DENNIS THE MENACE - By Ketcham

"OH-OH! SHE'S LETTING HIM LOOSE AGAIN!"

INSIDE HOLLYWOOD - By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD—A star at 6, retired at 13, Luana Patten is making a comeback at 18, and doing right nicely, thanks.

Luana is the lovely Long Beach, Calif., lass who starred in Walt Disney films of a decade ago such as "Song of the South" and "So Dear to My Heart." She and Bobby Driscoll were the first human actors put under contract by Disney when he turned to live action films.

For five years, she and Bobby went to school on the Disney lot, acted in films and toured the country to help sell them. She did some radio and TV, then came to a wise decision.

"I was getting by in my studies," she said, "but it was hard to break off from acting and go to my lessons. I figured the important thing was for me to get an education without any outside interference. Then if I still wanted to be an actress, I could come back to it."

So she left her career at 13 and went back to school. Last June she graduated from Woodrow Wilson High School in Long Beach and notified her agent she was ready to work. Within a matter of days, she was signed to star in "Rock, Pretty Baby" at Universal-International and "Johnny
