Draft End Again Hit In Speech

President Says Adlai Talks 'Folly'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Eisenhower, in a hammering new attack last night accused Adlai Stevenson of talking "incredible folly or from incredible ignorance in proposing the possibility of ending the military draft."

Addressing a cheering capacity crowd of 22,000 in Hollywood Bowl, Eisenhower also charged the Democratic presidential nominee with hurling a "baseless insult," and a "preposterous accusation" in saying the Eisenhower administration has been marked by a "contagion of corruption."

Ending a vote-seeking tour of Washington and Oregon as well as California, Eisenhower scheduled a midday speech at Denver's airport today en route to the White House. He planned to get home tonight.

The President last night hit out hard at Stevenson and other Democrats who have been criticizing Vice President Richard Nixon. Eisenhower called such criticism "fatuous, foolish and futile" — an attempt to "belittle the character of this great American."

In Nixon's home state of California, Eisenhower departed from his prepared text to praise and defend his running mate.

In a campaign speech Wednesday night, Stevenson denounced Nixon as a man "whose greatest political talent is a mastery of personal innuendo, who cries 'treason' and spreads fear and doubt, . . . a man whose trademark is slander."

Swearing first at Stevenson's "contagion of corruption" charge, the President harked back to the days of the Truman administration and said:

"If I were anxious to win the confidence of the American people, and remembering the Washington mess of only four years ago, there is one word that is the last I would take from the dictionary to use in a political argument — and that word is 'corruption.'"

"I scorn this preposterous accusation and I condemn it as false — because it is a baseless insult to the many men and women associated with me in public service today, whom I know and trust."

Two other children, all under six, were saved by a fire marshal who passed them out the window to neighbors.

Killed were James Kolek, 28, a gas company manager, and his daughter Linda, 3. The body of the father was found kneeling by the side of an empty bed of one of the children. Linda was found in another bedroom.

Mrs. Kolek was away visiting relatives.

GRAFTON, Ill. (AP) — Flames trapped and burned to death three brothers and their sister Saturday as they slept upstairs in their two-story frame home here.

Chief of Police Adam DeShella said the mother of the children, Mrs. Virginia Vahl, was awakened by smoke before dawn and ran from the house, awakening neighbors with her screams.

Oregon Press Women Meet

Oregon Press Women are holding the annual fall conference in Salem Saturday, and Sunday will conclude the session with a meeting and breakfast in Mount Angel. Thirty had registered at noon.

Sessions in Salem are held in the Marion hotel where the banquet will be held Saturday night. Governor Elmo Smith will speak at the banquet and Rt. Rev. Damian Jentges, O.S.B., will be the speaker at the Sunday breakfast. This is a change from the previously scheduled speaker.

Sunday breakfast will be at 9:30 in the Mount Angel hotel with a conducted tour of the Hilltop Abbey, its library and Benedictine Press in follow. Final session will bring the women to the Abbey church as the monks chant the office.

Luncheon Saturday was in the Oregon room at Muter & Frank Co. with a fashion show scheduled for the special entertainment of the Press Women.

'Early Birds' Seek Elusive Pheasants

Freeway Crash Injures Three

A four-car crash Saturday at 11:45 a.m. on the Salem bypass near the Market street entrance sent three people to Salem General hospital with undetermined injuries, city first aidmen reported.

Two of the four cars involved were badly damaged, aidmen said. Taken to the hospital were Pat Swan of Portland and Don Bird of Beaverton, both Oregon State college students, and Mrs. Blanche Rossman, of Seattle. All were being checked for injuries early Saturday afternoon.

Aiden said cars driven by Miss Swan and a woman friend of Mrs. Rossman collided, causing two other vehicles to slide into the crashed autos. The other vehicles received only minor damage, aidmen said.

Miss Swan received a forehead laceration and other injuries when she was thrown clear of the wreck. Bird had chest injuries and Mrs. Rossman had lacerations on her head and back. Extent of other injuries was not known.

Nasser Said Willing To Meet With Eden

Editor's Note: Miss Paflerman, a free lance correspondent, has obtained an exclusive interview with Egyptian President Abdel Nasser. In the following dispatch written for the United Press, she says Nasser is willing to meet with the chiefs of state of France and Britain to discuss a Suez settlement.

By PAT HERMAN
Written For The United Press
CAIRO (UPI)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser said Friday he would be willing to go to Geneva to meet British Prime Minister Anthony Eden and French Premier Guy Mollet if he thought the talks would achieve a peaceful settlement of the Suez Canal dispute.

Nasser indicated, in an interview with this correspondent at Tahra Fataca, that he would negotiate personally only with the chiefs of state of Britain and France, and not with their foreign ministers.

He revealed that Egyptian-sponsored talks on Suez would be held in Geneva during the week of Oct. 28, although the exact date has not yet been set.

Nasser said Egypt is prepared to present certain proposals on canal tolls at the projected meeting, but he firmly rejected an idea of dealing solely with the Suez Canal users association set up by the West to collect canal

A BANG AND JINGLE Hunters Pepper East End Homes

By VICTOR B. FRYER
Capital Journal Writer

Pheasant hunting season started off with a bang and a jingle Saturday morning, the Marion county sheriff's office reported.

The bang was from the hunters' guns and the jingle was from the telephone in the sheriff's office as blame owners called in to complain of shotgun pellets bouncing off their houses.

Deputies said there was about a dozen calls between 7 and 10 a.m. from residents, most of them in the semi-residential area east of Lancaster drive east of Salem.

who complained of careless hunters shooting too close to their homes. Most of the calls came between 7 and 8 o'clock, deputies said, indicating that most of the hunters were out early.

Danger to the homes from the stray bullets was almost nil, deputies said, but noted that a person getting in the way of one of them could be hurt. They suggested hunters take more care, especially in the congested areas near towns.

They also advised landowners that they may sign complaints for the arrest of hunters trespassing on property-owned land.

Results Said Spotty
Few reports on success of hunters were available early Saturday but state game officers said results in the Salem area were spotty.

Rain, which started falling during mid-morning, chased several hunters out of the fields and lessened other chances for getting their birds, officers said. Rain washes away the scent of pheasants and causes most birds to stay pretty well under cover.

Early Success
One report of early success came from Irvin Buckert and E. M. Svendsen, Capital Journal typographical employees, who garnered their limit of roosters a few minutes after the season opened. They weren't about to tell the location though.

Meanwhile state police and enforcement agencies said they had no reports of injuries or fatalities due to pheasant hunting early Saturday afternoon.

8 Injured When Theater Roof Falls
CHICAGO (AP) — Eight persons were injured, none seriously, Friday night when portions of the ceiling collapsed in a large south side theater.

About 900 persons were in the theater when the plaster, some of it five inches thick, began raining down. Patrons sitting in the area were panicked into a near-standstill.

GOP Split Cited by Stevenson

Statement About Suez Situation Questioned

CINCINNATI (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson says President Eisenhower is providing the nation only "leadership to disaster" because any bold international action by him would "split the Republican party right down the middle."

Stevenson told a cheering audience which filled Cincinnati's 3,800-seat Music Hall last night that Eisenhower's recent statement that there was "good news" about the Suez Canal crisis was "highly misleading."

"My friends," the Democratic presidential nominee said solemnly, "there is no good news about Suez. Why didn't the President tell us the truth?"

"Why hasn't he told us frankly that what has happened in these past few months is that the Soviet rulers have accomplished a Russian ambition the czars could never accomplish? Russian power and influence have moved into the Middle East—the oil tank of Europe and Asia and the great bridge between East and West."

In a full-fledged indictment of the GOP administration's foreign policies, Stevenson said that "the central fact is that the leader of the Republican party cannot possibly deal with the problems of today's world."

The crowd cheered as Stevenson said:

"I ask your support not because I offer promises of peace and progress, because I do not. I promise only an unending effort to use power wisely in pursuing the goal of peace."

"I ask your support not in the name of complacency but in the name of anxiety."

Stevenson flies today to South Bend, Ind., for a non-political rally and to watch the Notre Dame - Michigan State football game. He speaks tonight from Chicago over closed circuit television to audiences at Democratic fund raising dinners in 20 cities.

Norblad Asks Word on Base

Congressman Walter Norblad Friday requested the air force to give definite word to the people of the Woodburn area on future plans for the proposed $40 million dollar air base.

Norblad said he has asked for a definite commitment because many people of the area were caused major inconvenience by a recent announcement that purchase of land for the base would be deferred about one year.

He cited the case of one farmer who had purchased a home in Salem after the air force announced plans to buy land this year. Another, he said, had contracted to purchase a farm in another part of the state in anticipation of early sale of his own farm.

"Future plans for the area should be settled as soon as possible so that people of the area may be able to determine their own plans," Norblad said.

Man Killed as Winds Whip Washington, B.C. Coasts

80-Mile-an-Hour Gusts Reported In Region

FORT ANGELES, Wash. (AP) — A violent wind and rain storm that whipped the Washington and British Columbia coasts Friday night left one man dead on the Olympic Peninsula.

A wind-topped tree killed Marvin Warnock, 41, Clallam Bay while he was sawing a passage-way through another tree that had fallen across the highway earlier.

He was the "second man killed by a storm during the day and the fourth in two days, Arnold

Police Check Dorm Ruins at Idaho Campus

Death of 3 Students Termed University's 'Saddest Hour'

MOSCOW, Idaho (AP) — Special student and police guards were on duty on the University of Idaho campus Saturday and investigators probed the ruins in a dormitory where three students died Friday in a blaze believed started by an arsonist.

Student guards were first posted after fires on the campus last week. They were strengthened by selected ROTC students and special police dispatched to aid local officers.

Arson Investigators
Fire underwriters and arson investigators from Boise, Idaho, and Spokane, Wash., were also dispatched to the scene.

The three students, Paul Johnson, Davenport, Wash.; John Knudsen, Idaho Falls, and Clair Schulberg, Terreton, Idaho, died in an explosive fire that swept through the third floor lounge and fourth floor sleeping rooms of Gault Hall. Eight others were injured, none seriously.

"I can't prove it, but I think gasoline or some other petroleum was used to start the fire because it moved so fast," said Fire Chief Carl Smith.

University President D. R. Theophilus termed it the school's "saddest hour," and promised precautions to prevent further fires.

$100,000 Damage
Damage to the dormitory was estimated at $100,000.

Fires in campus buildings last weekend caused $3,500 damage. A third was controlled before it did any damage.

An arsonist set more than 30 fires on the Washington State College campus, just nine miles away, about five years ago and was never caught.

OSC Student Dies in Crash

ALBANY (UPI)—William Riley Sanders, 20, Portland, was fatally injured and two others were hurt early today in an automobile accident on the Lebanon - Corvallis highway about five miles south of here.

State police said the accident occurred about 1 a.m. when the car, driven by Bruce Duncan, 22, Reno, Nev., failed to make a turn in the road and crashed. Sanders died about an hour later at Albany General Hospital of a skull fracture.

Wilson and another passenger, Hugh William Hobart Adams, 20, Scappoose, were hospitalized.

All are Oregon State College students.

They Live to Fly Again

Lumbering bulk of broken-up Pan American World Airways Stratocruiser ditched in the Pacific Tuesday rests in water as passengers take to rubber lifeboats just after plane hit water. The passengers and crew were immediately picked up and rescued by personnel of the Coast Guard Cutter Pontchartrain that was at the scene. This picture was made by a crewman of the rescue ship. New Party Secretary Opposed

Khrushchev Flies Back to Moscow After Talks

WARSAW (UPI) — Russian troops began moving into defiant Poland from East Germany today. Movement of the Russian forces was disclosed by a member of the Central Committee of the Polish Communist Party which today defied Moscow and named liberal leader Wladyslaw Gomulka to the all-important party post of first secretary.

Units of the Polish Army were taking up positions in the vicinity of Warsaw, Central Committee member Stefan Sieradzki told a mass meeting of 10,000 workers and students.

Troop units in Polish uniform took over both the transmitter and the downtown headquarters of Radio Warsaw this afternoon shortly after Soviet Communist Chief Nikita Khrushchev left for Moscow after a secret, 24-hour blitz trip to Warsaw to try to slow Poland's rush toward liberalization and de-Stalinization.

Sieradzki told the meeting: "Gomulka is the new first secretary of the central committee." Before today, Edward Ochab, generally considered a supporter of the old policies, had been first secretary.

3,000 Leave Hungarian Youth Group

BUDAPEST, Hungary (UPI)—More than 3,000 students quit Hungary's Communist Youth Organization Friday night and announced their intention to form an independent group.

The official youth organ Szabad Husag acknowledged the right of the "rebels" to seek independence but appealed to them to return to the fold.

Szabad Husag said the demands voiced at a meeting in Szeged, 100 miles south of here, for a "complete purge" of the leadership of the Disz youth group are not unreasonable. It added, however, that this is only one of the reforms needed in Hungary.

"Members of Disz do not mistrust their leaders without reason. . . (but) the students of Szeged should understand that we are fighting not only for a new university system, but to solve the troubles of the whole country," the youth organ said.

"The fight for a new era is getting under way slowly, but it is a great and noble fight and one in which we should fight shoulder to shoulder."

Earlier, the trouble at Szeged had been reported to the world by Budapest Radio.
