Death Claims Mrs. Schulz

Mrs. Johanna Schulz, Salem area resident since 1905 and a late resident of route 5, box 751, died Thursday at a local nursing home. Mrs. Schulz was hospitalized March 27 when she broke her hip and had been in the nursing home since April 22.

Born in Germany January 29, 1858, Mrs. Schulz came to the United States as a girl and settled in Nebraska. At Blue Hill, Neb., she was married in 1885 to Leopold Schulz, who died in August, 1931.

Mrs. Schulz had been a member of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church since coming to Salem.

Surviving are a son, Arthur L. Schulz, Salem; five grandchildren, Mrs. Roy Fiske, Edward Heinke, Fred Heinke and Edward Schulz, all Salem, and Mrs. John Wright, Camp Pendleton, Calif.; and 11 great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the Clough-Barrick chapel Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock with Rev. H. W. Gross officiating. Interment is to be in the City View cemetery.

Sale of TV Service Told

One of Salem's oldest radio and TV service businesses, Moore Honest TV Service, formerly Ray Moore Radio Service, at 3270 Portland Road, has been sold.

Announcement of the sale of the business by Mr. and Mrs. Ray M. Moore to Mr. and Mrs. Melvin W. Circle, Salem, was made Friday.

Moore came to Salem in 1932 and established the business, which he had operated continuously since then, except for the time he spent in the Navy in radar work during World War II. At that time his wife operated the business. The Moores, themselves, rebuilt their building after it was destroyed by fire in 1954 and at that time changed the name to Moore Honest TV Service. The new owner of the business has had considerable experience in the radio and TV field, including experience in color TV.

Forest Receipts Set New Record During Past Year

Receipts from the 19 national forests of the Pacific Northwest region for the fiscal year ending June 30 were a record breaking total of almost $54,000,000.

In announcing the total receipts Regional Forester J. Hebert Stone said they were approximately $16,000,000 above those of the previous year.

National forest in the area having the largest total receipts was Willamette National Forest, which extends to north of the Detroit area along the ridge north of the north fork of the Santiam river. The income from this forest was $8,524,867 for the past year.

Of the total amount received from the national forests in the Pacific Northwest region $53,500,000 was from timber and the balance of $500,000 from livestocking grazing, power fees and other land uses.

Stassen

Two criticisms of the latest Soviet statements, however, were voiced immediately here:

On disarmament — Russia's acceptance of the manpower ceiling proposed by the United States evades the central requirement of the comprehensive disarmament plan which Stassen laid down at a U.N. subcommittee meeting in London in the spring and which and will continue to be the basic U.S. position. The requirement is that cuts in manpower, reductions in weapons and moves to reduce the threat of nuclear war must all be built around a system of international inspection which will prevent violations.

On atomic uses—The Soviet proposal is aimed at blocking creatin of a six-nation atomic pool (Euratom) which would tighten relationships among France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Salem Readies For Statewide CD Operation

Blasting Sirens Will Signal 'Dry Run' July 20

Intermittent blasts of sirens for three minutes will herald the start of Operation Alert 1956, the nation-wide civil defense test, July 20.

In Salem the fire siren at the city hall and the steam whistle at Oregon Pulp and Paper Co., will be sounded. All fire stations in the county including those at Monitor, Brooks, Keizer, Four Corners and Liberty-Salem Heights are scheduled to participate.

This will be the first county-wide test of air raid warning signals, according to Wallace S. Wharton, Marion county civil defense directory.

The initial warning will come from McChord Air Base, Wash., which will relay to the Salem keypoint in the state police district headquarters which will send word to Polk, Yamhill, Clackamas, Washington and Clatsop counties as well as Marion.

The message goes to the sheriff' office here which relays it to county civil defense headquarters. Word is then sent to the civil defense directors in each of the towns in the county.

Main emphasis of the test in Marion county will be in providing care for simulated evacuees from the Portland target area. Traffic control posts will also be manned by the sheriff's reserve companies.

Low Bid on Deaf School Submitted By Portland Firm

Submitting the low bid for construction of a boy's dormitory at the Oregon State Deaf school was a Portland firm, George A. Moore and associates.

The bid, the lowest of eight received by the board of control, was for $496,650. Action on the bid is expected at the board meeting set for next Tuesday.

The dormitory, which is to provide space for 127 boys and includes a recreation center, is to be in an M shape and will be built on the school's site in North Salem.

Mill Creek Salmon Proves Big Meal

Two happy fishermen were sampling their catch today after landing a 40-inch, 20-pound salmon from Mill creek near 15th and Marion streets Thursday. The proud anglers, who first hooked the fish on a worm and hook and then hauled it in bare-handed, are Monte Olson, 3783 Hollywood Ave., and David Jones, 2410 State St. (Capital Journal Photo.)

Lions Club Kennel Show Due July 22

With 602 dogs entered from Pacific coast states, the Salem Lions Kennel club show scheduled for Sunday, July 22, promises to be the largest of its kind ever staged in the capital.

Harry Willett, who for 20 years has handled all of the shows, reports that interest in the event is unusually keen and believes it will attract large attendance. It will be held at the state fair grounds.

Proceeds of the show will be used by the Salem Lions club in furthering their program of sight conservation, one of the prime objects of the organization. The plan of selling family tickets for 50 cents, introduced last year, will be continued for the forthcoming show.

Street Change

The Fir street base required a west (W) prefix for all numbers along east-west streets west of Fir street from Mission street south. As South Commercial street, the principal north-south arterial is two blocks east of Fir street the east-west numbers between those streets are designated with an east (E) prefix. Street name and number signs now erected along the west side of Commercial street read 200 E and a block farther west 100 E. Those designations are confusing to persons looking for a number with a west (W) prefix, especially as south of Hoyt street the west (W) numbering now does begin at Commercial street.

"It is suggested that Fir street be discontinued as the base line for east-west numbers and that South Commercial street be used instead to the junction with Liberty road. Numbering on east-west streets west of Commercial street would then begin with 100 at Commercial street. Numbers east of Commercial street would remain as they now are, beginning with 300. There would be no numbers below 300 from Mission street south."

Changes in Numbers

Changes in numbers and prefixes that would result by adoption of this plan are illustrated by the following taken from the report:

"If this plan is adopted the area between the Willamette river and Commercial street south of Mission street will be designated by the prefix south (S) for reasons 460 South (S) Superior street, and example the present number 260 W. Superior street would become 460 South (S) Superior street, an number 1845 Rio Vista Way would be 1845 S. Rio Vista Way. Street signs along the west side of South prefixes this, it is said, indicates S. Lincoln street, S. Superior street, S. Rural street, etc. On the east side of South Commercial street signs would have the prefix SE."

4 Major, 2 Minor Areas

The whole area in and adjacent to Salem in Marion county would be divided into four major and two minor districts, conforming to systems used by most cities and metropolitan areas. With the proper prefixes this, it is said, indicate a definite area in which any given street or house number may be found. The districts proposed are:

"The area north of State street and east of the Willamette river is designated as the northeast district, the prefix NE to be used as part of any building number within the area.

"South of State street and east of a line along the river, Willamette slough, South Commercial street and Liberty road would be known as the southeast district and indicated by the prefix SE.

"On the west side of the river and north of the Dallas highway from where it turns west about a mile south of the present city limits the area would be indicated as the northwest district, using the prefix NW.

"The area west of the river and south of the Dallas highway would be known as the southwest district with the prefix SW.

"The minor districts would be the area south of Mission street west of South Commercial street and the Liberty road westerly to the Willamette river. This area would become the south district and be identified by the prefix S. The other minor district would be the area north of the sewage disposal plant between the North River road and the Willamette river. This area would be designated as the north district and be identified by the prefix N."

Might Cause Confusion

Explaining the reason for the north and south districts, in addition to the four major districts, the report says that an examination of the map indicates "that in order to maintain a reasonable alignment of east-west street numbers it is necessary that the base line for such numbers now established as the center of the Willamette river west of the original townsite of Salem should be projected to the north and south.

"It is obvious that with such projection there is an increasingly wide area between the projected lines and the Willamette river. If those areas were designated as northwest and southwest it would be misleading because of the portion of Salem now west of the Willamette river. A person looking for a number on an east-west street in a NW or a SW district, unless thoroughly acquainted with the city, and aware that the only crossing of the river was by way of the Marion Street bridge, might try to reach a number on the east side of the river only to find after driving several miles that the desired number actually was across the river. The use of the north (N) and south (S) prefixes eliminates that possibility, because all NW and SW numbers would be west of the river."

The report suggests that it might be well to try to have the Polk county court also adopt the plan because it affects the environs of West Salem.

Signing the report are the house number committee, Robert T. Stanley, chairman, and C. A. McClure, planning engineer.

10 a.m. near South Commercial and Waldo streets. From there it went through City View cemetery and over the hill towards River road. Several neighborhood children reported seeing it but two news photographers couldn't find it.

Credit for the day's salmon catch went to Monte Olson, 14, 3783 Hollywood Ave., and David Jones, 15, 2410 State St. Their fish story was pretty unusual.

Monte was going past the creek near 15th and Marion streets about 4:30 p.m. when an unidentified girl told him there was a salmon in the creek. The girl got her father's fishing pole and Monte baited it with a worm, dropped it in and the salmon hooked on.

Veteran anglers might wonder what a salmon would be doing biting a worm, but one state viologist claimed the granddaddy Chinook merely picked the worm up from a habit formed years ago when he was a small 'un ready to go to sea.

Wrestles Fish Ashore

"He'd have spit it out if they hadn't hooked him," the man said. "It was habit that made him pick up the bait. He wouldn't have eaten it," the biologist explained.

The 20-pounder was too much for Monte by himself so he had the girl call his friend, David. When the second boy got there Monte waded in and wrestled the fish to shore.

Reason for the salmon's presence was that it was trapped in a pool below the fish ladder because the creek lowered five feet there yesterday.

Deer Cuts Capers, 20 Pound Salmon Caught in Mill Creek

Oregon's capital may not be out of the woods yet.

Some jumbo-sized wildlife used Salem for a playground Thursday, with the day's tally showing one salmon caught and one deer escaped.

The day started when a four-point buck spent part of its morning bounding through the Candalaria Heights neighborhood in South Salem. And then late in the afternoon two boys pulled in a 40-inch salmon from Mill creek.

Court Vetoes Work on Road

The grade of county road 707, familiarly known as the Brown's Island road will not be raised at the present time to avoid flooding in times of high water from the Willamette river.

Members of the Marion county court Friday recommended against the improvement after hearing the engineer's report. Engineer John Anderson said some 2,000 feet of the roadway would have to be elevated four feet, while a 100-foot bridge would have to be constructed.

The fill material would cost $4,000 and the bridge $12,000. It was felt that the expenditure was not warranted in view of the heavy demand upon the county for road improvements.

At the time the request was made for the elevation of the road, it was said that the level of the Willamette river has remained above normal during longer periods because of the release of surplus water from upstream reservoirs.

Reduction of Salk Vaccine Supply Seen

Not Enough Citizens Using Polio Shots, Stone Says

Unless Oregon is to lose part of its allotted supply of Salk vaccine to other states, the current rate of use must be sharply increased. This is the warning received by Dr. Willard J. Stone, Marion county health officer from Harold M. Erickson, state health officer.

Rough estimates show that only about 300,000 Oregonians have received one or more shots, although the total eligible population at this time numbers 577,905. With the expected increase July 13 to include all persons up to the age of 36, the total eligible population will become 818,000, points out Dr. Erickson.

A total of 216,361 cc's of Salk vaccine are now available for use in the state. Of this, 48,628 cc's of commercial vaccine are already in the hands of private physicians or drug stores, and 131,206 cc's of commercial vaccine have not yet been ordered from the manufacturers. The remaining 36,527 cc's are tax-purchased vaccine available for immediate use.

"Current national production schedules indicate that Oregon can now expect upwards of 200,000 cc's of additional vaccine each month", states Dr. Erickson.

The Oregon State Medical society, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and the State Board of Health plan to initiate a state-wide campaign to encourage Salk vaccination for as many children and young adults as possible before Sept. 1.

17-Year-Old Arrested for Assault Try

Kenneth Roy Farris, 17, 2315 Mt. View Dr., has been arrested for assault while armed with a dangerous weapon.

The charge comes from an incident Saturday in which a Salem woman told of an armed man entering her residence on South Liberty street, forcing her at gunpoint into a bedroom and ordering her to disrobe. She declined to undress and the intruder left when informed her husband was soon returning.

Police reported that the youth admitted taking part in the incident and led them to the spot where the 22 automatic which was used was hidden.

Former Salem Resident Dies

Funeral services will be held Monday morning at 11 o'clock in Tillamook for Ellard Willis Thomas, former Salem resident, who died Thursday at his home in Rockaway from a heart attack. Interment is to be in the Willamette National cemetery in Portland.

Thomas, who resided in Salem from about 1931 until 1949, when he moved to Rockaway, was born in Oregon City July 6, 1907.

Survivors include his wife, the former Florence DeSart of Silverton; a brother Lemuel Thomas, Salem; and seven sisters, Mrs. Edith Brewer, Salem, Mrs. Bessie Denny, Spokane, Mrs. Marjorie Riggs, St. Helens, Mrs. Genevieve Heater, and Mrs. Juanita Sterrett, both Portland, Mrs. Lucille St. Marie, Garibaldi, and Mrs. Alva Johnson, Scappoose.

Oil Company Will Reopen Office Here

A district office for Shell Oil company will be reestablished in Salem early in September, according to a company spokesman, who said details of the move would be made public next week.

The Salem office was eliminated a few years ago, although those at Eugene, Boise and Portland were continued. It will control 22 Shell outlets in the Mid-Willamette area.

Several new families will be moved to Salem to assist in the operation of the district office.

Woman Seeks $7,595 Total

A suit seeking damages of $7,595 has been filed in Marion county circuit court by Jesten L. Blevins against Arthur Phillips. The legal action follows a traffic accident May 27, 1956 between Waldport and Newport on Highway 101.

The plaintiff states she was a passenger in a car driven by her husband when the machine was struck in the rear by the automobile in charge of the defendant.

As a result of the impact Mrs. Blevins says she sustained shock and numerous injuries.

Pair of Tires, Wheels Taken

Theft of two tires and wheels in the south Salem area were reported to city police Friday. Both of the thefts were made from pickup trucks.

Vern Robbins, 2375 South High St., told officers that the spare tire from his pickup was stolen while parked on the 2300 block of South High street Thursday. He placed the value of the missing items at $10.

The other wheel and tire, valued at $15, was taken from the pickup of L. A. Bond, 1860 East Nob Hill, while parked at that address.

Bank Debits Show Increase During June

Salem bank debits for June were up 25 per cent over June of 1955, and for the first six months of this year were up 10 per cent above the first half of last year. The figures are shown in a report from the Federal Reserve Bank for the 12th district.

Salem's bank debits for June of the two years were $97,622,000 and $77,912,000. For the first six months of the two years they were $535,825,000 for 1956 and $488,019,000 for 1955.

Other key cities show the following comparisons:

Eugene — For June, $86,054,000, up 4 per cent over $82,400,000; for first half of year, $474,692,000, up 5 per cent over $451,996,000.

Boise—For June, $92,887,000, up 7 per cent over $86,848,000; for first half of year, $558,249,000, up 11 per cent over $502,292,000.

Yakima —For June, $61,248,000, down 3 per cent from $62,897,000; for first half of year, $354,651,000, up 2 per cent over $347,456,000.
