

'THIS IS USELESS' Norblad Protests AF 'Fashion' Job

Rep. Walter Norblad (R-Ore) today protested to Secretary of the Air Force Quarles the employment of a "fashion coordinator" for the Air Force.

Norblad said he had learned that her duties were to fly to France, Italy, Spain and other parts of Europe to "interpret the prevailing mood of fashion in the United States for wives and families of service personnel abroad."

He said that an important part of the job also would be to study the display of women's clothes in various parts of Europe to see that the clothing is properly displayed and that she also has been employed to stage fashion shows "with the latest styles being properly accessorized."

This new coordinator, Norblad said, was quoted in a Washington paper as saying she wanted

Speaker School Bills To Be Muddled At South High

Reorganizing, Support Measures Among Subjects

Full explanation of at least two bills that have an important bearing on public school education will be made during a meeting and panel discussion to be held at 7:45 Monday night in the Little Theater of South Salem high school.

Reorganization of school districts and the redistribution of the basic school support fund will be the principal subjects discussed. However, any other subjects dealing with education may be considered.

Speakers will include James Turnbull of the state department of education; Rep. Joseph Rogers, chairman of the house education committee; and Charles Schmidt, superintendent of Salem schools.

Sponsors of the program include the Oregon School Boards association, Marion county chapter, O. E. A. and the Parent Teacher group.

Baxter Slated To Give Three WU Lectures

Title of the second annual Willamette lecture series to be presented at the university Tuesday and Wednesday is "Books and Living," narrated by Dr. Frank Baxter, professor of English, University of Southern California.

Public Forum Set Tuesday At Willamette

A public forum on "What U. S. Military Strategy in the Nuclear Age?" will be staged in the Fine Arts building at Willamette university at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The forum will be a part of the "Great Decisions, 1957" project now being undertaken here. A radio forum Sunday made up of Lt. Col. Edward Fritsch, professor of air science, and Mrs. John Rademaker, both of Willamette university and Allen Berg of the forestry department, comprised the panel.

"How Much Trade, How Much Aid" will be the topic of next week's discussions.

Naming of committee chairmen featured the meeting of the Salvation Army Advisory board Monday morning.

Appointments were made by J. V. Avison, president of the board. Twenty-two board members and Major and Mrs. Earl West attended the session.

WU Students Prep for 49th Glee Contest

"Who will win the Freshman Glee banner in '57?" is the main question in the minds of some 1,000 students at Willamette university. The annual sing contest will be held for the 49th time on March 16 in the Willamette gymnasium.

The senior class will sing "Alma Mater," words and music by Martin Wolf, Vancouver, and Flossie Hodge and Larry Lister, Portland. Trying to set a record for winning the coveted glee banner for the third consecutive year, the juniors will present "Threads of Time," music by Ron Kingsley, Beaverton, and words by Muriel Miettunen, Molalla.

Making their bid for this year's honors with "A Song to You, Willamette," will be the sophomores. Music was composed by Del Cummings, Los Altos, Calif., and words by Margaret Lowe, Kelso, Wash. "In Tribute" will be presented by the freshmen, hosts of the glee. Words are by a committee of nine students, led by Ron Bernklau, Canby. Music is by Bernklau and Sonja Peterson, Medford.

Takes Part in Meet
Orin Gilbertson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rolf E. Gilbertson, 4720 Clark Ave., Salem, was among three students representing Linfield college at the recent meeting of the Oregon Federation of Collegiate Leaders at Willamette university in Salem.

They heard an address by Gov. Robert D. Holmes and discussed problems of student government.

"How much should a prescription cost?"

● This is a fair question, and one we are always glad to discuss. Obviously, prescriptions vary in cost. The price is determined primarily by two factors: the cost of ingredients and the time involved in compounding.

Usually, when a prescription "seems a little high-priced," the reason may be found in the cost of an important ingredient. But such products, because of remarkable curative qualities, may prove a real economy. The medicine costs a little more, the illness costs a great deal less. And, of course, when illness strikes, you seek a quick and certain recovery.

Glamorous Gabors Hold Another Wedding

Mrs. Jolie Gabor stands with two of her daughters and her third bridegroom, Hungarian refugee Edmund Szigethy, after ceremony yesterday. Magda is at left and Zsa Zsa is at right. A third daughter, Eva, was in Hollywood and was unable to attend the wedding. Each of the daughters has been wed three times—making it an even dozen for the family. (AP Wirephoto)

Co-op Rejects Merger Plan

A proposal to merge two cooperative packing firms in the Salem area was rejected Saturday. Although a majority of the Producers Cooperative members voted in favor of joining with United Growers, the number was less than the two-thirds of the total membership required and the proposal was defeated.

Count of the ballots showed 79 Producers Co-op members voting for the consolidation and 59 against it. A total of 120 votes for the proposal was needed if it was to have gone into effect.

Previously the merger idea had been endorsed by the members of the boards of directors of both organizations.

Under the plan, most of the operating facilities of the two organizations would have been centralized at the United Growers plant, 4715 Liberty Rd. The Producers Cooperative plant is located at 1695 North Commercial.

Alvin H. Randall is general manager of both plants.

Mama Gabor Weds a Count

NEW YORK (UP)—Jolie Gabor, mother of the famous Gabor sisters, was married Sunday "to an old friend from Budapest," a Hungarian freedom fighter who arrived in the United States five weeks ago.

It was her third marriage and the 13th for the Gabor women. The bridegroom, Count Edmond de Szigethy, has been married once before.

While a gypsy fiddler played in the background, the bride was given in marriage by two of her beautiful daughters, Zsa Zsa, herself a bride three times, and Magda, who has been married four times and in whose town house the civil ceremony took place.

The third daughter, Eva, who has thrice married, was in California and unable to attend.
