ARCHER WITH AMBITION

Say-did you read about this character who is now in Africa with the intention of polishing off an elephant with a bow and arrow? His bow will be one that requires plenty of muscle to pull-it's a 102pounder.

The archer, who'll win himself $10,000 if he gets his tusker, will shoot regular broadheads, and he prefers plain old cedar arrows. Sounds real daring-but we'll just bet at least a pair of "white bunters" will be backing him up when he lets fly. We understand that if an African guide loses a hunter, he also loses his license.
