

Brownlee Not Low Dam, IP Tells Senators

Brownlee Dam, under construction on the Snake river by the Idaho Power company, will be five and half times higher than Oregon's state capitol including the top of the Pioneer statue.

This was the statement made by R. P. Parry, attorney for the company, to show that the dams planned by his company are not actually "low dams," at a meeting of senate state and federal affairs committee Wednesday.

"Oxbow dam, one of our three projected dams would be three times higher than the state capitol here while the proposed government dam at Hell's Canyon would be four times higher," Parry said.

Testimony both in favor and against a memorial urging congress to appropriate funds for Hell's Canyon dam was very much like testimony given before the house state and federal affairs committee about 10 days ago.

Sen. Monroe Sweetland, (D) Milwaukie, opened Wednesday's meeting with a statement claiming the people of Oregon by their vote last November indicated they wanted a federal high dam at Hell's Canyon as part of an integrated development of the Columbia river basin. This, he said, the people

Miss Lemcke Gets Voiture Scholarship

Each year the Marion County Voiture No. 152, 40 et 8, provides a scholarship for a Salem high school girl who wishes to take up nursing as a life's career.

Miss Shirley Ann Lemcke, 18, daughter of Mrs. Florence Lemcke, 4725 Swegle Rd., and a graduate of South Salem high of 1956 is in her first year's training at Good Samaritan hospital, Portland, under the scholarship plan.

The Voiture underwrites the tuition expense and provides spending money in addition.

Realizing that the program is an important one, the 40 et 8 plans to provide two scholarships to June graduates.

The school administration and the Marion County Medical Society select the candidates.

On the national level, the 40 et 8 provides some 3,500 nursing scholarships.

Beneath Detroit there are salt deposits 1,130 feet deep which are estimated to be 300 million years old, says the National Geographic Society.

Parry said stoppage of work on Brownlee, scheduled to be completed next year, would throw 1000 men out of work.

Student Nurse

Miss Ann Lemcke, graduate of South Salem high school, receives a nursing scholarship from Fred Paulus, grand chef de gar of the 40 et 8 in Oregon. The scholarship is provided by the local Voiture.
