Bennett Gives OSC Routers Land in Jail For Stickup
Up to Police
 PORTLAND (UP)—Clifford O. Bennett, 34, indicted by the Multnomah county grand jury on three misdemeanor counts, surrendered to police here last night and said he had been asked last summer by a Portland underworld character to give perjured testimony.
 Bennett was indicted on charges of disturbing the public peace, of feeding public decency, and of injuring the public morals. He posted $300 bail.
 Bennett said he had been subpoenaed to testify last summer but was excused "until further notice." He said that an underworld figure appeared at his hotel the next day and asked him to testify he had given a bribe to a certain law officer. He said he refused.

INSIDE HOLLYWOOD

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—What will the new year bring to Hollywood? Take a look over my shoulder as I squint into the crystal ball. Here are my exclusive predictions of things to come in 1957—predictions that have proved 85 per cent fallible. No relief is in sight for the victims of long-stinted movies. Movies will be longer than ever. Maybe not as long as "The 10 Commandments."

But you'll be seeing more three-hour films. This will be the year of decision for Elvis Presley. The squarer has a big juvenile following, but the teen-agers are notoriously fickle fans. Presley will have to convince the adult audience that he has talent. This is a monumental task.

The standard film idols—the Holdens, Coopers, Stewarts, Lancasters—have nothing to worry about. Their earning power will continue undiminished, partly due to lack of competition. The studios have failed to build up rivals for the TV stars.

The era of the big studio operation will fade. Only one company, Columbia, still exists under one-man rule. More and more, the studios will be run by committees, with the bulk of the films made by outside producers. Efforts will be made to break out the backlogs of films made after 1948 and put them into TV. These have been held back because talent unions have contracts calling for a part of the take.

Producers will be looking for big, attention-getting subjects to copy the success of "Around the World in 80 Days." Among the big pictures of the year: "Rainbow County," "Sayonara," "South Pacific," "Andersonville," "Sleeping Beauty," "The Pride and the Passion," "Something of Value," "Island in the Sun," "A Farewell to Arms," "Face in the Crowd," "Pajama Game," "The Spirit of St. Louis," "No Time for Sergeants," "The Last Hurrah," "Pal Joey."

Yep, it looks like a good year for the picture business. Hope you have the same.

Edward Sturgeon Dies in Portland

PORTLAND (UP)—Edward Tyler Sturgeon, 67, since 1921 owner and president of Morrill and Sturgeon Lumber Co., died Sunday of cancer.

He was born in Chicago and lived at Pocatello Idaho, before coming to Oregon.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday.

TEXAN PROVES 'GENTILITY' Big Names Frolic At $125,000 Party

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—A Texas oil millionaire last night spent $125,000 on a party to prove that Texans can be genteel.

However as champagne flowed like oil the party proved only that one can have as much fun in a ruffled shirt as in cowboy boots.

David (Tex) Feldman, reportedly the wealthiest independent oil operator in the world, was the host for the blowout, the fanciest in Hollywood memory.

Feldman, whose income is estimated at 7 million dollars a year, said he tossed the party primarily for his wife, Jane, but admitted:

"I wanted to show the world that Texans can compete with the best in gentility."

Feldman took over Romanoff's Crown Room and Tom Douglas, noted architectural and interior designer, spent two days and $75,000 converting it into a Delmonico's of the early 1900's.

The party brought out some of the biggest names in the industrial, oil, movie and department store fields.

Go Slow, Linda, Your Office Sweetheart's Probably Wed

By DOROTHY DIX

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I'm 16 and desperately in love with a co-worker ten years my senior. I don't know whether he's married or not, but by his attitude, I'd say he was definitely interested. I can't decide whether he regards me as a kid around the office, or as a potential girl friend. How can I tell?—Linda.

DEAR LINDA: A definite interest doesn't necessarily mean he's free to follow it up. Perhaps you're getting lesson No. 1 in how to tell the wolves from the lambs. While you're in a learning mood, take up the difference between "desperate love" and a crush. The latter, I think, is your trouble. Treat the man as an office associate and nothing more. If he is available, and wants to give encouragement, he knows how!

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: From first grade on Hal and I were friends. It was almost certain that we'd marry some day, but he had to marry another girl after she became pregnant. He doesn't love her, and after the baby is born he's going to leave. I love him more and more but am afraid he won't get the divorce.—Lina L.

DEAR LINA: The young man seems to have enough on his hands without your loving interference. Get lost!

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I'm 17 and in love with two boys, one a sailor and the other a soldier. At present, I'm engaged to the soldier, but think I really love the sailor most.—Mixed-Up.

DEAR MIXED-UP: Don't decide until you see what the Marines and the Air Force have to offer! Break the engagement and keep looking.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: The man I love is an army career man, married but separated from his wife, who, by the way, is his third. He claims he's getting a divorce, but doesn't know when. Should I wait until he has legally separated from his wife before I continue dating him, or try to forget him altogether? I feel that either way I'm going to get hurt.—Gertie.

DEAR GERTIE: You're a wise girl to realize that you'll get battle scars no matter how the romance turns out. Which is better, a hurt that will last the rest of your life, or a bit of heartache that will end very soon?

To come down to fundamentals, the choice is between right and wrong. I hope you won't hesitate.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I'm an attractive girl of 16. I don't go out on many dates, not because I'm not asked, but because I'm too fussy about boy friends. I don't want to sound snobbish, but I was brought up in a rather high society and like escorts who are pleasant in looks and personality. Do you think this is a poor trait that I must correct, or is it all right?—Clarice.

DEAR CLARICE: At least you're completely honest with me and yourself. I should think that in your 16 years you'd have seen and read enough to realize that "high society" is not the standard by which people are rated—at least in this country.

Better become well acquainted with the Social Register; it may be the only companion you'll have in later years, unless you learn to evaluate people at their true worth.
