Kathy Bowman Wins Spelling Finals Berth

Another seventh grader, Kathy Bowman, Falls City, spelled her way into the finals of the Oregon Statewide S.S.M. spelling contest by taking first place in the semi-finals at Dallas Wednesday night.

Kathy, who is 12 years of age, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Bowman, Falls City.

The only other seventh grader winning a berth in the finals, set for April 3 at the Parrish Junior High School, is Adrienne Ellison, also 12 years of age, and a student at Monitor School. She won second place in the semi-finals at Mt. Angel Tuesday night.

Taking the second place honors at Dallas Wednesday night and also going to the finals April 3 was Charles Cates, 13, eighth grader at Pecos. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Cates, who reside near Monmouth. Charles was the third boy to qualify for the finals among the 16 who have qualified to date.

Nancy Olson, 13, and an eighth grader at the Dallas Junior High School, was in third place in the semi-finals. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Olson, 400 Academy St., Dallas.

Other students participating in the semi-finals at Dallas were Robert Whitfield, eighth grader, Oakhurst; Léla Durfee, eighth grader, Bridgeport; Doris Chancellor, eighth grader, Valsetz; Patricia Ann Fay, seventh grader, Oakdale; and Charlotte Baker, seventh grader, Orchard View.

The last of the semi-final contests in the spelling contest is to be held Thursday night at Rickreill.

Salem Guard Units Receive Good Ratings

One of Salem's National Guard units received a superior rating and the other two excellent ratings in the annual federal inspections.

Given a superior rating for the third consecutive year was Company B, 162nd Infantry Regiment, commanded by Capt. Dewey Rand Jr., Company D, 162nd Infantry Regiment, with the commander Capt. Louis Osborn Jr., and Battery D, 72nd AAA (AW) Battalion, commanded by Capt. William Porter, received the excellent ratings.

Another unit of the 162nd Infantry Regiment, Headquarters Co., 151st Battalion, Silverton, commanded by Lt. Col. William Foster, also received the highest possible rating of superior for the third consecutive year.

Headquarters, 3rd Battalion, 162nd Infantry Regiment, Lebanon, Maj. Vernon E. Townsend acting as commander, received a superior rating. Other units of the 162nd Infantry Regiment, which is commanded by Lt. Col. Paul L. Kliever, Salem, receiving superior ratings were Company M, Corvallis, Headquarters of Mortar Co., Ore.

Salem Doctors To Appear at Medical Meet

EUGENE (Special)—Six physicians who are leaders in the Marion-Polk County Medical Society have been invited to participate in the second annual Officers' Conference sponsored by the Oregon State Medical Society in Eugene March 28.

Receiving invitations were Drs. Norman L. Dodds, of Silverton, president, and Charles Gray of Salem, secretary of the Marion-Polk County Society.

In addition Dr. James H. Seaton of Salem, a member of the State Society's Committee on Public Policy, will moderate a panel discussion on medical legislative affairs; Dr. William C. Crothers, Salem, president of Oregon Physicians' Service will appear on a panel aimed at "Improving Medical Care for Welfare Patients"; and Dr. James H. Stewart, Salem, medical consultant for the state division of vocational rehabilitation, will speak on the Federal Medicare Program which provides medical services to dependents of members of the armed forces.

Dr. Vern W. Miller of Salem is president-elect of the State Society and will take office next October on final day of the annual state meeting in Portland.

Also scheduled to appear as a speaker is C. F. Felt of Salem, director of the state division of vocational rehabilitation.

2-Party System To Be Explained

The two-party political system will be explained to members of a naturalization class being conducted at the YMCA at 8 o'clock Friday night.

Speaking for the Republican party will be Robert R. Johnson, consultant for the League of Oregon Cities. Dr. John A. Rademaker, sociology professor at Willamette University, will present the Democratic side.

The class has been taught by C. A. Kells.

Buckerettes to Appear at Baton Event

A special event at the Elks-sponsored state championship baton contest to be held at North Salem High School gymnasium Friday will be a demonstration by the St. Paul Union High School Buckerettes. More than 50 baton twirlers are to take part in the event.

Rotary Work Lauded By Governor Holmes

Rotary International was lauded Wednesday by a man prominent in governmental circles who has been a member of the organization for a number of years.

Speaking before the Salem Rotary club at the Marion, Governor Robert D. Holmes, who is affiliated with the Astoria group said "we should take pride in what we are doing." He gave particular emphasis to the student exchange program sponsored by Rotary for several years. Such a program, he said, brings what is best in our culture to others.

Governor Holmes declared that it is important that young people have a chance to see the world. Later he said that he was glad for organizations like Rotary that play an important part in government, although not in government.

Governor Holmes attributed a Jeffersonian and Lincoln-like philosophy to Rotary in its attitude toward essential brotherhood of man. "Where, outside the United States, do you find so many countries represented, so many ideas?" he asked.

Secretary of State Mark Hatfield was introduced to the club as the newest Rotarian. The introduction was made by Gerry Frank who identified Hatfield as "Oregon's most eligible bachelor."

Visitor From Stockholm

Karl Gullers, Stockholm, Sweden, member of a Rotary club of that city, presented President Paul Bale, president of the Salem club with a Stockholm Rotary club flag. He received, in turn, a jar of Willamette valley jam, the weekly prize given to the Rotarian traveling the farthest distance to attend the local club.

Gullers has a daughter, attending Willamette University on a student exchange basis.

General Given Degree

TOKYO (Special)—The University of Maryland awarded an honorary doctor of military science degree Thursday to Gen. L.L. Lemnitzer, U.S. Far East commander.

Planners Re-Elect Merriott

The Marion County Planning Commission re-elected William A. Merriott, Woodburn, as chairman, named Don Cannon, Salem, vice chairman; Homer J. Joullet Jr., Brooks, secretary; and accepted the resignation of David W. Baker, planning technician, during the monthly meeting Wednesday night.

Baker, who recently returned from a San Francisco conference of planners from over the nation, told the commission he had accepted a position as associate planner with Sonoma County, Calif., with headquarters in Santa Rosa. He will leave for his new post next month.

A committee was appointed to investigate a proposal of the Salem Planning Commission for an extension of South 13th Street which would share one-way traffic with South 12th Street. It will report April 17.

Hugh Morrow, Salem city librarian, submitted a list of Salem and Marion County pioneers whose names could be used in naming streets outside of Salem.

Polk County officials will be consulted in connection with a suggested renaming plan for the area adjoining West Salem.

Drive Theme Set

"Water Fun Through Safety," is the theme of a campaign planned by a recently formed committee of the Salem Yacht and Boating Club.

Dudley Henderson, commodore of the club, said the committee, headed by Lee Duggar and Bob Elstrom Jr., is seeking to establish regulations in the launching area in the vicinity of Wallace Marine Park.

The group plans to present proposed regulations to the City of Salem and Coast Guard for action. At the club meeting, to be held April 10, the boaters will hear a representative of the Coast Guard give instructions on boat handling.

Indictment Dismissed

An indictment charging the defendant with larceny by baillee was dismissed by Circuit Court Judge George R. Duncan Wednesday upon the recommendation of the district attorney's office.

Billy Rex McGranahan, 4125

Hudson Ave., had been accused of being involved in the resale of a television set that had been purchased on a conditional contract. The dismissal was based on insufficient facts to warrant prosecution.

At Bridge Club

Playing on opposite sides of the duplicate boards, Mrs. Ward Graham and Ellis H. Jones continued their winning streaks at the Elks Bridge Club tournaments this week.

Both have registered three victories in succession, winning this time with Walter M. Cline and Arthur L. Lewis as respective team-mates.

In the junior tournament high scores went to Mrs. Douglas Chambers and Mrs. David Eason, and Mrs. Nellie Crowe and Mrs. Lawrence Imah.

In the March master point of the American Contract Bridge League, winners were Mrs. Jose Morita of Corvallis and W. M. Cline, and Mrs. Harry Wiedmer and Ellis H. Jones.

In the Friday tournament Mrs. Ward Graham and Fred Williams, and Mrs. Stanley Neuens and Ellis H. Jones were high.

Parents Invited

Children who have participated in the art classes, which have been a part of the Hobbyrama program for children on Saturday afternoons at the YWCA, have invited their parents and friends to see some of their paintings at the YWCA Friday afternoon or evening.

Each child has one painting in the show, which consists of more than 66 paintings mounted on the walls of the lobby and the mezzanine.

NS Choir to Travel

The North Salem High School choir will travel to Eugene Saturday to participate in a Negro Spiritual Festival. It will feature the noted composer-conductor, Jester Hairston of Hollywood as guest director.

Choirs from nine high schools of the area near Eugene will each sing a group of spirituals, including one arranged by Hairston and directed by him.

This marks the third appearance of the famous musician in the Pacific Northwest. North Salem's choir was privileged to be a part of the Festival in 1951 and 1954. Mr. Hairston, 41, is a former member of the famous Hall Johnson Negro Choir, and for many years has worked with his own Negro choir in motion pictures and on radio. He was part of the Amos and Andy cast on radio for several years.

Plane Hunt to Halt

FUCHU, Japan (Special)—The long search for a U.S. military transport plane missing since March 22 with 67 Americans aboard will be suspended at dusk Saturday if no clue to its fate is found by that time. U.S. Far East Air Forces said 15 planes scanned the Pacific south and east of Tokyo again Thursday without results. Fifteen will again traverse the same 128,000 square mile area Friday and Saturday.
