Dr. Wright to Give UN Talk Here Friday

Speech of Portland Minister Climax To Observance

Dr. Paul S. Wright, Portland, will be guest speaker at a public United Nations week observance on Friday evening, October 26 at 8 p.m. at the YWCA.

Dr. Wright, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Portland, was elected, in 1955, moderator of the Presbyterian Church U.S.A. for a one year period.

Besides many prominent positions that he holds within his church, Dr. Wright is active in state and civic groups. He serves as vice chairman of the Oregon United Nations association and is an outstanding speaker on international subjects. He recently returned from an extensive trip to the Orient.

Dr. Wright will be introduced by Dr. Paul Poling, pastor of the First Presbyterian church and a member of the board of the Salem United Nations chapter.

This program will climax activities in observance of United Nations week which has featured programs in schools, churches and civic groups.

The Friday evening meeting will be preceded by a no-host dinner at 6 p.m. at the Marion hotel honoring Dr. and Mrs. Wright and Prof. and Mrs. Karlin Capper-Johnson. Prof. Capper-Johnson is chairman of the Oregon United Nations association. Reservations can be made by calling the Marion hotel.

R. L. DeVaney Rites Oct. 25

ALBANY (Special) — The funeral for Robert L. DeVaney, 70, who died at his home on RFD, Scio, Monday, will be held at the Scio Christian church at 1:30 p.m. Thursday. It was announced at the Fisher Funeral home here. Burial will be made in the Franklin Butte cemetery.

Born near Thomas Station in the DeVaney community, which derived its name from his family, Mr. DeVaney lived in Jefferson until 1916, when he moved to Wolf Point, Mont. He remained there about 20 years and then returned to the DeVaney neighborhood. He had lived at West Scio for the last ten years.

The mother, Mrs. Mary J. DeVaney, lives on RFD 1, Jefferson; a brother, C. H. DeVaney, lives in Albany, and two sisters, Mrs. E. L. Gates and Mrs. Nellie Compion, live on Jefferson RFD 1.

Sales of bottled soft drinks in 1955 increased for a record 184.2 bottles per person annually in the U. S.

The Salem pastor, succeeds Bishop Francis Leipsiz, Baker, who resigned after serving on the committee since its inception.

Hoover School Plans Benefit Carnival for Friday Evening

EAST SALEM — Four of East Salem schools have set the dates for annual benefit projects each week for the next four weeks. There will be two carnivals and one dinner and one box supper.

Hoover school has the first carnival scheduled for Friday night of the week and a large number of fathers and mothers of the school children are having special concessions or helping with the work in some way.

General chairmen are Loren Edlund and Dr. L. E. Watson; special concessions: soft drinks, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Mauk; pie walk, Mrs. Alden Wallis; cake walk, Mrs. Quinten Murren; cider and doughnuts, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Slick; candy, Mrs. Oscar Specht; sandwiches, J. V. Haskell; aprons, Mrs. L. D. Culp; cartoons, Rudy Sherwood; merry-go-round, Orville Boyle; talent show, Lyle Johnson and Ted Carlson; ghost house, Robert Poote; balloon and darts, Albert Scott; fish pond, Mrs. Joseph Hall; ball tossing, William Schaumbly; rifle range, Robert Schaefer; bows and arrows, Mrs. Troy Hill; paper hats, Mrs. Loren Edlund; police show, Elwood Hewitt; tickets, Cliff Enfield; check room, Mr. and Mrs. John Jacobs; decorations, Mrs. Max Shuster-vitz; signs, Eugene Showers; tee shirts, Mrs. Wesley Corning; door prizes, Mrs. Warren Simpson; publicity, Mrs. George Dewey.

School Board Representatives Plan More Study on Proposals

Further study concerning legislation dealing with public school education was indicated by representatives of a number of school districts who took part in a conference held at South Salem senior high school Tuesday night.

Reactions from two proposed measures as prepared by an education interim committee of the legislature were forthcoming following their presentation by Gardner Knapp, president of the Oregon School Boards association, and James T. Turnbull, assistant state superintendent of public instruction.

One of the measures calls for unified school districts within the counties. The other would allocate half of each individual district's budget funds into a common pool for use on a county-wide basis.

Several large districts would replace the many that currently exist in each county under provisions of the unification bill. Before becoming effective the measure must have the approval of the smaller districts.

Felix Wright, Silverton Union high school member, who was elected chairman of the Marion County School Board association, will serve on the state association board. He succeeds Delmer Davidson of the Jefferson area.

It was indicated last night that the directors would meet again while the 1957 legislature is in session.

Farm Bureau Directors for Proposition 1

"The adoption of Proposition 1 is a realistic approach to the tax problems facing the state of Oregon," the board of directors of the Oregon Farm Bureau Federation declared, following a meeting last week in Ontario, where the resolutions of the Federation's 8,000 members were studied.

"The progress of our state demands a level-headed approach to our tax laws. This measure would authorize legislators to place an emergency clause on any tax law and is a step in the right direction toward solving our tax problems. It is the kind of measure which would give the Legislature its rightful power without detracting from the power of the people to regulate its activity."

"The foreseeable financial picture of the state of Oregon can easily become serious, particularly to the real property taxpayers," the Directors stated, reaffirming the policy adopted by the Farm Bureau members last fall.

"Regarding the sales tax measure often referred to as a possible result of the adoption of Proposition 1, the Oregon Farm Bureau Federation is on record as favoring a retail sales tax with the following qualifications: Revenue from this source to be earmarked for educational purposes and property tax offset."

"Our resolutions further state," the directors reported, "that if such a tax is enacted that agriculture be defined in the statutes as a manufacturer and/or producer in order to eliminate duplicate or pyramiding taxation."

MacLaren Bid Over Estimate

The state Board of Control opened bids Tuesday on construction of a 100-inmate dormitory for MacLaren School for Boys and the lowest bid was about $75,000 more than the amount of money available.

The low bid, for $399,900, was submitted by Juhn & Sons, Portland.

The board probably will have to ask the state Emergency Board or the Legislature for the additional money.

There were nine bids. The next low bids were: Beebe Construction Co., Portland, $399,900, and Richard Martin Co., Oswego, $421,229.

The bids ranged up to $469,897.

Salem Priest On Committee

The Rev. Joseph Vanderbeck, pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic church has accepted an appointment from the State board of control as a member of the advisory committee on matters relating to MacLaren School of Boys and Hillcrest School for Girls.

The Salem pastor, succeeds Bishop Francis Leipsiz, Baker, who resigned after serving on the committee since its inception.

Baby Switch Causes Crash

BALLSTON (Special) — While driving from McMinnville to her Ballston home Saturday evening, Mrs. Bob Pattie lost control of her car while lifting a baby from the back to the front seat.

She was thrown against the steering wheel and received a broken jaw bone, broken nose and severe facial lacerations.

Her car went into a ditch and was completely demolished.

Two passengers riding with her were unharmed. Mrs. Pattie was taken to McMinnville for treatment.

Sitting at Home Won't Catch Your Man; Get Out and Mix

By MURIEL NISSEN
DEAR MURIEL: I'm 20 years old and don't have a boy friend. I don't drink, and some of the boys I've gone out with say that's why I don't make friends. So I sit around the house all the time. All the girls I know are engaged or married.

DEAR BILLIE: Not drinking won't prevent you from making friends, but sitting in the house all day will. The only way to meet people, girls or boys, is to go where people are.

RESINOL CONTAINS LANOLIN

DEAR MURIEL: Does a separation give either husband or wife the right to go out with others? A couple, very dear to me, are doing just that. It's a heartbreaking problem and I'd like to know what to do.

DEAR CRAIG: It looks to me if both parties were frantically trying to cover heartaches, Reconciliation would probably come if one or the other would bury a little pride.

DEAR MURIEL: My mother, who is 70 and in good health, has come to live with us. We love her, and she's a welcome addition to our family, but she assumes that our company is hers, too.

Whether the visitors are personal friends or business associates, she's on hand and doesn't leave the room until they have gone.

DEAR OPPIE: Many, many readers have the same problem. The easy way would be to have mother entertain her own guests when you have callers. The more difficult, but more effective, system would be to tell mother in advance that you're expecting people whom you would like to entertain privately. Make sure, however, that mother is in on some of the visits so she won't feel completely left out.

DEAR MURIEL: My husband's first marriage was dissolved when his wife decided she preferred someone else. This fellow later tossed her over, and she became very jealous of us. She tried to break us up, then played on the sympathies of my in-laws and succeeded in drawing them away from us. My husband is greatly hurt at his people's attitude.

DEAR BONNIE: This story has two sides and, of course, I have been given both. It doesn't seem possible that people would overlook the wretched treatment your husband received, which you detailed quite fully. If, however, they are still captivated by the lady's charm, you can only be patient and wait until they recognize your good qualities.

Write Muriel Nissen for free leaflet D-14 "Are You Sure It's Love?" If you have a problem, send it to her. In all cases, be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and send request to her, care of this newspaper.
