

Jack Webb Thinks Fans May Save His 'Noah's Ark' Show

 HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Animal lovers may not see those kangaroos, dogs and horses go into drydock with "Noah's Ark" after all because the producer of the show, Jack Webb, thinks their flood of letters may save the ship.

Webb gloomily figured that after seven years of success with "Dragnet" he was in for his first failure when "Noah's Ark" was scuttled by the sponsor. But it's another case of the public rallying to save the program that tells about the experiences of an animal doctor.

Even Webb was surprised to see the editorials, letters to the editors, critics' remarks and fan mail that have poured in since NBC-TV announced the show had been cancelled.

Fan Letters Numerous
 "Here's 15,000 letters from PTA groups, parents, children, humane societies, dog breeders' clubs—many from schools with hundreds of signatures," said Webb, pulling out a file.

"All of these letters are unsolicited. We made no pitch for mail to save the show. If the network gets an overwhelming amount of mail the network would have to return the show to the air next fall—sponsor or not!"

One Ontario, Canada, viewer summed up the situation when he wrote Webb, "Noah saved the animals—now we want to save

Radford Says Red Airpower Still No. 2

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Adm. Arthur Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said Monday his assessment of all available information leads him to the conclusion that Soviet Russia, while a first rate airpower, is "still number two in the league."

"Our job is to keep it that way," he told the Commonwealth Club.

Concerning the threat of war, Radford said:

"Actually, the most dangerous threat to United States security is that of a surprise atomic attack by the Communist bloc. The Communists probably realize, however, that we are maintaining such power that their aggressive use of armed force would bring down upon them a retaliation so quick and so devastating that they could accrue no possible advantage. It would not serve the self-interest of any aggressor to attack us."

Supreme Court Rules Against Obscenity Law

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court Monday unanimously struck down a Michigan law which made it a crime to sell books deemed to contain obscene language.

The law was attacked by Alfred E. Butler, a Detroit dealer who was fined $100 after selling to a police inspector a book called "The Devil Rides Out."

The book was written by John Howard Griffin, who lost his sight from a World War II injury and suddenly regained it last January after being blind for 10 years.

Justice Frankfurter delivered Monday's decision.

He said Michigan was in effect burning the House to roast the pig in enacting the anti-obscenity law.

"We have before us," Frankfurter said, "legislation not reasonably restricted to the evil with which it is said to deal. The incidence of this enactment is to reduce the adult population of Michigan to reading only what is fit for children."

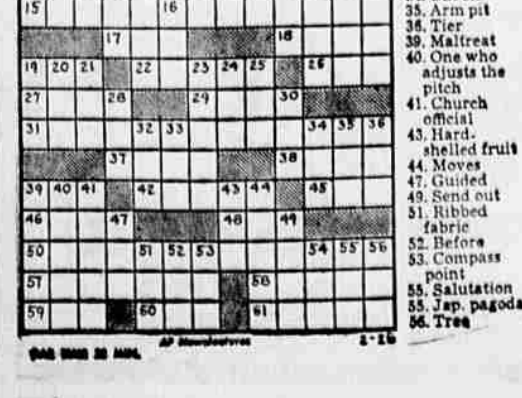

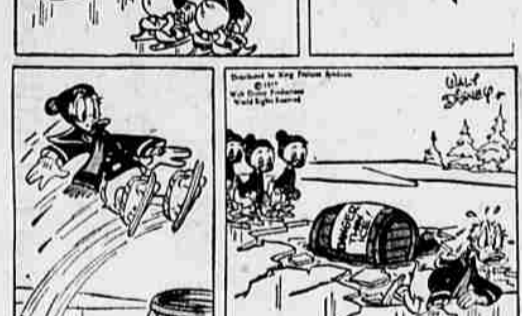

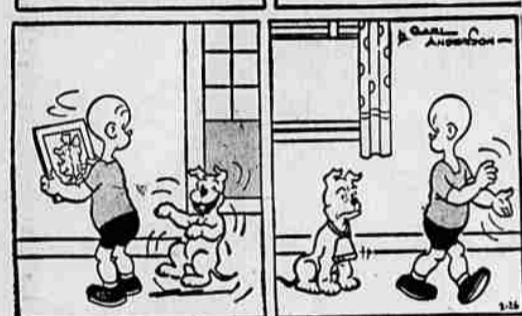

"It thereby arbitrarily curtails one of those liberties of the individual, now enshrined in the due process clause of the 14th Amendment, that history has attested as the indispensable conditions for the maintenance and progress of a free society."

Yakima Peach Yield to Drop

YAKIMA (AP)—Yakima Valley peach growers now expect only a 25 to 30 per cent crop this summer because of January freeze damage to buds, County Extension Agent W. A. Luce said Monday.

That would be a crop of between 7,500 and 9,000 tons, he explained. The state normally produces 40,000 tons of Hales, Elbertas and other varieties, of which about three-fourths are grown in the Yakima Valley.

There have been no reports of recent freeze damage.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
