

Feyrer Park Work Assured Near Molalla

Recreation Area to Be North of Dickey Prairie

MOLALLA (Special) — A deed signed by the heirs of the late Gottlieb and Katherine Feyrer is in the hands of Clackamas county park commission, after nearly a year of negotiations that will in the near future give Molalla a county-maintained park, practically at its back door.

The land, which includes between 15 and 16 acres, lies to the north of Dickey Prairie bridge. The only stipulation made by those who signed the deed is that the park be named Feyrer Memorial park, in memory of their late parents who were pioneer settlers in the community.

This is one of nine such projects under surveillance for the past year and it will be one of five to be developed later in the season. Outdoor fireplaces, benches and tables will be provided, after clearing of brush and debris, reports Earl R. Worthington, chairman of the park commission.

MEET THE LEGISLATORS

SEN. RUDIE WILHELM

Senator Rudie Wilhelm, Jr., a Republican holdover is one of the best versed men on taxation in the Oregon senate. He served on the senate committee on taxation and assessment in 1955 and was chairman of the legislative interim tax study committee. He is a member of the senate tax committee again this session.

Senator Wilhelm first came to the Oregon legislature as a house member. He served in four house sessions, the last as speaker in 1953.

He was born in Portland March 18, 1914, and attended public schools there. He majored in political science at Reed college and recently a BA degree in 1937.

Sen. Wilhelm entered the army air force in 1942 as a private and left late in 1945 as a major. He married Betty Pray and they have three daughters and a baby son.

He is a member of various Republican organizations, the Portland City club, Drymanns & Warehousemen's association, Arlington club, Multnomah club and Portland Golf club. Started travel hobby at age 16 as an American Mail Line $1 a day "cadet."

Has been associated with his father and brother in Rudie Wilhelm warehouse and drayage business and manages the warehouse division.

SEN. MONROE SWEETLAND

One of the five Democrat senators who served in the Oregon Senate during the 1955 session, Monroe Sweetland now finds himself one of 13 Democrats serving in the upper chamber. Sen. Sweetland publishes the Milwaukie Review, a weekly newspaper and formerly published papers in Molalla and Newport. For the past eight years he has published the monthly Oregon Democrat. He has been member of Oregon delegation of the past four Democratic national conventions. He was Democratic National Committeeman for eight years.

In his early political life Sen. Sweetland was closely associated with Socialist Norman Thomas and served as executive secretary of Oregon Commonwealth Federation. After federal and war-year service, he returned to Oregon for 10 years of struggle that ended with a whopping Democratic victory in Oregon last Nov. 6.

Sen. Sweetland was born in Salem, Jan. 20, 1910. His father was venerable Dr. Sweetland, for many years athletic director of Willamette University. He is married to Lillie McGrath. They have two daughters, Barbara, 20, and Rebecca 3.

He is a member of Americans for Democratic Action, North Clackamas Chamber of Commerce, Portland City club and Methodist church.
