

Kaiser Plant In Spokane to Lay Off Some

SPOKANE — Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp., which has nearly 6,000 employees here, said Wednesday production curtailments and layoffs are likely by the weekend because of the power situation.

The Bonneville Power Administration announced earlier it will have to cut off the so-called "interruptible power" supplies by Friday because of low stream flows.

William A. Dittmer, power manager for Kaiser here, said efforts are being made to purchase steam power in Utah although costs are high. Forty-five per cent of the power at Kaiser's Mead reduction plant is furnished on an interruptible basis with the understanding it will be cut off first when supplies are low.

Mead has about 1,900 employees. Kaiser's Trentwood rolling mill about 4,000. Kaiser officials said they are resigned to the belief that some of the eight Mead pot lines will be idled by the power curtailment.

Pacific Northwest Alloys Co., which makes ferro alloys used in steel production, forecast similar curtailments after Friday. PNA has about 350 employees here.

He was reported to have been found lying on the living room floor by a neighbor.

His wife died in Santa Barbara last August. A brother, Ben W. Schubert, Boise, Idaho, survives. Arrangements will be made through Virgil T. Golden mortuary.

Betty has them buzzing!

Beats me how she does it! All those youngsters, that big house and everything as neat as a pin! Yet she has more free time than any of us! Give up, girls? Then I'll let the cat out of the bag. Betty's no superwoman! She simply finds the quickest, easiest way to do every household chore. For example, she uses new, longer-wearing Bruce Self-Polishing Wax on her floors. Cowboys and Indians? Betty doesn't care. She doesn't even groan when dad forgets to take off his grimy work shoes. Bruce's bright, hard shine resists scuffs and dirt. Wears much longer. Try it! Like Betty, you'll find new Bruce Self-Polishing Wax saves you time and hard work.

Wrong Way on One-Way Street Said Contributory Negligence

By JAMES D. OLSON, Capital Journal Writer

Traveling on a one-way against traffic and entering a through street without first stopping as held by the Oregon supreme court to be contributory negligence which bars a plaintiff's right of recovery no matter how negligent the defendant may have been made.

This ruling, written by Justice Walter L. Tooe, was given in connection with the denial of a petition for rehearing filed by Tony Senger of Portland in a case against the Vancouver-Portland Bus Co.

Boone Rd. But 40 Feet Wide

The official width of Market Road No. 90, more familiarly known as Boone road is 40 feet, according to a report presented by the district attorney's office to the county court.

The question of the road's width was recently brought up by the Portland General Electric company which wants the information so it can determine where to locate its high tension line.

In spite of the district attorney's ruling, the road apparently, by common consent had been fixed at 50 feet except for one piece of real property. This width was established during W.P.A. days when property owners petitioned the court to make Boone road a market road. In most instances line fences are back 25 feet from the center line of the right of way.

County Commissioner Roy Rice believes that the petition is sufficient evidence of the desire of the property owners. However, a perusal of the county records fails to reveal that there were any deeds involved.

Most of the W.P.A. records were placed in boxes and stored on the top floor of the old courthouse where they remained unclassified until the building was razed.

Planning Group Name Suggested

The Central Willamette Planning Council may be chosen as the name of the planning group recently organized here, but so far only on a temporary basis.

It had been suggested that the organization be known as the Salem Metropolitan Planning Council, but since it would be concerned with both Marion and Polk counties some members believe the other name would be more appropriate.

David W. Baker, engineer for the county planning commission, has prepared a map in which he uses the Central Willamette Valley name. The map shows Salem in the center of a circle with a radius of 16 miles where possibly most planning problems would originate. Near the edges of the radius and within the circle are Amity, Dallas, Jefferson, Stayton, Silverton and part of Woodburn.

However, the council, composed of heads of various local governmental bodies, such as county courts, school districts, planning commissions, utility districts, etc., would be concerned with planning problems in all parts of both counties.

Four Arrested After Hassel

The two Hornbecks and Wampler pleaded innocent and trial was set for December 14. Stein failed to show in court Wednesday.

Dragging for Body Given Up

Searchers have failed to recover the body of 27-year-old Gaylon Dwayne Amen, Salem, who drowned in the Willamette river Sunday near Wheatland ferry.

State police said the body apparently caught on a snag on the river bottom or was carried downstream by the current.

The drowned man's father, Earl B. Amen, 2320 South 12th St., suffered a possible heart attack Tuesday and was taken to Salem Memorial hospital where his condition is reported "fairly good."

Dragging was abandoned Tuesday evening after more than seven miles of the stream had been dragged.
