Unions Give Assist to YMCA Gym

Salem YMCA's new gymnasium was a lot closer to completion when members of local plumbers and electrical workers unions volunteered their help. Left to right are Frank Adams, Tom Tandy, Joe Coover, Bob Zimmerman and Jim Brown. Coover is an electrician, the others plumbers. The Y had run out of building money to finish the gym, thus the need for volunteer help. (Capital Journal photo)

Indonesia Rebellion Succeeds

Power Grabbed in Bloodless Coup in Celebes

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—A bloodless revolt flared Saturday in east Indonesia along a pattern set last December in Sumatra, in the west.

Greater autonomy is the main demand of 51 leaders of the eastern islands who proclaimed the coup, just as it was in the abortive uprisings in Sumatra. A new factor appeared, however, in widespread opposition to President Sukarno's recently proclaimed plan to give the Communists a voice in governmental councils of this predominantly Moslem nation.

Install Governor The revolutionists announced at 3 a.m. they had installed the governor of the Celebes, A.P. Petarani, as military governor of all East Indonesia—taking in the Celebes, Moluccas and the lesser Sunda Islands. They reported the "takeover of the civilian administration shall be done quickly."

They complained the government is draining 90 per cent of their islands' income from foreign exchange. They said they want at least 70 per cent of their foreign trade earnings spent in East Indonesia. A dispatch from the area said all was calm after the coup.
