

Russ Missile Threat Spurs British Arms

Commons OKs Defense Policy After Grim Warning

LONDON (AP)—The British government says the Soviet Union is developing a nuclear-headed rocket that can climb more than 100 miles into space at speeds of more than 5,000 miles an hour.

To prevent possible attack by such weapons, Defense Minister Duncan Sandys told the House of Commons, Britain must be prepared to meet it with devastating retaliation.

After hearing Sandys' report, the House voted 202-243 in support of the month-old Macmillan government's defense policies. The vote followed party lines. An opposition Laborite motion to censure the government charged waste and mismanagement in defense.

Warning that this country might "soon be open to attack by ballistic rockets," Sandys said:

"There is every reason to believe the Russians have been developing a much enlarged version of the German V2 rocket but with the enormous difference that it will carry a nuclear warhead, and with a range sufficient to reach Britain from launching sites within Soviet-controlled territory."

Sandys said he is confident a defense can be provided against weapons of the type he described, but added "it would be absurd to pretend such defense measures could be evolved quickly."

The defense minister also told the Commons (1) atomic bombs are in steady production in Britain, (2) the Royal Air Force is equipped with a substantial stock of A-bombs and (3) Britain has almost completed development of its first "megaton" bomb, the technical term usually applied to the hydrogen bomb.

Sandys emphasized the importance of continued cooperation with the United States in the weapons field.

House Blocks Deduction of Dues to Union

Labor-backed legislators revolted Wednesday against a bill that would have permitted the state to deduct union dues from wages of state employees.

With Democrats leading the way, the House soundly whipped the proposal, sponsored by Rep. Sam Wilderman (R), Portland, by a vote of 39 to 18. Twenty-one Democrats joined 18 Republican opponents, while two Republicans went along with the 16 Democrats who voted approval.

Rep. Richard Groener (D), Milwaukie, opened the attack on the bill, asserting that payroll deductions "are reaching a point where eventually we'll be paying all the workers' bills."

Rep. George Layman (R), Newberg, said "the state opened the door to wholesale deductions two years ago when it approved withholdings for the United Fund. Where do we stop?"

Rep. Robert A. Bennett (R), Portland, who led an unsuccessful fight in the Legislature several years ago to prevent the state from withholding income taxes from paychecks, said he had been paying union dues for 50 years.

"If you have the right kind of a union, the members will pay their dues themselves," he said.

Bennett said he is preparing a bill to repeal the state withholding tax law.

Wilderman said he introduced the bill because he felt the deduction "would be a convenience for state workers."

Army Hangs 2 Soldiers for '53 Slayings

FT. LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (AP)—The Army hanged two soldiers early today for separate slayings almost four years ago in Germany and North Carolina.

They were Winfred D. Moore, Virginia Beach, Va., and Thomas J. Edwards, Ardmore, Okla., both 23-year-old Negroes.

They went to their deaths calmly without any last words.

They wore regulation olive drab uniforms without insignia.

The executions were carried out at the Army's disciplinary barracks at Ft. Leavenworth.

A general court-martial at Ft. Bragg, N. C., sentenced Moore to death after convicting him of slaying Charles Pettit, a cab driver, on June 30, 1953. Pettit was slain in the course of a robbery at the military post.

Moore's wife, Patricia, lives at Columbus, Ga. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Moore of Virginia Beach.

Edwards was convicted of the slaying of a German girl at Kitzingen, Germany, in March 1953. His wife, a daughter, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry N. Edwards, live at Ardmore.
