

Washington Notes . . . —By Lillian Porter Say

WASHINGTON, D.C., March 14—Whether arriving or withdrawing, we Israeli seem to have some difficulties," quipped Reuben Shiloah, minister of Israel.

His remark was occasioned by the late arrival of 14-year-old Daniel Barenboim, who was presented in a piano recital by Ambassador and Mrs. Eban of Israel. Tall, slender David played Bach, Beethoven, Chopin and an intricate number written by Israeli composer, Ben-Haim. Young Daniel came down from New York where he played in Carnegie Hall and with the New York Philharmonic Symphony. He has also given concerts in Kansas and Texas. Travelling with him are his parents Professor and Mrs. Enrique Barenboim, who are also on their first visit to the United States.

"Never," said Mrs. Barenboim enthusiastically, "have we experienced so much hospitality and real friendliness as in America."

"This truthfully," added the professor, "we did not expect, for we had been affected by publicity stressing America's commercialism. Instead, we find it a land of beautiful art galleries, musicians, and fine college campuses."

Ambassador and Mrs. Eban visited Oregon two years ago and hope to make a return trip when they can bring their family. Before his concert at the Israeli chancery, Daniel and his parents had dined with the Ebans. He played with the children's toys and had a wonderful time. It is only when he sits down to the piano that the mantle of maturity falls upon him. Then he plays brilliantly, faultlessly.

Among distinguished guests at his concert were director of the Central Intelligence Agency, Allen W. Dulles and Mrs. Dulles and Senator Theodore Green of Rhode Island. The senator who will be 90 on his next birthday commented: "If this young man keeps up his brilliant playing after he is mature and knows more of life, he will be a great artist."

Despite his musical erudition, Daniel is a regular boy. "I like football," he said, "and I'm crazy about fishing." His favorite subjects in school are mathematics and geography. The latter he is learning by travelling. From America, he flies to London and Italy for concerts. In the meanwhile, he practices "only one hour and a half a day," he emphasized. Currently he is adding Arabic to his fluent speaking knowledge of Hebrew, Italian, Spanish, English, French and German.

You never can tell what you will find in the United States Capitol besides legislators and sightseers. Last week we ran into a pale green cake studded with white carnations. Soon appeared Senate Majority Leader, Lyndon B. Johnson, escorted by his daughters, Lynda Bird and Lucy Baines. They stepped into the District of Columbia room where was spread a luncheon opening the first nationwide observance of Girl Scout Week. Senators and Representatives with Girl Scout daughters were welcomed by Mrs. Roy F. Layton, national President of Girl Scouts. To each daddy went a new necktie, which he immediately donned. To each Girl Scout went a brand new charm for her bracelet with "Be Prepared" written on it in more than 15 languages. The cake was moved in from the corridor and everyone had a grand time blowing out candles for the 45th anniversary of Girl Scouting in the United States.

"Oh, to be 45 again," quipped Representative Frank C. Osmer, Jr. of Tenally, New Jersey. Seated beside him was his Girl Scout daughter, Nancy, 10—the latter looking so much like him that everyone remarked about it. Near her were four other young Girl Scouts from 12 to 8, daughters of Representative Harley O. Staggers of West Virginia. "I thought," Representative Osmer told his fellow congressmen, "that your state only produced coal but I see that Girl Scouts are a by-product."

The Rev. Frederick Brown Harris, chaplain of the Senate has his office in the District of Columbia room where the party was held. He kept right on working at his desk until the buffet was moved in. Then he fled before baked turkey, ham, and other delicacies. On his desk he has an enlarged copy of George Washington's Prayer. Nearby is a priceless picture of The First Prayer in Congress. It was uttered September, 1774 in Carpenter Hall, Philadelphia. Appropriately enough, the Girl Scouts met in the District of Columbia room, for it was dedicated to Brumidi's work to the thought of "young America writing her history confident and undisturbed either by war or time." Brumidi's murals were done in 1836. On the ceiling we see his Madonna and distinctive cherubs. Each corner is dramatized by the words: Geography, History, Physics and Telegraph. And the colors are as brilliant as if they were painted yesterday.

Huffmans Feted By Friends

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Huffman, who were married on March 3 in Caldwell, Idaho, were honored by a group of friends at a party at their new home in Salem. The guests included a group of State Police officers and their wives.

A gift was presented the couple and refreshments were served.

In the group calling were Mr. and Mrs. James Darby, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weems, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Haynes, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Crisler, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Espey, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kleinsmith, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Riegel, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Scripser, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Carlisle, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Karau, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard McHargue, Mr. and Mrs. Stanton Zelmer, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hepler, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Johnson, James Harner, Arthur Jinks, John Ball.

Junior Guild Opens Annual Sale Today

Junior guild of St. Paul's Episcopal church met Tuesday in the Guild room of the church. The hostess committee for the salad luncheon included Mrs. George Moses, chairman, Mrs. Paul M. Gemmill, Mrs. W. W. Gabriel, and Mrs. Louise Muller.

Plans were completed for the quilt rummage and cooked food sale to be at the Church Parish hall on March 14 and 15. Mrs. Harry Walters is chairman of the rummage sale and Mrs. Gale Fox is chairman of the cooked food sale.

Mrs. Clay McDowell reported on the United Church Women meeting.

It was announced that Mrs. Lawrence Osterman had been appointed co-chairman of the church kitchen committee with Mrs. E. G. Sanders, St. Paul's Guild, as chairman.

Mrs. Frank Shafer was welcomed as a new member of the guild.

Woodburn CDA Meet During Past Week

WOODBURN (Special)—Court Victory No. 731, Catholic Daughters of America, met this week at St. Luke's hall with Mrs. David Dubois, grand regent, presiding.

Many committee reports were given including a report by Mrs. Lawrence Paradis on the recent "Luncheon is Served" which was attended by about 110 members and guests.

After the meeting handbags were rolled to be sent to a leper colony and used Christmas cards were packed for children's hospitals.

GAMMA GAMMA chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha met at the home of Mrs. Thomas Adolphson this week with Mrs. Kenneth Taylor co-hostess. The theme was St. Patrick's and a white elephant sale was conducted after the meeting, with Mrs. Raymond Housley and Mrs. Robert Sandstrom as the auctioneers.

Reports on the Northwest Council meeting at Portland were given.

GERVAIS (Special)—The following committees were listed at the recent Sacred Heart Mothers club of Gervais: Nominating committee for new officers to be elected at the April meeting: Mrs. Marion Druba, Mrs. John Nibler and Mrs. George Schell; playground equipment committee: Mrs. John Grassman, Mrs. Cyril Schomus, Mrs. Pete Miller and Mrs. Henry Berning; hot chocolate committee, for first Friday, Mrs. Joe Schindler, Mrs. George Lanning, Mrs. George Hauptman, Mrs. Stanley Seguin and Mrs. Charles Sunsee.

THE BRIDE COOKS DINNER

A perfectly delicious poultry stuffing!

- Roast Chicken with Pine Nut Stuffing
- Sweet Potatoes
- Salad Bowl
- Fruit Compote
- Bread Tray
- Beverage

ROAST CHICKEN WITH PINE NUT STUFFING

Ingredients: 1 cup butter or margarine, 1 medium-sized onion (finely diced), 1/2 cup finely diced celery, 1 cup coarse dry bread crumbs, 1/2 teaspoon salt, pepper, 1/2 teaspoon poultry seasoning, 2 tablespoons minced parsley, 1/2 cup pine nuts, 2 tablespoons water, 1 fryer-broiler (about 3 pounds ready-to-cook weight).

Method: Melt butter over low heat in skillet. Add onion and celery; cook until onion is golden brown, stirring often. Mix in bread crumbs, salt, pepper to taste, poultry seasoning, parsley and pine nuts. Sprinkle water over stuffing and mix. Stuff mixture into body cavity of chicken. Close opening with skewers and string or sew together with large needle and heavy thread. Roast in oven on electric retisserie according to standard directions. Makes 4 servings.

Note: Pine nuts are available in small bottles in some grocery markets. Slivered blanched almonds may be substituted for them.

MOLALLA (Special)—Mrs. Lilly Wade was guest of honor at a surprise birthday party Monday at the home of Mrs. Margaret Stipp. Mrs. Wade is office secretary at Molalla grade school and all teachers and employees of the two grade schools were invited to the Stipp home for birthday cake and coffee. Mrs. Wade received a gift from the group. Also present was Mrs. Amelia Hagen of Oregon City, former teacher in Molalla, who was visiting at the school in the afternoon. A second birthday cake was brought out, surprising Mrs. Stipp whose birthday is the latter part of the month.

SILVERTON (Special)—A reunion of present and former Killdeer, North Dakota, residents was the incentive for a dinner last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clements.

Visitors from Killdeer included Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Wev Dahl as guests of the Andrew Petersons and Mr. and Mrs. Neil Lantieri at the Clements' home. Others present were the daughter of the Clements, Mrs. Charles Keith of Lake Grove, and Mr. and Mrs. Alf O. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Peterson, and the host family, all of Silverton.

LYONS (Special)—Dorothy Grimes, H.N., who enlisted in the Waves on July 30 and has been stationed at Bainbridge, Md., for the last eight months, is spending a two weeks' leave at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chet Grimes. Miss Grimes, who was graduated last week from the Hospital Corps school, will report back to Newport, Rhode Island.
