

PCC Schedules Decisive Hoop Series This Weekend

Bruins Vs. Huskies Bears Vs. Beavers

WSC at Stanford, Idaho at USC Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Basketball battling in the Pacific Coast Conference gets down to decisive cases Friday night and Saturday with the clash at Seattle of Washington and UCLA, two of the three top teams.

UCLA, with a 6-0 record, seeks its 22nd consecutive PCC victory, a feat that would break the record established by a Washington team in 1943-44.

The Huskies, beaten only by Stanford in PCC play, go into the series with a 7-1 conference mark.

The third team of the "big three"—California—plays at Oregon State. The Bears of Cal have had only one game in 20 days and coach Pete Newell wonders how the rest will affect his squad. His injured list includes forward Don McIntosh and guard Bernie Simpson. And forward Larry Friend is recovering from a cold.

In other series, Idaho is at Southern California and Washington State at Stanford.

Most of the interest centers at Seattle and Corvallis.

Washington's Huskies have the one-two punch of 6-10 Burno Boin and 6-8 Doug Smart. UCLA counters with one of the best balanced quintets the hoop has seen.

In scoring, the Bruins had a slight edge, 71 per game to 69.6 for the Huskies. But where Boin with 18 and Smart with 16.6 are the only Washington players averaging more than 10 points per game, all five UCLA starters have 10 or better. Center Ben Rogers leads Bruin scorers with 12.

The two top scorers of the conference, Larry Beck of Washington State at 22.9 and Bill Bond of Stanford with 19.9, will meet at Palo Alto.

Oregon State counts on Dave Gambee, tied for third in the scoring race with Danny Rogers of USC, to pace the attack against California. And Cal's new-ell expects trouble, saying: "UCLA has its best balanced team in years, but OSC played well against the Bruins Saturday night after switching to a zone defense. With their height and on their home court, they'll be plenty tough."

Newell is expected to alternate Ev McKenn, a 6-3 junior, and Jack Grout, a 6-5 sophomore, in the forward position usually filled by McIntosh. Sophomore Joe Kamp, the football quarterback, will probably spell Friend.

March of Dimes Golfers to Play Against Mason

Early finishers in the March of Dimes benefit at the Salem Golf course were giving club pro Bunny Mason some tough scores to beat. Headed by Ed Roth with a net 65, 11 golfers had notched scores of 68 or better in the annual sweepstakes tourney.

The golfers are matching their net scores—gross minus handicap—against the gross round Mason will fire later. All golfers who defeat Mason will win prizes, as 13 did last year.

To date 21 golfers have signed up for the special match and additional players may register and play their rounds through Sunday of this week. Entry fee proceeds will be turned over to the March of Dimes campaign.

Golfers who posted 67s in the sweepstakes were Jerry Peck, 73; 6; Paul Hicks, 84-17; Henry Hohenweiner, 79-12; Hunt Clark, 80-13; Howard Wicklund, 82-15; and Vern McMullen, 73-6.

Scoring net 68s were Otis Berry, 73-5; Jerry Carson, 72-4; Lloyd Mason, 81-13; and John R. Wood, 72-4.

Boxer Relates Charge of Fix

LOS ANGELES (UP)—"Go down and stay down in the fourth," those were his instructions from Art Aragon, third-ranking welterweight, prior to a bout scheduled for Dec. 18, in San Antonio, Tex., boxer Dick Goldstein testified Thursday.

Aragon, the "golden boy" of Los Angeles fight circles, is charged with fight fixing. The bout never came off, Aragon, 29, cancelled out on the day of the fight because of a fever.

Goldstein, 26, of Los Angeles, told a jury of six men and six women Thursday that Aragon summoned him to his North Hollywood home Dec. 8.

"He told me that only on one condition would I get the fight—that I go down in the fourth," he testified.

"It was to come out and box the first round, take a knockdown in the second and go down and stay down in the fourth."

Goldstein, who formerly boxed out of Seattle under the name Dick Siefert, said that his end of the purse for the San Antonio fight was to be $750, and that Aragon promised to give him additional money.

Aragon has denied asking Goldstein to take a dive. As the trial began he told newsmen: "I welcome this chance to be publicly exonerated."

Machamer Unpushed In Northwest Loop

Linfield Ace Has 25.8 Average; Riley 2nd

Bill "Hinges" Machamer, although limited to 36 points by Pacific in his two latest games, remains far ahead of all other Northwest conference basketball scorers.

In eight starts, Machamer has poured in 206 points, an average of 25.8. He has connected on 39 of 103 field goals attempts and on 60 of 81 free throws.

For the entire season, Machamer now possesses 407 points in 16 games.

Still runners-up to Machamer in conference scoring is his pint-sized teammate, Jack Riley, with 147 points in eight Linfield games, an 18.5 average.

Bourgeois Third
Tom Bourgeois of Pacific has advanced to third place with a 15.8 average, on 142 points in nine games. Duane Brady, LC, stands fourth, with 15.1, on 136 in nine.

Dick Brown, Linfield, has the No. 1 field shooting percentage among regulars—52.9, on 18 field goals in 34 tries. Bourgeois has 51.5, on 53 for 103.

At the free throw line, six players own perfect records for a few attempts. Gary Moore, College of Idaho, has an 85.6 average, on six for seven. The real leaders, however, are Don Hoy, Willamette,

Switch Lead Boxer to Be On TV Bout

NEW YORK (UP)—Imagine the confusion among hatters if Don Newcombe would throw one pitch right-handed and the next left-handed? That's how opponents of Isidro Martinez feel when the featherweight from Panama starts switching styles.

Bobby Courchesne, a rough and ready young man from Holyoke, Mass., will try to solve Martinez's bewildering moves Friday night in a 10-round match at Madison Square Garden.

The 22-year-old switch hitter from the Canal Zone puzzled Ike Chestnut, a ranking featherweight, to win a unanimous decision at Washington, Jan. 4. The fight came just in time for Martinez, whose manager, Manuel Alfaro, had been sheltering him since September without a fight. He was ready to send him back home when the break came.

Alfaro says Martinez even mixes "em up at the dinner table, and writes his name left-handed one time and rightie the next.

Courchesne never could be called a ring stylist. He wades in, winging away, willing to take on to land one. It could be that Martinez's style won't bother him at all. Bobby will have to pair down to make the weight for the match as he has been up around 135 pounds for recent starts and Martinez is a 127-pounder.

USC Hires End Coach Clark To Succeed Hill as Head Man

LOS ANGELES (UP)—A year's search for a football coach at the University of Southern California has ended with the selection of Don Rex Clark, an assistant to Jess Hill for the last six years. Hill advances to the post of athletic director this summer.

Clark is 33 and is assuming a head coaching job for the first time. He was a first year guard for the Trojans, served with the 99th Division in World War II, won a battlefield commission in the Battle of the Bulge, played two years of pro football with the San Francisco 49ers, was drafted by Eddie Erdelatz of the Navy to design defense patterns, then persuaded to come back to USC by Hill.

That Trojan athletic official has confidence in Clark's ability is evidenced by the four-year contract he was given. The salary was not disclosed. Earl Bolton, university vice president, said he fully expects Clark to become "one of the outstanding young coaches of the nation."

Most of the talent from last year's team is gone and Clark will have to develop reserves to augment what seems to be a fairly good first team, although there are no tried and tested backs.

The FBI Story

CHAPTER 29 'Crime Worse Than Murder'

The British announced the arrest of Klaus Fuchs, the atomic scientist, on Feb. 3, 1950. Julius Rosenberg came to the Green-glass apartment and asked David to go for a walk.

"You remember the man who came to see you in Albuquerque?" Julius asked. "Well, Fuchs was also one of his contacts." He figured that Harry Gold would be caught next, and that Greenglass had better leave the country.

After Gold's arrest, Julius urged David to leave as soon as possible. He gave David traveling instructions and $5,000 in cash. But Greenglass didn't go. Greenglass testified that his wife used $1,000 of the money to pay household bills; $4,000 he sent to his lawyer after his arrest.

Three Indicted
Julius and Ethel Rosenberg and David Greenglass were indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of conspiracy to commit espionage. Greenglass pleaded guilty and received a 15-year prison sentence. The Rosenbergs pleaded not guilty.

The trial opened on March 6, 1951, in the United States court house in Foley Square, New York. The judge was Irving Robert Kaufman, who, at 40, was the youngest federal jurist in the United States.

Judge Kaufman made it clear from the first that he was aware of the profound implications in the case—the chances that prejudices, religious or political, might color a juror's thinking either for or against the defendants. He questioned prospective jurors closely. Where he noted the slightest doubt of objectivity or any reluctance to serve, the prospect was excused by the judge himself.

'Sordid, Dirty Work'
The jury found the Rosenbergs guilty of violating the Espionage statute, which provided that those found guilty "shall be punished by death or by imprisonment for not more than 30 years."

The courtroom was hushed on the day Judge Kaufman was to pass sentence—April 5, 1951: "Espionage, as viewed here today, is rather a sordid, dirty work—but however idealistic are the rationalizations of the persons who engaged in it—with but one paramount theme, the betrayal of one's own country."

I consider your crime worse than murder. Plain deliberate contemplated murder is dwarfed in magnitude by comparison with the crime you have committed.

Long Deliberation
"What am I about to say is not easy for me. I have deliberated for hours, days and nights. I have carefully weighed the evidence. I have searched the records—I have searched my conscience—to find some reason for mercy."

"It is not in my power, Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, to forgive you. Only the Lord can find mercy for what you have done... you are hereby sentenced to the punishment of death."
