Cary Grant's Wife Discloses Experiences in Doria Escape

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Today for the first time, actress Betsy Drake disclosed her experiences in escaping from the Andrea Doria in last year's ship disaster.

The wife of Cary Grant, Miss Drake has shunned the spotlight in recent years. Although one of the famous survivors of the Andrea Doria, she was not interviewed after the sinking.

"I was too busy taking care of a friend who had been injured," she explained. The friend was Mrs. Camille Cianfarra, wife of the New York Times man who lost his life in the collision with the Stockholm. Their daughter was transferred to the Stockholm in the crash, miraculously alive.

Miss Drake detailed her experiences as she visited the set of her husband's picture, "An Affair to Remember." She was returning alone from Grant's film location in Spain. On the night before the New York arrival, she was laying out her clothes for the next day. The Grants often tour on freighters and make it a practice to have their clothes in readiness at night.

"Suddenly I felt the impact of the collision, which was on the other side of the ship," she related. "I was in my nightgown, and I decided I had better get dressed.

"It was an eerie feeling to have the ship strike something and then stop. Then the ship lurched to the side with a great noise. People were screaming and there I was standing there with nothing on.

"I might just as easily have run out that way. But I managed to get dressed. How, I don't know. I just did."

She went into the passageway and stopped a crewman who helped her don a lifejacket.

Miss Drake said she was told the tourist passengers would be taken off first. "For two hours, I clung to the post on the high side of the ship."

She was told to report to the low side of the ship for evacuation. She climbed down a ladder into a lifeboat which took her to the Ile de France. "I ended up on the Ile de France barefoot and with only a dress," she said. But very grateful.

Editor Favors UN Loans for Israel, Jordan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee today made public a series of suggestions it has received for foreign aid changes — including United Nations loans for Jordan and Israel.

The suggestions were contained in a report by Hamilton Fish Armstrong, editor of the magazine Foreign Affairs, who conducted a first-hand survey for the committee in Lebanon, Jordan and Iraq. They included:

1. A 10-year U.N. loan to Israel, "supported largely by a United States contribution, to replace the direct aid now received from the U.S. government, this loan to be made on specific conditions regarding frontiers and refugees."

2. United Nations financing of "a return of some considerable number of the Palestinian refugees from Jordan to areas in Israel not fully settled."

3. A 10-year U.N. loan to Jordan, to be supported largely by a U.S. contribution, "to finance its economic development and provide for its internal security on the condition that the remainder of the refugees in Jordan become the charge of the Jordanian government and merged into the local social economy."

He recommended cooperative schemes of regional development with participation possibly limited to Arab states which "agree to live on acceptable terms with Isreal."

Oil Firms to Be Prosecuted If in Collusion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Victor R. Hansen, chief of the Justice Department's antitrust division, promised senators Wednesday that major oil companies will be prosecuted if the recent rise in oil and gasoline prices resulted from collusion or other violation of antitrust laws.

At the same time, Hansen defended the antitrust immunity granted 15 major oil companies to pool their tankers and other facilities in the Middle East Emergency Committee for the emergency oil lift to Europe.

He appeared before a joint investigation by the Senate Antitrust and Public Lands subcommittees into operation of the oil set up after blocking of the Suez Canal and Middle East pipelines cut off vital petroleum supplies for Europe.

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), presiding at the hearing, told Hansen that the Senate Probers may recommend that the antitrust immunity, granted big oil companies to operate the oil lift, "be abandoned."

Reds' Pullout Labelled Sham

WASHINGTON (AP) — A New York lawyer who sat in on the recent convention of the Communist party of the United States said today its claimed break with Moscow is a sham designed "for the purpose of fooling the public."

Carl Rachlin, an official of the New York chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union, told the Senate Internal Security subcommittee he was at the convention as an "observer" for the union.

The Reds' "hardened" leaders are split in a "real fight for power" and control of the party and its ranks are "decimated," he said, but added that a high-powered organizational drive is planned.

He said the party's announced switch from the Stalinist to the Marxist-Leninist line is one of words, not ideology, and is intended to make the party "seem to make its own decisions" independently of the Kremlin.

House Votes Dog Reprieve

A bill to give a reprieve to Oregon's unlicensed dogs was passed by the Senate Wednesday and sent to the House.

Under present law, a dog catcher in a dog control district can put an unlicensed dog to death immediately after catching the dog.

The bill, by Sen. Dan Dimick (D), Roseburg, provides that the dog be impounded for five days before being executed. The owner would have to pay the board bill.

Dimick told the Senate that several dog catchers kill the dogs immediately.

"In Douglas County, where I live, the dog catcher is something of a sadist. Woe to any dog he catches," Dimick said.

He added that the Douglas County dog catcher immediately puts the dog into a small box, and connects the box with a hose attached to the exhaust pipe of an automobile. The carbon monoxide kills the animal.

Ice Expert Cited

MCMURDO SOUND, Antarctica (AP) — Rear Adm. Geroge J. Dufek said Wednesday he is recommending the U.S. Navy's Distinguished Service Award for ice expert Andrew Assur, an Army scientist, whose advice helped the Navy save the freezing ice runway at the McMurdo Sound Base.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
