

MEET THE LEGISLATORS

REP. RAY DOOLEY

Rep. Ray Dooley, (D) Portland, no relation of Speaker Pat Dooley, has long been active in politics. He once was a Republican.

Rep. Dooley was a top vote-getter in May primaries, possibly due to name familiarity with Pat Dooley.

A veteran of World War I, Rep. Dooley has been active in American Legion and is past national grand officer of 40-6-8, the Legion's fun organization. He also belongs to Portland lodge of Elks. For many years, he was auto driver examiner in Portland office of secretary of state.

Rep. Dooley was born in Portland June 12, 1897, attended Portland schools and graduated from business college. He is married but has no children. He is now engaged in insurance business and adjustment of insurance claims.

Having held a number of important legislative posts, Rep. Dooley is familiar with legislative procedures and is showing effort to become effective member of lower house. He serves on house alcoholic control committee, public health and on welfare and financial institutions committees.

REP. FAYETTE BRISTOL

Rep. Fayette I. Bristol, (R), Grants Pass, is another newcomer to the Oregon legislature. He has been prominently connected with the mining industry in Southern Oregon and is owner and manager of the Bristol Silica company of Rogue River. Earlier he was engaged in gold mining in Colorado and oil development in Kansas.

He is a member of the board of directors of the American Mining Congress and has been president of the Oregon Mining association since 1947.

Rep. Bristol is credited with major part of obtaining government chrome ore deposit at Grants Pass. He has served term on Grants Pass city council.

He was born April 19, 1906 at Hillsdale, Mich. He came to Willamina, Ore., to manage Oregon Lime Products Co.

Rep. Bristol married Esther Platt of St. Joseph, Mo., in 1934; they have two children. He is active in Bethany Presbyterian church, Grants Pass, and is a Roman.

Demo Chiefs Assail Foreign Policy, Ask Civil Rights Speedup

Press for Quick Hawaii-Alaska Statehood

By JIM THOMAS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Resolutions prodding Congress to enact civil rights legislation at its present session, denouncing the Eisenhower-Dulles foreign policy and demanding quick statehood for both Hawaii and Alaska were announced as the final actions of national Democratic party leaders at their first West Coast meeting.

Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler said the meetings of the national committee, its advisory council and other leaders were held here as a tribute to the West, which scored election gains that gave the Democratic party control of Congress.

The resolutions were adopted in closed sessions of the advisory council.

The civil rights resolution urged passage "during this first session of the 85th Congress of legislation embodying civil rights planks in the 1956 Democratic platform."

Specifically mentioned were elimination of discrimination on the right to vote and to engage in gainful occupations.

No mention was made in the resolution of the Supreme Court desegregation decision or of violence which has followed in some Southern states.

The platform referred to the decision and put the party directly in support of the high court.

Former Sen. Herbert H. Lehman of New York, a member of the advisory council, flayed the Republican administration in a statement for what he called the "leading of moral authority" to disregard of the Supreme Court decision in the South.

Asked what reaction he anticipated from Southern congressmen or party leaders, Butler said that since the resolution only reaffirmed and asked for action the party "would be justified in objecting to it."

He added the resolution had been opposed in the advisory council only by Mrs. Leonard Thomas of Alabama, an alternate member of the Democratic committee's National Executive Committee. Mrs. Thomas did not want any statement on civil rights, Butler said.

The two Southern members, Camille F. Gravelle Jr., Alexandria, La., national committee member, and Mrs. Benjamin B. Everett, national committeewoman from Palmyra, N.C., both voted for the resolution.

Adlai Stevenson, the 1956 Democratic presidential nominee, who sat with the council, referred to civil rights only once in his speech to a $50 Democratic dinner Saturday night. He "hoped and prayed" that Congress would pass civil rights legislation "with overwhelming Democratic support and without filibuster and parliamentary harassment."

Stevenson's remarks on foreign affairs were stronger than those adopted by the council. Butler and both Stevenson and Gov. Averell Harriman of New York approved the foreign policy resolution, which said:

"In the Middle East our foreign policy has served to bring us to the point of dangerous crisis since the war. Russian influence has penetrated the Middle East for the first time in history. Israel is isolated. The Suez Canal is still closed, its future unsettled. The economy of Western Europe is threatened by the fuel shortage. Our great Western Alliance, which is indispensable to our security, is endangered."

Saturday night Stevenson assailed "the administration's rock 'n' roll diplomacy" and advocated action—"even at the risk of war"—to bring peace to the Middle East and to open the Suez Canal to all traffic.

Swigert Hits At Ike Budget

NEW YORK (AP)—Ernest Swigert, president of the National Assn. of Manufacturers, and Perry M. Shoemaker, president of the New York State Chamber of Commerce, Sunday assailed President Eisenhower's proposed budget of 72 billion dollars.

Swigert, a manufacturer at Portland, Ore., called the budget "extravagant and inflationary."

He said his association has "spelled out in detail" how at least eight billion dollars could be cut.

Shoemaker, president of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad, said the budget has "shocked businessmen everywhere." He called it inflationary and "misleading."

Rain Drenches Texas Drought Areas

4-Inch Deluge Said Heaviest In 6-7 Years

Eight Deaths Blamed on Weather; None Hurt By Tornado

DALLAS (AP)—Heavy rains drenched the drought-seared Texas Big Bend country, the lower South Plains and parts of the lower Rio Grande Valley over the weekend and more rain was forecast for today.

At least eight deaths, including seven traffic fatalities, were blamed on the weather.

A southwest Texas county agent called the rains the best in his area in seven years. But State Agriculture Commissioner John White said the precipitation was not general enough to be considered even a partial break in the long drought.

He did say the rains in some parts approached a more normal pattern for February for the first time in six or seven years.

Almost all of the country around Alpine received an average of half an inch yesterday after Saturday's downpours that ranged up to nearly 4 inches.

Light rains also fell yesterday at Brownsville. Streets were temporarily flooded in that Rio Grande Valley city Saturday when a 4-inch rain soaked the area.

Frank Newsom, county agent for Jeff Davis and Brewster counties in far west Texas, said the rains in his area were the biggest ever recorded for February or at least as far as he could remember.

"The value is unknown because this country normally does not receive rainfall in February, March and April," Newsom said. He called the rains the best overall precipitation in the area in at least seven years.

A small tornado struck the Stuart community near Harlingen in the Rio Grande Valley. It knocked over small buildings, trees and utility poles, but no one was injured.

Hungary Adds Party Control To New Army

BUDAPEST (AP)—Hungary's new army will be rigidly supervised by Communist political commissars, like Russia's Red army in its early years.

Plans to rebuild the army, which fell apart in the October revolution, were announced yesterday by the new high command. The new chief of staff is a colonel, Ferenc Uzzai, and the head of the political department a major general, Pal Ilku.

Before the October revolt, the Russian-trained Hungarian army of 170,000 men had political commissars whose job was to supervise the ideology of the troops.

Military men were in charge but had political advisers. Many soldiers and officers joined the revolt led by students and workers. Officers were taken back after the Russians crushed the revolt only if they signed a statement supporting the Russian intervention.

In an interview with the Communist party organ Nepszabadsag, Gen. Ilku said the powers of the political commissars will be strengthened in the new army. They will outrank everyone except the military deputies to the commanders.

"They will be able to make their voices heard on the plans drafted by the commanders for entire units before those plans are issued as orders," the general said.

This appeared to follow the plan of organization of the Red army after the Bolshevik Revolution, when all military orders had to be countersigned by the commissars. The purpose was to keep a tight rein on the many officers who were veterans of the old Czarist army.

Two Youths Die in Speed Chase Crash

VANCOUVER, Wash.—Two teen-age Seattle boys were killed here early Sunday when their stolen car crashed into the north end of the Interstate bridge at 110 miles per hour. The youths, Timothy Wade Fisk, 19, and Dean E. Watson, 16, both of Seattle, were unable to make a curve and crashed into a concrete pillar while being chased by state police. (AP Wirephoto)

ALBANY MAN, TOT KILLED

Eight Die in Wrecks

By UNITED PRESS
At least eight persons died accidentally in Oregon during the weekend, six as the result of traffic mishaps and two in a plane crash.

In addition, two Seattle teen-age boys were killed when a car slammed into the Washington side of the Interstate Bridge near Portland at a high speed.

Harold Dean Royce, 24, Albany, was killed last night when his car crashed into the rear of a loaded hay truck two miles east of Lebanon. Police said the impact of the crash knocked the truck and its load of baled hay an estimated 200 feet.

In Albany Saturday, three-year-old Stephen Lee Farmer was killed when he was struck by a backing car in a food store parking lot.

Motorcyclist Killed
David Delbert France, 22, Dufur, was killed Saturday afternoon when the motorcycle he was riding and a car collided on the Dalles-Columbia highway about five miles south of its junction with Highway 30.

Injured fatally in Friday night accident were Norman Sabin, 28, Klamath Falls, who died when he was crushed under his car after a jack gave way, and Clarence Elston Cabbage, 32, Portland, whose parked car was struck by another vehicle while he was putting license plates on his car.

State police said Leo F. Blanton, Powers, died Saturday from injuries suffered Friday when a log truck load spilled on top of his truck.

Police said each guest was charged 3 cents for admission to William's birthday party—an all-you-can-eat-and-drink affair. Riders who testified before magistrate Elias Myers said they seized whiskey, wine and beer as evidence.

Myers attacked "sardine parties" where as many people as possible crowd into apartments as "festering places for juvenile crime."

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A mother and her 19-year-old son who squeezed 100 teen-agers into their two-room apartment for a "sardine party" were held in $1,000 bail each for the grand jury.

Mrs. Emma Grant, 35, and her son, William, were charged with illegal liquor sales and disorderly conduct. She was charged with contributing to the delinquency of minors.

Rackets Probe Detects Fraud In Nine Cities

McClellan Says More Than 6 Unions Are Involved

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate probes, digging for evidence of racketeering in labor and industry, say they have uncovered signs of widespread fraud and other abuses.

Reporting this yesterday, Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) said investigators are at work in nine cities. He said more than six unions are involved. He predicted the inquiry would turn up evidence to warrant criminal charges.

Speaks on TV
McClellan is chairman of a special Senate committee set up to handle the labor-management racketeering inquiry. He discussed the situation on the ABC television program Press Conference.

He said six months of investigations have produced indications of fraud in many places. Evidence of racketeering "extended plumb out to the West Coast," he said.

Among problems the committee will deal with are labor-management collusion, racketeer control of some unions, misuse of union and welfare funds, violence, shakedowns, conflict of interest by officials, and deprivation of civil rights and liberties of union members.

Portland, Seattle Probed
McClellan said New York, Philadelphia, Scranton, Pa., Chicago, Minneapolis, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Ore., and Seattle, Wash., have been investigated.

Unions under study were listed as the teamsters, carpenters, operating engineers, plumbers and steamfitters, Allied Industrial Workers and other groups in the building trades.

On another TV interview, AFL-CIO president George Meany said that up to the present time "he has had no evidence of any wrongdoing by international officers of the Teamsters Union. If such evidence should be developed, he would take action."

Next Monday, the McClellan committee plans to open public hearings on alleged links between some Teamster Union officials and racketeers dealing in gambling and prostitution in Portland, Ore.

Ike's Secretary Will Speak at GOP Dinner
PORTLAND (AP)—President Eisenhower's secretary, Bernard M. Shanley, will be principal speaker Thursday night at the Republican Party's fund-raising dinner here.

Shanley has held the secretarial post the past two years. In the 1952 campaign, he was a member of the Eisenhower advisory committee.

On Oct. 27, 1950, Mrs. Ralph H. VanDeman made a four-minute flight at College Park, Md. She was the first woman to fly as a passenger in an airplane. Wilbur Wright was her pilot.

Sinatra's Lawyer To Fight Subpoena

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Frank Sinatra's lawyer said he would seek today to quash a subpoena reportedly summoning the singer to tell a state senate committee what he knows about an alleged private detective raid in the divorce of Joe DiMaggio and Marilyn Monroe.

Attorney Martin Gang said he also would seek "punishing" legal action against three men who allegedly entered the bedroom of Sinatra's Palm Springs, Calif., home early Saturday morning to serve the singer with the summons.

"It was in violation of Sinatra's civil rights," Gang said. "I think those men should be arrested and punished for trespassing. Why, someone might have been killed. Suppose Frank had had a gun? There have been two burglaries at his house recently, you know."

The summons reportedly asked Sinatra to testify Feb. 27 before the Business and Professional Committee of the state legislature to tell what he knows about an alleged raid on an apartment by private detectives two years ago to gather evidence for DiMaggio's divorce from Miss Monroe.

The committee is investigating possible links between private detective agencies and "expose" magazines. Last September, "Confidential" magazine carried a story about the breakup of the baseball immortal and pin-up film star, and Sinatra himself has been the subject of "expose" magazine stories.

DiMaggio, contacted at a Miami Beach, Fla., hotel, declined to discuss the matter except to say that "the whole thing is ridiculous." Committee members had not yet been reached for comment.
