Homecoming at Willamette U. Attracts 400

Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Independent Town Women Winners

More than 400 alumni attended the 33rd annual homecoming observance at Willamette university Saturday featured by the naming of winners in the poster contest, a barbecue following the football game and a dance in the evening. Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity was winner in the men's division in the poster contest. The theme "Bears and Pound Puget Sound" which unfortunately wasn't carried out on the field, the Bears lost to the Sound 20 to 14. The winning men's sign showed a Bearcat rolling a log symbolizing a logger. The Independent Town Women's organization won in the coed category with a poster depicting a meal market in which a Bearcat was pounding a Logger into hamburger. The "Ugliest Man" contest was won by Frank Caruso, Olympia, Wash., sophomore, sponsored by Pi Beta Phi sorority. Each women's organization nominated a candidate for this contest.

Campaign That Began With a Roar Ends in a Whisper Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—The presidential campaign — one of the strangest and most ironic in history — began with a roar and ends in a whisper as Americans wind up more excited about events abroad than Tuesday's elections. President Eisenhower's main campaign theme — peace — ran up against the outbreak of fighting in Egypt and Hungary. He could still claim Americans weren't in it. He promised they wouldn't be "in these present hostilities." It's a promise he may not be able to keep if the fighting should spread. But Adlai Stevenson's main theme — that Eisenhower is no leader — forced voters to examine him and Eisenhower as leaders when the foreign crisis hit. It could in the end help Eisenhower. The sudden overseas violence, with its possibility of war, may make voters prefer Eisenhower, the experienced general, to Stevenson, whose only military experience was as a seaman in World War I.

They may have preferred him anyway. The polls all indicate that. But there is even an irony in this. Eisenhower has tried to sell the idea of a "new Republicanism." But reports from around the country seemed to show far more support for Eisenhower than the Republican party.

Democrats to Stage Rally

An election eve Democratic rally with Senator Richard Neuberger the featured speaker is scheduled Monday night at the Veterans of Foreign Wars hall beginning at 8 p.m. Speakers, including both state and local candidates will speak over an amplified telephone circuit connected with other Democratic rallies in the state. Jason Lee, seeking a seat in congress and Robert V. Thornton, running for re-election as attorney general, are two other speakers at the rally. Poll watchers will be assigned to virtually all Salem precincts by both the Republicans and Democrats Tuesday. An election watch party will be held at the Senator hotel Tuesday night, sponsored by the Marion-Polk Young Republican Federation.

Wins Scholarship

MOLLA (Special) — Gail Marine, 17 year old senior in Molalla high, received word that she is among the five winners in the state to receive a 4-H college scholarship, donated by Standard Oil Co. of California, in the sum of $200. The announcement was made by Oregon State college extension service this week. Gail has been a 4-H member eight years and now is a junior leader. The campaign — because there was some difference between Eisenhower and Stevenson on handling this one — was how to help farmers' income. But while both did a lot of traveling and talking on this early in the campaign, they showed it in the background as they got more entangled with each other on other things.

Dance, Banquet Of Contractors Set on Nov. 16

The annual banquet and dance of the Salem Contractors Exchange will be held Nov. 16 in the Marion hotel, with Joseph A. H. Dodd of the Portland Gas and Coke company as master of ceremonies. Awards to local craftsmen who have "contributed most to the betterment of construction in this area" will be awarded by the Salem Architectural Forum. One award will be for exposed or structural improvement and the other for concealed or mechanical improvement. Included in the program will be the appearance of four foreign exchange students, two boys and two girls, from Oregon State college. The two boys who are studying engineering will discuss construction in their native lands and the girls will compare fashions in the United States with those in their home countries. Dancing will begin at 9:30 p.m. Robert Arthur, a board member, is in charge of arrangements for the banquet. Other board members include Chairman M. L. Mills; Willis Hill; G. L. Simpson; Lester Purcell; Ward Merrifield; Robert Hansen; Vern Ratlaff; R. E. Lawrence and Clayton Gregg.

New Group Will Back Eisenhower

A group of Willamette valley educators and civic leaders have formed a committee of Arts and Sciences For Eisenhower, Dean Robert Gregg of Willamette university announced Monday. The local group, which Gregg said might jokingly be known as "Eggheads, for Eisenhower," is part of a national organization formed early in October to enlist scientists, artists, writers, dramatists, musicians and actors to back Eisenhower. Dr. Gregg attended a conference in Los Angeles last weekend where the aims of the organization were outlined. Seek to Retain Ike "While at the moment our efforts are towards retaining President Eisenhower in the White House," Dean Gregg said "we have a long range program aimed at perpetuating the President's policies. The movement also proves that leading intellectuals, facetiously referred to as 'eggheads' are solidly behind Ike," he said. With only a few days to work Dean Gregg has enlisted a long list of educators in the state headed by Dr. G. Herbert Smith, president of Willamette and including 21 faculty members of Willamette, eight of Linfield college and a number from Lewis and Clark college in Portland, headed by President Morgan S. O'Dell. Membership Told In addition to the Willamette faculty list, former Governor Charles A. Sprague, for many years an educator, has joined the group. The faculty list of members who are wearing the insignia bearing the letter "E" for Eisenhower include: Vice President Richard Petri, Deans Elmer Reich, Regina Ewalt, Seward Reese and Charles Paeth, director of admissions and his assistant, Richard Yokum, all of Willamette. Others from Willamette university who have enlisted in the movement include Dr. Charles Derthick, Dr. Henry Kohler, Prof. year. She is assisted by Mrs. Wayne Allen.

James Douglas, Prof. Richard M. Gillis, Prof. Howard Mader, Dr. Martha Springer, Prof. Lois Latimer, Dr. Marion Morange, Dr. Howard Runkel, Dr. Cecil Monk, Dr. Daniel Schulze, Dr. Robert M. Gatke, Mrs. Lucile B. Bartel, Registrar Harold B. Jory and E. Jerry Whipple, director of alumni and church relations.

Buses are being offered by St. Mary's and Cascade. The car club, Stayton high school and Cascade high school are offering transportation to the polls to those who need it.

Parents Hear City Schools' Music Plans

Explanation of Adult Education Given To Council

The music and adult education programs of the Salem public schools were explained by heads of these departments to the Salem Parent Council during a monthly meeting held last week. Dr. William Sweetman, director of music, in outlining the music program, pointed out that the vocal work extends from grade one through 12. The work in grades 7-12 are primarily elective while instrumental activity begins in grade four and continues through high school. It is entirely elective. The junior and senior high schools groups are primarily performing organizations, said Sweetman. About 10 of the elementary schools have special choruses, "all of which come together in the spring for a joint concert. The instrumental work is started with instruction in the upper elementary grades with work on the song flute. After a semester with this instrument, which is rented to parents by the district, the student and family are advised as to further work on music instruments. The junior symphony, now operating in its third year, is for a selective group of performers up to 21 years of age. This is a city-school-sponsored activity and open to any in the Salem area who can qualify. George D. Porter, supervisor of adult education, explained the importance of a high school diploma in the present technological age and pointed out that one could obtain high school graduation through this program.
