OSC NOTES

Studying Emphasized On Campus

By PHOEBE LOU BRAUN (Capital Journal Correspondent)

OREGON STATE COLLEGE, Corvallis (Special)—Now that the excitement of new classes is over, the Oregon State students are settling down to a daily routine. The teachers must be anxious to get started, for they are vigorously giving out homework.

Politics was in the air last week, as students listened to Senator Robert Holmes, Democratic candidate for governor of Oregon, who spoke at the scheduled convocation. Oregon State's two political groups, the Young Republicans, and the Young Democrats, have an active season ahead.

To remind students of the main purpose of college, the Associated Women Students promoted a scholarship week which started Monday. Members of Mortar Board, the senior women's service honorary, and Alpha Lambda Delta, sophomore women's scholastic honorary, delivered speeches at the freshman women's living groups Tuesday evening in an attempt to emphasize scholarship.

On Wednesday, a convocation was staged to further stress the importance of learning and education. Two Salem students seem to have discovered the correct way to study, for they made straight A's last spring term. Beatrice M. Heiken received honors in business and technology, while James McClelland earned honors in agriculture. Getting off to a good start were several freshmen boys from the Salem area who were among the 50 top scorers in the OSC math placement test. High scorers included George Andrews, Michael Jenkins, Ronald Carr, Gary Gleason, and Carl Krueger, Salem; and Norman R. Franzen, Turner.

Returning to Salem after 14 years, is Judy Dalton, who arrived home just in time to start college at Oregon State. Judy has lived in Alaska, Italy, Germany, and Virginia, with her parents, Colonel and Mrs. Kenneth W. Dalton.

Ginger Lively is the active vice chairman of Y Round Table, the campus YM-YWCA organization. Y Round Table is giving its annual open house, which started Tuesday and will end Friday. Ginger is also chairman of an orientation program planned to help new women students become acquainted with campus life and Y Round Table activities.

One of the weekend firesides was at the Beta Theta Pi fraternity, and included many Salemites. Those present were Jill Cummings, Carol Boesch, Pam Clayton, Judy Dalton, Joan Lewis, Kleth Boyer, Ken Carl, Dave Socolofsky, Jim Gordon, Bruce Patterson, and Bob Beals.

In store for this weekend are the annual Nickel Hops, Friday and men's house dances Saturday.

Bride-elect Is Feted

Honoring Miss Nancy Jane O'Neil, who is to be married Saturday night to Orland K. Green, two parties have been arranged this week.

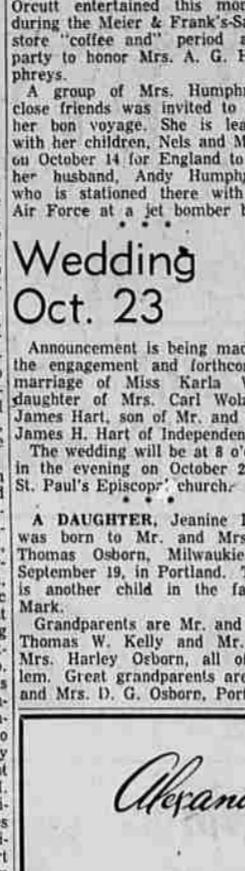

This evening Miss O'Neil will be honored at a bridal shower for which Miss Phyllis Newland and the bride's future sister-in-law, Mrs. James B. Tooze, will entertain at the Tom Girard home in Dallas. A group of 18 has been invited for dessert and miscellaneous shower.
