

New Lights Glow Over 12th Street Project

Twelfth street was not deserted as one might think at first glance at this time exposure picture taken of the recently installed street lighting by Capital Journal photographer Jerry Clausen. The heavy streaks of light at the right of the picture were made by headlights of moving cars while the light streaks in the front came from tall lights of other cars. The scene, looking south, was taken from Center and 12th streets. The new lighting system, designed by Portland General Electric Co. engineers transforms the area from one of the poorest lighted to one of the best lighted streets in the city. The $15,000 project includes 55 mercury vapor lights on 35 standards replacing previous lighting of 1910 vintage. The lights, of 20,000 lumen mercury vapor type, gives three times as much light as similar incandescent types. The new lighting is from Ferry street to the new Union street extension to Summer street. (Capital Journal Picture)

8 Found Guilty of Big Theft Brink's Robbery Verdict Given At Boston

JOHN W. KING
BOSTON (AP)—A Suffolk Superior Court jury early today convicted eight men of taking part in the $1,219,000 Brink's robbery — the largest cash haul in the nation's history.

Life Terms Faced
They face a maximum of life imprisonment.

The all-male jury deliberated 3 hours and 27 minutes before convicting seven of the eight defendants of armed robbery—meaning they actually participated in the Jan. 17, 1956, looting.

The eighth—Joseph F. Mc Ginis, 52, termed by the prosecution as the "brains"—was convicted as an accessory before the fact of armed robbery and accessory to breaking and entering, which carry the same penalty.

Acquitted on 2 Charges
Mc Ginis was acquitted of armed robbery and breaking and entering charges by directed verdict before the case went to the jury at 10:23 p.m. last night.

Convicted after the nine-week trial as participants were Anthony Pino, 48; Vincent J. Costa, 41; Michael V. Geagan, 47; Adolph Maffie, 44; Henry Baker, 49; James J. Faherty, 44; and Thomas F. Richardson, 48. All are from greater Boston.

"Of course we are going to appeal," chief defense counsel Paul T. Smith said. "We have 21 days to file that appeal. These have been nine long weeks and we want a few days to get straightened out."

When jury foreman Thomas F. Donahue, 43, read the guilty verdicts, Mc Ginis' wife collapsed. Faherty's sister buried her head in a handkerchief. A woman relative of another defendant screamed.

Tuesday morning was fixed as the day of sentencing.

Fall Fatal to Oregon Pulp Mill Worker

A Salem paper mill employe was fatally injured in a fall at the plant Saturday morning.

Gale L. Fox, 58, who lived at 2645 Portland Rd., died at a Salem hospital about two hours after he was discovered laying on the floor of the digester building at the Oregon Pulp and Paper mill on South Commercial street.

Little is known of the circumstances of Fox's death. He was found shortly after 8 a.m. by fellow employes near some pipes near the base of the digester. He had crawled some 20 feet from the scene of the fall, his broken glasses and blood spots indicated. He had last been seen about a half hour earlier, mill employes said.

Fox, a pipefitter at the mill, apparently fell about eight feet from a ladder approach or possibly 20 feet from a nearby ladder leaning against some pipes, other workers said.

His death was apparently caused by extensive head injuries, hospital authorities said. An autopsy is planned, they said.

Survivors include the widow, Katie, and a son, Lowell F. Fox, both of Salem. Funeral arrangements will be announced by Virgil T. Golden mortuary.

Two Indicted For Woodburn Bank Break-in

PORTLAND (AP)—A federal grand jury Friday indicted two teen-agers on a charge of attempting burglary at the postoffice and a bank at Woodburn.

Raymond S. Ainge, 16, and Ronald Eugene Huffman, 17, were charged with forcing their way into the Woodburn variety store and then into the postoffice located there. The postoffice safe was taken and later found near Silverton with money missing.

Nothing was taken from the Bank of Oregon, which also was entered.

The burglary occurred in August, the same night several Gervais establishments also were entered.

The indictments were the first federal charges against juveniles in Oregon in several years. As a rule, juveniles are prosecuted under a delinquency statute in a home or transfer from the Woodburn boys school at the time of the burglary.

Delay on Base Temporary

WILSONVILLE (Special)—Representative Walter Norblad (R-Ore.) Friday evening told a community gathering at the Wilsonville Grade School that the delay in the new Woodburn Air Base was only temporary.

"I do not believe," said Norblad, "that the failure to acquire land this year will in any way slow down future construction efforts."

"The situation here is totally different than that in other places where no adequate base presently exists. The air force now and has been for some ten or fifteen years operating from the Portland Air Base and can continue to give adequate defense protection from that locale" while the Woodburn Base is under construction. So, the Woodburn construction cannot be considered as an emergency or "crash" program that must be constructed immediately.

Two Pilots Survive Crash of Jets in Air

PAINÉ AFB, Wash. (AP)—Two slightly scratched Air Force lieutenants—survivors of a 400-mile-an-hour plane crash and a parachute jump into Washington's wild and rugged Olympic Mountains—were back at this base today.

A hundred miles away, ground crews and aerial search parties sought the pilots' radar observers, hopeful the two men will be found alive.

Home with their families, who waited 20 anxious hours before learning of their rescue, were Lt. Eugene A. Hamby, 26, of Hillsboro, Ore., and 2nd Lt. George W. Deer, 22, Meadville, Miss.

Still believed wandering through the mountain country are 1st Lt. Robert L. Canup Jr., 25, Salisbury, N.C., and 1st Lt. Jim B. Paschall, 22, Paradise, Texas. They are believed to have parachuted with Hamby and Deer when the two Air Force F89d jets collided although no one saw them leave their planes.

Only Hamby could be interviewed upon his return by helicopter from the Olympics last night. Deer went immediately to his home where his wife, who is expecting a baby shortly, was described as "in a state of shock."

"We were climbing at about 400 miles an hour," Hamby recalled. "I thought my plane was dragging a little and I asked Deer to come up and look under it."

"He did—and got a little loose. We collided. Seconds later I was parachuting to earth."

Council to Hear Resolution on Property Change on Monday

An ordinance bill to change from residential to business classification the Howard Olsen property abutting the east side of Highway 99-E and lying between Northgate Addition and Storz Avenue will be on the city council agenda Monday night for final action.

Consideration of the ordinance will be preceded by a public hearing, and Roy Harland, attorney for Olsen, will ask for an amendment in the application to give the zone changed to a C-2 instead of a C-3 business zone.

Objections Arise
The reason for this is that some objection has come up to a C-3 classification which would open the property to general business. A C-2 change would open it to restricted business. The property is considered suitable for a future shopping district and C-2 is believed liberal enough for the usual businesses found in a shopping center.

The ordinance bill for revised house numbering, street designations with prefixes, and dividing the city into six districts will again be on the agenda for final action and probably will pass Monday night.

Another annexation petition will appear Monday night. It involves a tract contiguous to the city in the Tess Avenue district.

Parking Restrictions Due
Among items on the agenda affecting streets, traffic and utility extensions will be a petition for the improvement of Edina lane from Center street to Knox avenue. The engineer's report indicates signatures representing 54.31 per cent of the assessable area and recommends that the petition be granted with easements.

A resolution will appear for the widening of Rural avenue between 12th street and a point 250 feet west of 12th.

Car parking restrictions will be extended if a petition is granted for the limiting of parking in the 200 block on North Cottage street to two hours, either by signs or parking meters.

Another resolution would make official the stop signs at Southern Pacific grade crossings on Mission, Hines and Mill streets. Since the signs are not now official many drivers fail to stop if trains are not near.

Transfer will be provided by resolution of $2196.26 from the trunk extension and laterals fund to the sewer construction fund for a sewer to serve Hansen Addition and adjacent streets.

Appeal Made For Help to UF Solicitors

An appeal for better cooperation with United Fund solicitors was issued today by Campaign Chairman William H. Hammond.

"Some of these workers make two, three and even four calls on a potential contributor before getting results," Hammond pointed out. "These workers are all volunteers who are donating their time to this cause in which every citizen of Salem should want to have a part."

Speaking at the Friday United Fund luncheon Bernard Mainwaring, Capital-Journal publisher, expressed the appreciation of the UF board and the citizens of Salem in general for the effort being put forth by the volunteer workers.

"I know that your quota is bigger than ever this year, but so is the city of Salem bigger than ever," Mainwaring pointed out. "As a member of the budget committee that examined the requests presented by UF agencies I know that every cent represented by your goal is urgently needed."

Custody of "Pansy" the pet skunk, daily entrusted to the head of the division making the poorest showing at the report luncheon, passed Friday to the automotive division. At the same time the free chicken dinner awarded by the Marion hotel to the division making the best showing went to the general gifts division.

The next luncheon will be held at the Marion hotel Monday noon with report meetings scheduled for every day next week through Friday.

The total to date is $137,411, which is 60 per cent of the $227,800 goal.

Man Returns To Hospital After Crash

W. B. Glen, Jr., of Winston, Ore., just out of a hospital at Roseburg where he was treated for injuries, was in a Salem hospital Saturday after a traffic collision.

Glen was a passenger about 10 o'clock Saturday morning in a yellow Taxicab driven by E. K. Stewart. As the cab traveled west on Chemeketa a car driven by J. G. Pack, 380 South 16th, was moving in the wrong direction on one-way Cottage Street and bumped the taxi hard in the intersection.

Glen was making a grocery business at Winston, had been under treatment for neck and vertebra injuries in a previous accident. First aid took him to Salem Memorial Hospital for a checkup.

Both vehicles were extensively damaged in the collision.

10th Arrest in Plywood Co-op Scheme Made

PORTLAND (AP)—Federal investigators Friday arrested the tenth person accused of fraudulent promotion in a plywood co-operative scheme.

He is Roland Montgomery, 40, of Hood River, a former state policeman who quit the force in 1954. Montgomery, accused of mail fraud conspiracy in selling shares in the Mt. Hood Hardboard and Plywood Cooperative, was released after posting $2,500 bail.

Others arrested: State Police Lt. Richard D. Williams, 60, Portland; Mrs. Lee Davenport, 77, prominent Portland clubwoman; Edgar R. Errion, Dwight Holdorf, James B. Carr and Frederick Alan Wright, all Portland; and Glenn R. Munkers, Archie L. Bones, and Charles W. Williamson, all Salem.

H. G. Malson, state police superintendent, said that Williams asked to be put on leave until trial and this was approved.

One of the indictments naming several of the defendants said they had devised a scheme to defraud investors in five different Oregon cooperatives.

Sergeant McKeon Sentence Reduced

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (UP)—S-Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon has received a big reduction in his "death march" court martial sentence, including a chance to stay in the Marine Corps.

Navy Secretary Charles S. Thomas late Friday overruled a bad conduct discharge that a court martial board handed the 27-year-old drill sergeant for the march that killed six recruits.

Thomas decreed that McKeon be broken to private but reduced his hard-labor sentence from nine to three months. He also abolished a $30 monthly pay forfeiture, saying the reduction in rate would incur a greater pay loss than this.

Thomas said he believes the "real punishment" will be the "memory of those youngsters" who drowned in a night march into a tidal creek last April 8.

Been Forwarned
McKeon said the worst part of the sentence given him after a long court martial trial last July and August was that it made it impossible for him to continue his Marine Corps career.

McKeon told newsmen who contacted him after the Navy secretary's action was announced in Washington that he had already been forewarned by his attorney, Emile Zola Berman, to make no statement.

When the reporters contacted Berman in New York by telephone he gave them permission to interview McKeon but by then the sergeant had gone to the home of a Navy chaplain, Comdr. Maurus Cook, Roman Catholic chaplain, of the Parris Island Marine Corps base, refused to permit an interview because, he said, Berman had not told him of having received his "no interview" request.

McKeon, since the court martial verdict, has been living under a restriction which permitted him to continue living at his home at Fort Royal, S.C., near the base, with his wife and three small children.

Linn Escapes Mum on Loot From County

COQUILLE (UP)—Ernest Larson, Gibson, captured fugitive from the Linn county jail, refused today to tell authorities whether he had recovered any part of the $6000 loot from the Linn county treasurer's office that he is suspected of hiding somewhere in Coos county.

Gibson was captured yesterday after a 72-hour search in the rugged area around Seven Devils road near Coos Bay. He was found in a car stolen at Empire, Ore., the previous night and was later arraigned on a car theft charge and lodged in Coos county jail here.

Driver Abducted
At the time Gibson took a cab from Bend to Eugene and thence to Coos Bay with the abducted driver, he was carrying a red brief case. He did not have it when he was captured.

"It had nothing in it. I threw it in the ocean," he told arresting officers who speculated that it might have contained money Gibson was accused of taking from the Linn county courthouse. He was convicted of that robbery and sentenced to life in the penitentiary. The case was on appeal at the time of his escape from Albany.

Meanwhile, it was reported from Los Angeles that Gibson's fellow escapee, James Arthur Patton, 39, probably would waive extradition to Oregon next week. He was captured Thursday night at Manhattan Beach, Calif.

Adlai Attacks Administration Tariff Policy

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson Saturday accused the Eisenhower administration of "political cynicism" about tariffs and an "unfeeling attitude toward the troubles of the textile industry."

It was the opening address of his stumping tour through industrial New England.

"I believe in a policy of gradual tariff reduction," he said.

The Democratic presidential nominee contended the Eisenhower administration had made an "election year gesture toward the textile industry" by announcing an increase in wool tariffs and negotiations to reduce cheap Japanese textile imports.

Stevenson called this "political cynicism" a month before election.

"He said GOP policy shows 'little concern for the little man—the vanishing man.'"

Stevenson said Republicans killed a Democratic bill in the Senate to help localities with a high degree of unemployment.

Stevenson said that, since the campaign started, Eisenhower is "talking as if the Republican party had invented the social reforms we call the New Deal."

3 Run Blast Feature of 5-3 Win

NEW YORK (AP)—Enos Slaughter, 40-year-old veteran of the baseball wars, slammed a three-run homer in the sixth inning Saturday to provide a 5-3 victory for the New York Yankees in the third game of the World Series.

PLAY-BY-PLAY OF TODAY'S GAME ON SECTION 1, PAGE 2

It put the Bombers back into contention after they had dropped the first two games to the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Whitey Ford, who lasted three innings as Brooklyn won the first game last Wednesday pitched steady ball this time, allowing eight hits.

The fourth game of the series will be played Sunday at the Stadium. Manager Casey Stengel said Tom Sturdivant would pitch for the Yankees in an attempt to pull the teams even. Manager Walter A. Alton said Sal Maglie, winner of the opener, or Carl Erskine would hurl for Brooklyn. The game starts at 10:05 p.m., PST, instead of 9 a.m.

The fifth game will be played at the stadium on Monday, and the teams go back to Brooklyn's Ebbets Field for the next two games, as necessary for the best-of-seven series.

The crowd of 73,977 Saturday saw a ding-dong pitchers' duel for five innings between Ford and Roger Craig, who started for Brooklyn but left for a pinch hitter after Slaughter slammed his three-run blast in the sixth.

Ike Declares Draft End Talk Hurts Security

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Saturday accused Adlai E. Stevenson of hurting "America's security interests throughout the world" by "loose talk" about ending the draft soon.

A Presidential statement issued at the White House did not mention Stevenson by name but was obviously aimed at him. It said that to end selective service now would greatly weaken U.S. defenses and added:

"We must not by weakness invite another war."

Eisenhower also declared the free world looks to the U.S. for leadership in "standing firm against the Communist push" and added:

"We must not now betray that leadership by loose talk of soon ending the draft. The world can only construe that as letting down our guard."

Stevenson early in September called for ending the draft "at the earliest possible moment" consistent with the nation's safety.

On Sept. 29, at Minneapolis, (Minn.), he referred to the draft as "wasteful" and "inefficient" and suggested the whole problem of recruiting and training manpower be freshly studied in the light of new weapons.
