

Appraisal of School Costs Due Tonight

A complete appraisal of the figures involved in the construction of the proposed two new junior high schools will be undertaken by the Salem school board during its meeting at 7:30 Thursday night at the administration building.

Although construction was tentatively agreed upon a week ago following a conference between Claude Post, contractor, and William I. Williams, architect, it later developed that building costs had not been sufficiently trimmed to come within the scope of the amount of money available.

Superintendent Charles Schmidt would not hazard a prediction as to what would be the result of tonight's deliberations. If a contract is signed with Viesko & Post, low bidders on the two schools, it probably will be on a "change order" basis.

Albany to Buy New South End School Property

ALBANY (Special)—The Albany District 5 school board voted Tuesday night to buy approximately 12 acres of land near the south end of Chicago street, for a school site.

Although no formal action was taken, several members of the board expressed the opinion that construction of a school on the site should start early in 1958.

The school, when built, is expected to take some of the pressure off Waverly and Sunrise schools.

The board voted to exercise its option to buy the site from A. J. Jacobs, Lebanon, for $16,000.

A. E. Palmer, district superintendent, reported that the 1956 school census showed a total of 3943 persons between the ages of 4 and 19. This is an increase of about 10 per cent over the 1954 total.

University Sings Mozart Requiem

Willamette university's chorus and orchestra presented Mozart's Requiem to an audience of several hundred persons Wednesday evening in the Fine Arts auditorium. The Requiem is a Latin composition, honoring the souls of the departed from this life. In harmony with the theme the singers wore black.

Willis Gates was the director. The soloists were Clorinda Topping, soprano; Marjorie Elmgreen Stapp, alto; Malvin H. Geist, tenor, and Don Gleckler, baritone.
