

Care of Hair Important

Big Brush Up . . . Youthful starlet Patty McCormack treats her tresses to the 100 strokes routine.

Clean Hair Ribbons . . . Keep them clean and pressed, says Patty shown here pressing her bows.

(AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor) A girl is never too young to learn good beauty habits, says 9-year-old Patty McCormack, movie starlet.

Patty practices what she preaches. She'll give up a game of jacks any time to further her own personal charm course.

Here is her schedule, a routine that might appeal to other little girls who want to be lovely.

1. Get the hair brushing habit—100 strokes a night isn't too much for a little girl.
2. Nails must be kept spotless. After outdoor play be sure to have a session with your nail brush.
3. It's never too early to start using hand lotion. Use a good one before going to bed each night.
4. Use a lip pomade when playing outdoors to keep the lips from chapping and cracking.

5. Posture defects should be remedied early. Check your posture by standing against a wall, holding shoulders back and stomach in.

6. Grooming and neatness are synonymous with beauty. Keep your hair smooth and tidy, and if you wear braids be extra careful of them.

7. Make sure hair ribbons are clean and fresh. Wash and press them yourself and hang them over a metal hanger.

8. Shoes should be kept polished. Use any good leather polish for your shoes. When laces take on a ragged look be sure to replace them.

Patty's own lovely long braids are a joy to see. Her hair is blonde, glossy and well-cared for. She has sparkling teeth and pretty eyes.

Miss Lundy Wed Friday

DALLAS — Miss Patricia Lee Lundy was wed to Russell Beebe at a service Friday night in the fireplace room of the First Christian church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lundy and Mr. Beebe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Beebe.

The Rev. Earl Benbow of Aurora officiated at the 8 o'clock nuptials. The young couple exchanged their vows before a group of close friends and relatives. Candelabrams and large baskets of pink and white stock formed a setting for the ceremony. Mrs. Robert Dornhecker was vocalist and Benny Boling the organist.

The tapers were lighted by Miss Laura Lee Ayers, Salem, cousin of the bride; and Miss Judy Beebe, sister of the bridegroom, dressed in frocks of American Beauty taffeta and headbands of feathered pink and white carnations.

The bride's dress was of white lace and tulle, fashioned with a full floor-length hoop skirt. The fitted lace bodice was made with long sleeves ending in points at the wrists and a round low neckline. The fingertip illusion veil cascaded from a heart-shaped cap encrusted with seed pearls. The bride's only jewelry was a necklace of French crystal, worn by the bridegroom's mother at her wedding; and she carried a cascade of pink roses centered with gardenias. Mr. Lundy gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Jan Lundy of Salem, sister of the bride, was the only attendant. She wore a dress of white organdy over American Beauty taffeta fashioned with criss-cross effect bodice, empire waistline, and bouffant skirt. Her bouquet was of carnations and rosebuds.

Don Fischer was best man, and seating the guests were C. L. Ayers, Salem, and E. R. Reimer. The newlyweds greeted their guests at a reception in the home of the bride's parents. Pouring were Miss Shirley Cole, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. C. L. Ayers, aunt of the bride, from Salem. Miss Joan Phillips of Oak Ridge cut the cake. Passing the guest book was Miss Judy Barger of Gresham and in charge of the gifts were Mrs. Bob Melmer and Miss Lonika Hershfeldt. Assisting were Miss Shirley Carr, Miss Jackie Akers, Mrs. Rex Domaschofsky, Miss Joy Holdorf, and Miss Maydene Curtis. Young brother of the bride, Bobby Lundy, and Louise Ayers, cousin of the bride, passed the dream cakes.

The bride's table was covered with a white satin cloth and the wedding cake topped with pink bells, was encircled with pink rosebuds. On either side of the cake were lighted tandles in silver candlesticks. About the rooms were bouquets of pink and white stock.

The couple will make their home in Dallas, where Mr. Beebe is employed. For traveling, the bride donned a dark gray suit with white hat and black accessories, and the gardenia corsage from her bridal bouquet. The couple left for a honeymoon in California.

Also attending the wedding was the bride's paternal grandmother, Mrs. Mae Dellis of Dallas; the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. B. F. Burrows of West Covina, Calif., and Mrs. John Zola, aunt of the bridegroom, from Arcadia, Calif.
