

Dockers Quit As Navy Aids Liner Sailing

LONDON (U) — Dockworkers struck at the port of Southampton Thursday protesting use of government tugs in aiding the liner Queen Mary to sail for New York. The strike threatened to paralyze the vast transatlantic terminal.

The dockworkers, mostly shore gangs who handle the direct traffic in the port, joined 10,000 shipyard workers and repairmen who have been on strike since Saturday as part of a nationwide stoppage in support of a 10 per cent wage increase.

The liner was escorted out of port early Thursday morning by navy tugs ordered into service by the British government.

This produced angry charges of strike breaking from shipyard workers, and their union leaders appealed to the dockworkers to join in a sympathy protest.

The shipyard workers claimed repairs on the 81,000-ton Queen Mary had not been finished when the nationwide shipyard strike began last Saturday. The walkout of 250,000 workmen idled 70 shipyards and stopped work on 300 ships under construction.

Holmes Urges 'Horn-Tooting'

PORTLAND (UP)—Gov. Robert D. Holmes declared here last night that Oregon sells itself short when it fails to call the nation's attention to its assets and needs.

Holmes spoke at a meeting before the Propeller Club of Portland and representatives of Columbia river and Oregon coast ports.

The governor said abundant low-cost power and a navigable channel on the Columbia river could combine to develop a great industrial civilization in Oregon if people would develop the necessary ports.

He said Oregon was not sharing in the defense effort on the scale that it should. He said shipbuilding and ship repairing had disappeared to a large extent since the last war.

Holmes cited facilities in Portland such as the Swan Island dry-docks and public docks as examples of the area's own initiative.

TOLEDO, Ohio (U) — A top official of the Teamsters Union says the probe into the union's activities now under way in Washington will not hinder the Teamsters' plans "to spend millions of dollars to start a vigorous organizing campaign."

Lawrence Steinberg, president of the Teamsters Joint Council 44 in this area and coordinator of the 33,000-member Joint Council 53 in Philadelphia, told a meeting of 500 Teamsters officers and stewards: "As far as the Teamsters are concerned, we are not going to be deterred one moment from our main goal—organizing the unorganized."

His audience here, representing 9,600 members of Local 20, passed a resolution to join in "any local or national defense committee that may be organized in the defense of our national leadership, and to support such a committee morally and financially."

Steinberg called indictment of Teamsters Vice President James R. Hoffa on charges of conspiracy and bribery "a perfect frameup." He said the Senate probe's main disclosure has been that the Teamsters Union "is extremely active in political action, and that appears to be illegal in the eyes of this committee."
