Man Admits Attack on Wife

Willard Dean Page, 2667 Portland Rd., pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery in municipal court Tuesday, the charge arising from an attack on his wife Monday.

Arresting city police said they were called to the Portland road area about noon Monday by Mrs. Shawnee Page and another woman. They reported that Page had attempted to choke his wife while she was taking care of a motel office while the proprietor was absent. She broke away, Mrs. Page said, and ran across Portland road to a tavern where three men came to her rescue and refused to let Page enter after her. The attack was the aftermath of an argument that started the evening before, she said.

Judge Douglas Hay continued sentencing on the charge to Friday. Page is being held under $500 bail.

Vote Pamphlet Rejected for '56 Election

Aldermen Vote Against $750 Expenditure For 1 Measure

No voters pamphlet will be issued by the city of Salem for the fall election.

Inasmuch as only one measure, that for a tax to provide $50,000 for airport expenditures, will be on the ballot, members of the city council decided not to issue the book. It was estimated that the pamphlet cost would have been $750.

Members of the council approved a plan commission report on the proposed extension of 25th and McGilchrist streets in the vicinity of the Salem airport.

The council approved a resolution to shorten the minutes of future council meetings. The proposal had been made several weeks ago by City Manager Kent Mathewson.

A request to eliminate the two hour parking limit on the 200 block of North Church street was referred to Alderman Clayton Jones for study.

After a public hearing at which no one appeared construction was ordered on a sanitary sewer line to serve Market street from Evergreen avenue to the east city limits.

Other resolutions authorized sewers in parts of Crestview addition and one lot of Riverside Acres and in three lots of Kingwood Heights and two lots in Crown addition.

Final passage was made of assessment ordinances on Woodland drive from Rockland drive to Eola Drive and Stortz avenue from Portland road to the eastern end of Stortz.

A request of farmers in the vicinity of the prison farm to deepen a drainage ditch was given professional approval provided a study by the soil conservation service shows that the enlarged ditch will not increase the flood hazard on state lands.

A mushroom growing under a driveway in Kitchener, Ontario exploded through a 3-inch layer of asphalt.

Survey Shows State, Cities Spent $370,569 on Advertising

Oregon state and municipal development organizations will spend a total of $370,569 this year for advertising and promotion. Their purpose is to help attract tourists and vacationers to the state.

The research department of The Curtis Publishing company has made public its tenth annual survey of the amounts set aside by respective state, area, and community groups in this matter of advertising and promotion.

The travel industry is booming as Americans enjoy higher family income and increased leisure. Yet it faces fierce competition from without and within as other industries fight for a greater share of the consumer dollar.

The Curtis report is based on a study of 285 state, area and community development groups located in all parts of the United States. It reveals the importance that these respective groups attach to the promotion of tourist trade as a means of increasing employment, payrolls, and the purchasing power in each area.

The report is based on responses from the Deschutes county Advertising Committee, Grants Pass and Josephine county Chamber of Commerce, Klamath county Chamber of Commerce, Oregon Coast association, travel information division Oregon State Highway commission, and the Seaside Chamber of Commerce.

These organizations reported respectively that they would spend $5,450, $23,160, $2,500, $28,850, $304,609, and $6,000 in their promotional endeavor.

Calling for bids for a new 100-bed dormitory at MacLaren School for Boys was authorized by the board. Working plans for the new building for which an appropriation of $320,000 was made by the 1955 legislature was approved and bids will be opened at 2 p.m. October 23.

The board delayed action on a request by the Western Tablet and Stationery corporation to connect with a state sewer serving Salem-area institutions until an opinion on the state's legal position can be clarified by the attorney general.

William Ryan, secretary of the board, was instructed to confer with Salem and Marion county officials regarding future plans for sewage lines in that area.

A request of farmers in the vicinity of the prison farm to deepen a drainage ditch was given professional approval provided a study by the soil conservation service shows that the enlarged ditch will not increase the flood hazard on state lands.

Prison Signs No Contracts For '57 Flax

The long-established flax industry at the state penitentiary is definitely on its way out. No contracts have been signed with flax growers for next year's flax, the state board of control was told Tuesday by J. J. Fitzsimons, industry manager.

The board granted the penitentiary permission to pay growers for the final payments for the 1955 flax crop at the rate of $52 per ton for No. 1 quality flax fiber.

Calling for bids for a new 100-bed dormitory at MacLaren School for Boys was authorized by the board. Working plans for the new building for which an appropriation of $320,000 was made by the 1955 legislature was approved and bids will be opened at 2 p.m. October 23.

Salem Schools Report 12,887 Student Total

Five Additional Rooms Being Rushed at Morningside

Enrollment in the Salem schools continues to climb and as of Monday the figures were 12,887, up 460 from the opening day, Sept. 10. Elementary enrollment was 7,404, including 1,280 first graders.

Secondary schools had a total registration of 5,243, with South Salem 1,205, Parrish 1300 and Leslie 1,544.

In addition Keizer had 240 pupils enrolled in the 7th and 8th grades who were being taken care of in the Keizer area.

Assistant Superintendent George Martin reports that the administration has been able to house all of the young folk without too much difficulty although it took a bit of juggling to accomplish this.

Morningside school is being operated on something of a make-shift basis because of delay in completing the addition of five classrooms.

The maintenance department of the district is constructing a one room addition to the Brush College school to take care of an increased load in that area.

The transportation system has been operating smoothly and no protests as yet have been filed with the administration.

By bus and train, a tourist may now travel the 4,500 miles between Paris and Baghdad on a ticket that costs $135. Ten countries are crossed.

Man Admits Idanha Theft

A Gresham man arrested by Clackamas county officers has admitted burglary of Cec and Ray's Sporting Goods store in Idanha, the Marion county sheriff's office reported Tuesday.

A hold order has been placed with Clackamas authorities for Kenneth Albert Classen, 22, on a charge of burglary not in a dwelling. Bail on the Jefferson justice court warrant was set at $2,000.

Clackamas officers said some of the items taken in the burglary have been recovered. Two other youths involved in the burglary are presently in the Washington state reformatory at Monroe, they said.

Mrs. Emma G. Myers, considered an authority on the problems and techniques of teaching penmanship, will work with the first and second grade teachers, Friday Sept. 28, starting at 2:45 p.m. She will meet with the third and fourth grade teachers Oct. 1 at 4 p.m. and with the fifth and sixth grades Oct. 3 at 4 o'clock.

All meetings will be held at Grant school.

Fire Razes Garage — AUMSVILLE (Special) — A spreading grass fire Monday destroyed a garage building on the B. V. Sprauer farm three miles north of this town before firemen could reach the scene. The fire swept onto the Sprauer place from an adjoining farm. A tractor, drill, and disc were destroyed in the blaze.

81 MEN PLEDGES AT OSG CORVALLIS — The second fraternity rushing period opened at Oregon State College Tuesday after a record of 801 men were pledged Monday. The present rushing period will end Thursday.
