

Stevenson Bids South's Voters Stop Switching

RIDGELAND, S. C., (AP)—Adlai Stevenson says, "It's about time that a lot of people in the South decided whether they are Democrats or Republicans."

The defeated Democratic presidential candidate interrupted a hunting vacation here yesterday to attack Republican foreign policy.

He charged that the GOP has no effective policy for handling Soviet expansion in the Middle East.

"I have warned for three years," Stevenson told newsmen, "that the Eisenhower-Dulles foreign policy was headed for disaster and I wish I thought the administration had, even at this late date, some policy for restoring Allied unity in the Middle East."

Stevenson noted the strong backing given the Republicans in the South in the recent election and said the people of the South must decide to which party they belong.

"If they are Republicans," Stevenson declared, "they should candidly say so and work for that party. If they are Democrats, then they should return to that party and be a part of it."

Stevenson is visiting a plantation near here owned by the Marshall Field family of Chicago.

Judge Claims Bus Rule Not All-Inclusive

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A Supreme Court ruling against bus segregation applies only to Montgomery and is not automatically effective in the rest of Alabama or the South, a federal judge said yesterday.

U.S. Circuit Judge Richard T. Rives said the Nov. 13 decision that Alabama state and Montgomery city bus segregation laws are unconstitutional would set a precedent for similar cases in other places. But it will result directly in an injunction against enforcement of the laws only in Montgomery, he said.

On Monday Atty. Gen. Brownell called federal prosecutors from 14 Southern states to a Dec. 10 conference in Washington to discuss how to carry out the decision. He said it made clear that racial discrimination on buses is "a crime against the United States."

The Montgomery City Commission announced yesterday it would ask the Supreme Court for a rehearing on its decision. City officials indicated privately they were not holding out great hopes of stopping a court order.
