, concerts and television appearances, Miss Theobom has made a successful tour of Europe. Tickets for the entire series are available for townspeople, and individual tickets may be purchased at the door.

A charge policy has been set for the new Willamette university auditorium. A sum of $25 will be charged for student profit-making organizations using the auditorium. For townspeople, the rate is $150 for groups who do not charge admission; $250 for those that do. Also, these groups will be charged $50 for three hours if they need a dress rehearsal.

Duane Alvord, senior journalism-social science major, has been named honorary Rotarian for the month. He is this year's editor of the Collegian, also has edited the student handbook and the Freshman Olive pictorial. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, of Sigma Alpha Chi, service honorary, and is president of Canterbury club, a religious organization. He has been a delegate to the Oregon Federation of Collegiate Leaders convention for the past two years.

Page Bailey, senior music major, was injured seriously in a freak accident recently when he put his right hand through a plate glass door at his frat-

Miss Moore Is Wed Recently

SUBLIMITY — Miss Darleon Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Moore, Scio, and Duane Joseph Duchateau, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Duchateau, Sublimity, were married at a service at the St. Boniface Catholic church, Saturday, October 15, at 10 o'clock. The Rev. Robert P. O'Hara performed the ceremony. Miss Rosemary Minton was the organist. Pink and white carnations decorated the church.

The bride wore a ballerina length dress of pale blue tulle and net, with Chantilly lace over-dress, fashioned with long sleeves and stand up collar. The fingertip length veil was attached to a close fitting beret of net and lace. The bride wore a pearl necklace, a gift of the bridegroom, and she carried a spray of white roses with pale blue and white ribbons.

Honor attendant was Mrs. J. D. Bruce, sister of the bridegroom, who wore a dusty rose faille dress with pearl trim. She carried a nosegay of white carnations and pink chrysanthemums with white rosebud center. Mrs. Dennis Duchateau, sister-in-law of the bride was bridesmaid, and wore an aqua blue faille dress with rhinestone trim. The attendants' headresses were white rose coronets. Their bouquets were nosegays of white carnations and blue delphiniums with white rosebud centers.

Best man was J. D. Bruce, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and groomsmen was Dennis Duchateau, brother of the bridegroom.

The bridegroom's mother attended the wedding in a blue gray wool dress and corsage of yellow carnations.

The bridal party greeted guests at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Duchateau, immediately following the ceremony.

For going away, the bride wore a charcoal gray suit with red accessories and a white rose corsage from the bride bouquet. The couple will be at home in Salem after October 23.

Boots and Spurs

By THELMA YOUNGQUIST

First accident to occur in the ring in many months occurred last Friday night during the fun night, when Bob Haney's horse fell with him while he was participating in one of the games. Bob received a broken ankle and will be in a cast for several weeks.

Esther Ward was hobbling with a painfully injured foot last Friday night too but she didn't receive the injury at the barn. She got it during her work at a court trial—some "heavy evidence" fell on her foot.

Myrt and Don Kuhl were out to fun night but were all aflutter to get going on their way to John Day on a hunting trip. They left just after fun night.

Ella Durkee is back from her basic training stint at Meier and Frank in Portland and is now working in the tea room at the store here. We have missed Ella as she is one of our most constant members. Now that she is back in town she will no doubt be out more often.

Stephanie Kuriz had her horse moved into the barn last weekend so will no doubt be out often. Many of the young set are starting to come back to join the groups in their nightly rides.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stangeby were in Seattle for a few days last week to help Ralph's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Stangeby, celebrate their 45th wedding anniversary. The Saddle Club Drill team staged their monthly meeting last week to formulate plans for the coming season. This group starts their practicing early in the year. October 29 the Roy Stenders and Ervin Wards will be hosts for the annual Halloween party at the barn. There will be prizes for the best costumed rider; so everyone get busy with ideas. Tonight's fun night hosts will be Mr. and Mrs. Buck Gandy and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fettsch.

MOLALLA—A group of Molalla Daughters of the Nile spent all day Tuesday mending at the Shrine hospital, Portland. Those in Portland were Mrs. O. G. Foglesong, Mrs. S. B. Powers, Mrs.
