

Nevada Flash Flood Leaves Four Missing

Six Injured, Part Of Reno Covered By Water

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Four persons disappeared in the churning waters of Galena Creek last night following a cloudburst and mountain flash flood.

Six other persons were injured as scattered floods covered a section of Reno, closed highways and wrecked automobiles over a wide section of western Nevada and the California High Sierra.

All the missing persons were lost when Galena Creek cut a ravine through the Mt. Rose road between here and Lake Tahoe.

The flood also closed a nearby section of U.S. Highway 395, the main north-south route through western Nevada and eastern California.

Elsewhere, heavy rainstorms in western Maryland, West Virginia, Virginia and Pennsylvania caused local floods and one death—a 5-year-old boy drowned after falling off a water-covered bridge in Charlottesville, Va.

Matt Wachowicz of Sacramento, Calif., was found only slightly injured five miles downstream from the point where Galena Creek washed his car off the road.

Said Wachowicz sought unsuccessfully to save his wife and two of his children. Another son, Fred, 10, was found near the scene with only minor injuries.

Also missing in the same area is William Boyett of Reno.

The search was hampered by near freezing temperatures, which came with darkness, and waist deep mud.

Highway patrolmen and sheriff's deputies reported the roads in the flooded areas littered with abandoned cars and huge boulders. At least three cars were flung into the trees in a ravine.

Treated at Washoe Medical Center for minor injuries were an Arlington, N.J., family, Mack Resnick, his wife and 12-year-old son, Charles, and a Reno man, W. J. Barbash.

The violent thunderstorm which lashed the High Sierra with brilliant lightning and dumped cloudbursts on precipitous watersheds closed at least one pass over the Sierra.

Water cascading down the slopes of Peavine Mountain northwest of here overflowed irrigation ditches and carried silt to the doorways of downtown Reno gambling casinos.

The same flurry of mountain storms dumped a cloudburst on Sonora Pass in California yesterday afternoon.

The division of highways closed the pass after two hours of heavy downpour had sent Cloudburst Creek, east of the summit, roaring out of its banks and covering State Highway 108 with four feet of water.

Steel Parleys To Keep Going Over Weekend

Industry, Union Remain Silent on Progress Of Negotiations

PITTSBURGH (AP)—For the first time since the nationwide steel strike began July 1, union and industry negotiators called a weekend bargaining session today in an attempt to reach a contract settlement.

However, the negotiators quickly pointed out that the Saturday meeting in itself was no indication of progress. They said it would be just another effort to eliminate obstacles.

Neither David J. McDonald, United Steelworkers' president, nor John A. Stephens, top industry negotiator, would comment on developments in yesterday's one hour and 20 minute session.

Both sides, however, denied reports the industry had made a new offer. They said there has been no change in positions held when 650,000 steelworkers struck 90 per cent of the nation's steel producing mills.

Joseph F. Finnegan, Federal Mediation Service director, met with the principals for 10 minutes after the session and also declined to comment.

McDonald has rejected an industry offer of a 52-month contract, saying it was "too little and too long." The industry valued the hourly package proposal at 17.23 cents during the first year. McDonald said it amounted to 14 cents.

The strike has idled more than 100,000 persons in related industries, chiefly railroads and coal mining.

The National Coal Assn. estimates about two million tons of coal production is lost each week the strike continues. The association said a similar amount of steel production is also being lost.

Athey Pleads Killing Guilt

HOOD RIVER (AP)—James Belton Athey, charged with manslaughter in the gun shot death of an employe last month, Friday entered a plea of guilty.

Haskell Morrison of Oklahoma City, Okla., died after being wounded five times in a dispute at a farm labor camp near Parkdale. Morrison was working in a crew headed by Athey.

Circuit Judge Malcolm Wilkinson of Wasco County ordered a sentence of investigation for Athey, whose home is at Elroy, Ariz.

Defense Counsel's Mystery Trip Delays Court Martial of McKeon

By BEM PRICE

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (AP)—A mysterious trip by defense attorney Emile Zola Berman left the court-martial of Marine S. Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon in weekend recess here today.

McKeon is on trial because of the tragic night march he led into a swamp here April 8. Six of the 74 recruits on that march drowned.

Berman asked for and got yesterday a recess of the court-martial because he said he had to make a flying trip in connection with the case.

A defense spokesman declined to say where Berman was going and whom he will see. He did indicate that the mystery trip is in connection with potential testimony or evidence in the case.

The story of the tragic march that McKeon led was unfolded from the stand yesterday in the command-crisp voices of marine combat veterans and the hesitant tones of youth.

The session saw McKeon's senior drill instructor describe him as "outstanding" and the court hold that marine training methods of the past could be introduced in evidence.

3 Oregonians Meet Violent Death Friday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three persons, two of them youngsters, met violent deaths in accidents in Oregon Friday.

John Ray Phillely, 10, of Roseburg, was killed outright when he was thrown from a logging truck as it plunged off a road.

He was a passenger in the truck, driven by Jack Hindman, which ran out of control when the brakes failed north of Roseburg. Hindman stayed in the truck and was not injured.

James Richard Kercher, 14, of Central Point drowned in an irrigation ditch three miles northwest of Central Point. The boy, who could not swim, fell into 15-feet of water when logs he was playing on rolled over.

Frank Lee Vaughn, 61, Grants Pass, was killed by a rolling log while working in the woods west of Rogue River.

Growers Okay '57 Wheat Restrictions

The Pacific Northwest states voted overwhelmingly in favor of continued federal marketing quotas for next year's wheat crop, late returns showed Saturday.

Washington state wheat farmers voted 6,030 in favor and 1,690 against, a 78 per cent majority in 28 of the 39 voting counties tabulated so far.

Oregon voters in 32 of the 34 wheat-growing counties were 1,783 for and 214 against, a favorable margin of nearly 90 per cent.

Idaho farmers voted 1,065 for and 657 against, a 65 per cent majority.

Body Found in N.Y. River not That of Peter

NEW YORK (AP)—Search for kidnaped Peter Weinberger continued today after an autopsy showed that a child's body found in the East River was that of a newborn baby.

The body was found by a barge captain yesterday.

The city's chief medical examiner, Dr. Milton Halpern, said that the unidentified victim was "between three and seven hours old" at the time of his death.

The Weinberger baby was 32 days old when kidnaped July 4 from his parents' home in suburban Westbury on Long Island. He would be seven weeks old now if he is still alive.

Mrs. Morris Weinberger, mother of the missing child, said "I am confident I will get my baby back. I know my baby is alive."

A majority of the council told Circuit Judge Grady Crawford they fired Mayor J. A. Grimley as chief and directed him to appoint a temporary successor. They complained that Grimley's straightaway appointed himself.

Furthermore, said the council members, Grimley still maintains he's chief and won't turn over badge, car or office to William J. Geromino Jr., whom they appointed to the job yesterday.

HC Viewed as No-End Issue By Neuberger

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hells Canyon will be a political issue in the Pacific Northwest during the coming campaign "and for many elections to come," Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore) said Saturday.

Neuberger pointed out in a statement that only two Republicans voted for a bill to authorize a federal dam in the Hells Canyon stretch of the Snake River along the Idaho-Oregon border. The Senate rejected the measure Thursday, 51-41.

He said also that "all 11 Republican senators from the Far West" voted against the bill and debaters called attention to opposition from the Republican governors of the three Pacific Northwest states.

"I will not venture predictions," Neuberger said, "all I will say is this—if the people of the Northwest still favor undertakings like Bonneville and Grand Coulee they will have an opportunity for many elections to choose clearly at the polls between friends and enemies...."

Demos Stress Farm Distress In Colo. Talks

ADLAI PREFERRED; KEEF, AVERELL KEEP UP VOTE QUEST

By GORDON G. GAUSS BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—Three Democratic presidential aspirants swinging through the West in whirlwind drives for national convention votes, lashed out at the Eisenhower administration in speeches to Colorado Democrats during a two-day meeting.

They emphasized distress in the farm areas.

Gov. Averell Harriman of New York came here to speak today after declaring in an address yesterday: "The Republican party, always dominated and preoccupied with the interest of big business, has turned its back on the farmer."

Adlai Stevenson, who holds the majority of Colorado's 20 votes at the Chicago convention, said the President and Agriculture Secretary Benson "have watched the farm depression expand during the past few years with philosophic calm."

Sen. Estes Kefauver declared in a speech last night that the Democratic sponsored farm bill was "intended to lift agriculture out of the doldrums in which Eisenhower and Benson have plunged it."

"President Eisenhower," he added, "was against that effort. He vetoed the bill."

Harriman, on a five-state tour, came here from Great Bend, Kan., are victims over what he called the broken campaign promises, and broken campaign promises, and shortsighted farm policies of Eisenhower.

"In a little less than three years, farmers and ranchers have lost more than a third of their net income," he said.

Stevenson, after keynoting the Colorado Democratic convention left for Cheyenne, Wyo., where he spoke last night. He had a date in Tonopah, Nev., at noon today for a meeting with state Democratic delegates.

In Cheyenne, Stevenson said a "farm depression" is gripping the United States. He said he learned on a recent visit to Maine that two out of three farms in that state are being abandoned.

Frederickson said that Clinton Emil Withington told him of the robbery plan about two weeks before the July 5 robbery.

Frederickson and Withington, who has not yet come up for a plea, are sailors stationed at nearby Cecil Field.

Mrs. Mary Ann Reid, 24, pleaded guilty to receiving stolen money.

Although 21 of Colorado's convention delegates, each with half a vote, told reporters they favored Stevenson, neither Kefauver nor Harriman gave up the quest for votes.

Harriman invited all delegates to a breakfast. Kefauver met with the delegation shortly after its election was completed.

The Colorado delegation goes to the national convention in Philadelphia, Pa., where it will vote on the nomination of a delegate to the national convention.

Harriman has 2 1/2 Colorado votes clinched, on the basis of statements to newsmen, and Kefauver is assured of one vote.

Youth's Body Found; Rites Held Saturday

The Marion county coroner's office Friday afternoon recovered the body of 18-year-old William Parks, Newport, Ark., who was drowned in the Santiam River Monday while swimming there.

Nine-year-old John Caywood, Jefferson, sighted the youth's body on a gravel bar in the river about a quarter of a mile down stream from the bridge at Jefferson, where Parks had been swimming when he disappeared. It was sighted about noon and police informed.

A deputy in the Marion county coroner's office returned the body to Salem and graveside services were held for young Parks at the City View cemetery Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock with the Howell-Edwards chapel in charge.

The Marion county sheriff's office has been attempting to locate the parents of Parks who reportedly are picking beans. A check was made in the Hood River area Friday night by the sheriff's office and they were given the information that the family was in the Gresham area. The boy's mother earlier this week called the coroner's office, but she did not leave an address.
